When Henry Canebeer, who resides five miles north of town, on the Somerset and Johnstown pike, went to his barn yesterday morning he found that his most valuable horse, a young three-year-old, and a hog and set of harness, that had been recently purchased, had been stolen sometime during the night. The thief left no trail.

The high wind that prevailed throughout Friday night and Saturday did great damage in different sections of the county. A number of trees were blown down, orchards were burned up and fences were blown down. Perhaps the greatest damage from the storm occurred in Jefferson township Andrew Way's summer house, in Somerset township, was blown from its foundation.

On last Saturday, James A. Garfield Blough, aged fourteen years, who makes his home with Joseph Salo, in Conemaugh township, had his right leg broken at the knee by the horse of Jeremiah Livingston, whose farm is near Mr. Salo's home. Young Blough was watching a number of parties making cider at Livingston's home, when he stepped on the side of the horse which was being led and threw his back over the railing of the pig pen near the high. Dr. Sauck, of Davisville, attended him.

Saturday's storm destroyed the barn of Joseph Usher in Conemaugh township. The barn was situated on a hill about 100 feet distant from the house, and when the wind struck it with full force it collapsed. None of the cattle which were in the stable at the time were injured. After one of the horses had been taken out it acted as though it was mad, and it was necessary to put the animal in a closed shed to keep it from killing itself. It is supposed that the noise caused by the collapse of the barn was the cause of the horse's fright. Mr. Usher paid his loss at $400.

Harrison Perrod is the only suspended pensioner from this district we know of, says the Meyersdale Observer. He is now nearly eighty years of age and has for years been unable to earn a livelihood. Of all the pensioners we have here he is perhaps the most feeble as well as the most aged. If the pension act of 1890 means anything, it means to benefit just such ones as Perrod. The disgust at this action has even been taken to the ranks of the most solid Administration democrats, who think that at least a pension should be allowed for striking such men from the rolls. Perrod was also a soldier in the Mexican war.

At a special term of court held Monday night for the purpose of designating election houses for the townships in this county that have formerly had their voting places in adjoining boroughs, the following order was made: The election house for Somerset township to be at the house of Baben Way, on the Somerset and Johnstown road; the election house for Summit township to be at the Peck School House; the election house for the township of Greensboro to be at the building in care of executor and being built jointly by the county and said township, near the borough of Stevensburg.

During the latter part of September the editor of the Herald received a small box of strawberries from the fruit farm and nursery of Kropf Bros., at Harrisville, this county. The strawberries were in a note which stated that they were from the "Gibraltar of Democracy."

For many years we have tried to produce a strawberry that would stand up better before frost than any other production, and we are at last successful. This very hardy strawberry, which has been tested in the open field in this county, and has stood up to frost and snow all winter long, is now being offered to the public at the price of 10 cents per bushel.
