At First Much Opposition Was Offered to the System, But It Soon Became Very Popular with the People.

The streets are very narrow in Canton, as is the case with all Chinese cities, says a writer in "The Electrical World," being from say six to twelve feet wide, and filled with hanging wooden signs. Through these signs the electric wire must twist and turn, because on no account would a Chinaman allow a sign to be moved to make room for the wire, as it would certainly mean bad luck to his business. In many cases the insulation has been strongly reinforced with rubber and tape, to prevent abrasion from the swinging signs. The streets of Canton are divided into sections of a few blocks each, and each section is shut off from all others by heavy gates, that are closed at nine o clock in the evening. The populace is so turbulent that for many centuries the authorities have made it a practice to hold all the people of any section responsible for any riot or tumult in that section. The result is that the people have got in the hablt of regulating affairs in their section without any reference to the powers that be, The electrician of the Canton plant in an instance where a store wanted lights, but the wires could not be run because one man objected to having a hole cut in his house for securing a pole. The light is now so popular that thousands of lamps could be put in all over the city if the station was large enough to supply them, but its limit is now reached and difficulty is experienced in building a larger one, as the franchise for the entire Canton province is in the hands of one man, and he wants to make too much out

The Chinese are great people to expect private commissions on everything they have a hand in, and the management of the company, one and all, manage to steal something. BOSTON'S CHILD BRIDES!

An Astonishing Condition of Massachusetts Marriage Laws.

As Compared with Greins Green the "City

How many people know that it is lawful in Massachusetts for a little girl of twelve to become a bride? Who could believe at first thought that many little girls in short dresses have been legally married here in Boston, this city published a remarkable letter, several during the past year, and that under the head-lines of "An Athens the law, even in the hands of thought-Miracle." The statements made were so ful and responsible officials, was powunusual, and the interest occasioned so erless to prevent it? A MOTHER'S CURSE.

Mrs. Samuels Called Down Vengeance on the Beads of Her Son's Enemies. Mrs. Zerelda Samuels, mother of those notorious bandits, train robbers and ex-guerrillas, the late lamented Jesse and the still living but reformed Frank James, is reported lying seriously ill, with but slight hope of her ecovery, said the Buffalo Inquirer, in a recent issue.

"I'll never forget," said a gentleman recently, "the scene when she caught the first view of Jesse's dead face in that little undertaker's shop in St Joseph, where the body was removed soon after Bob Ford killed the notori-

"She had aged years in the short twenty-four hours since her boy fell a victim to the treachery of one he had befriended. She seemed stunned by the tragedy. Here, for twenty years and more, she had lived in the full knowledge that every hour of each day might bring her tidings that one o both of her boys had met with a violent death, but when it came the shock well-nigh shattered her reason. "The ice box in which Jesse's body straightened up, and in tones which could be heard half a block away she began such a tirade of abuse against his slayers as I never could have imag-ined mortal mind capable of framing. "Whether it was in answer to he prayers I am not prepared to say, but certain it is that Charlie Ford never knew an instant of peace from the day that Jesse was shot. Unlike Bob, he did not even pretend to conceal his real feelings under an air of bravado. Both boys were in mortal terror every minute until Frank surrendered that he would cross their path unexpectedly some day and that their lives would pay the forfeit. Bob hid this fear by ssuming a blustering boldness, which at times he was far from feeling. His was the stronger character of the two. Charlie, on the contrary, passed his nights in restless sleeplessness and his days in terrified expectancy of ven geance. Even the short period of se curity which he enjoyed while Frank was in custody afforded no lasting peace for him. As soon as Frank was released the old terror returned with renewed force, and so preyed upon his nerves that he soon became a mental wreck. It drove him to a suicide's grave

I became weaker daily, caught cold in the best of weather and become unscrable gradually tried several dectors to get rid of the disease, but they did not help me any, I took lots of patient medicine, but might just as well have thrown my money away. Since Dr. Salam treated me I grew better steadily and am once more a wan, and I am certain that the doctor understands his business.

The the last I? rears I have had a had case of Catarch, with all its attending symptoms. For the last I? rears I have had a had case of Catarch, with all its attending symptoms. For the last I? rears I have had a had case of Catarch, with all its attending symptoms. For the last I? rears I have had a had case of Catarch, with all its attending symptoms. For the last I? rears I have had a had case of Catarch, with all its attending symptoms. For had less of years it bothored me a good deat, hardig being without a cood; making me miscrebic governally. I tried 3 different bayletians, but on avail, and I can assure you it takes Dr. Salm to came Catarch, for I do not take ould anymore, bladder and kidney trouble, and on account of that felt ail busks up, couldn't follow my daily labore on a count of great pains, weakness and with Dr. Salm, concrete of treatment with Dr. Salm, concrete more attend to my daily labore with pleasure and contain cure for importance, lost unconced spermatorthus losses, weak and nervous debility; also for prostatills, terrococle, and all neivate diseases—whether my self hate and contain cure for importance, lost unconced in control of prost pains. For hate of the vomelinden one because of the vomelinden one country for the prostation of the prostatilly and proventially labore with pleasure.
