March 7, 1894 WEDNESDAY

Companyons are odious, but just think of the difference between the present Democratic times and those we had under the Harrison Administration.

AFTER three weeks of a deadlock in the House, Silver-dollar Bland succeeded in "rounding up" his Democratic herd and passing his "fiat money" bill.

PENNSYLVANIA has now ten Democratic Congressmen. If they had been before the people for re-election two weeks since there wouldn't have been enough in the Treasury. of them left for seed.

THE President is bagging ducks down in the Dismai swamp. When he returns then be before the Senate.

Ar the late election the Democrats carried only four Congressional districts in this State, and of these in the 4th (McAleer's) district they had only 261 majority, and in the 19th (Beltzhoover's) their majority was 570.

As exchange says air. Cleveland " attributes all the party's troubles to the disgruntled and insubordinate Democrats." Of course. It is the old story of the eleven obstinate jurors who stood out against the other fellow who knew he was right.

conjectured, but we are not prepared to believe that after his action on the repeal of the so-called Sherman Act the President will give it his approval.

ONE YEAR AFTER. Philadelphia Evening Telegraph, Saturday.

At the going down of the sun to-day the party in power will have completed doubt and disaster it has been ! Within this time the loss to the country has been fally equal to one year's expenditure during the great struggle for the preservation of the Union. It is doubtful, indeed, if one thousand million dollars would begin to cover the financial loss sustained, which has extended to every department and to all classes. The rich and 1846 and 1851, and never got so low after the very poor, those with much and those with little, have been made to feel the effect of the withering blight that has come upon the country, paralyzing industry, unsettling values, causing in some lines of investment unprecedented shrinkage, and in others ruin. One year ago the wheels of industry were turning everywhere. Labor was was a well defined fear as to the imme-
