EDWARD SULL, Editor and Proprietor.

WEDNESDAY, Dec. 27, 1893.

Both houses of Congress adjourned for the holiday recess on Thursday...

In his report accompanying the new tariff bill Chairman Wilson says it will open a large field for the employment of labor.

While hundreds of thousands of workmen are seeking labor at any price, wherever it may be had...

Thousands of people throughout the country are rejoicing that they have the "change" they voted for at the last Presidential election.

Secretary Carnegie asks Congress for authority to issue the National debt by issuing $200,000,000 government bonds.

The B. & O. Flyer was delayed at Cumberland recently by a work on connections, and lost more time climbing up the accounts than it did on the run.

Has the wage earners forgotten President Cleveland's solicitude respecting their lot in 1892, that year of unprecedented prosperity?

This is the way the Pittsburgh Post, a thick and thin Administration journal, published in the great work shop of this country...

Democratic Congressmen elected on a tariff reform platform, as everyone of them who propose to betray the trust reposed in them...

Voting in School Houses.

Superintendent of Public Instruction Schaeffer is bitterly opposed to the holding of elections in school houses...

Another day is spent in holding the election and counting the result. If the children return on the morning after the election...

When evening comes one child may have a cold, another may have a fever, and at the close of every election some children are carried to the cemetery.
