"So you want my little girl for your wife, do you?" The speaker, from a giance at his snowy hair and mustache and sorrowful dark eyes, one would suppose to have been a man well along in years, but on looking more closely at the well knit, supple form reclining at case in the study chair it was discovered to be "an old head on young shoulders." His deep, musical voice was half sad, half tender as he continued to address the young man, who, standing before him, was nervously toying with a book that lay on the table.

"Perhaps I am not quite as much surprised as you thought I would be. You have played together as little children, as boy and girl you were companions, and now that you are a man and Mand a woman, your hearts naturally turn together, and I will see the dearest wish of my heart realized. The friendship that has existed between your father and myself for 16 years will be augmented by the union of our only children.

"You are a good, manly fellow, Hugh, but a trifle hot-headed and impulsive. Learn to control yourself, boy; learn to control yourself.

"You have much of my disposition, and I would save you from the rocks on which my happiness was wreckedyou and my little girl.

"Sit down, Hugh, here, near me, and I will tell you a story-an answer to the question you have so often had on the tip of your tongue to ask me' 'What was it that turned the hair of such a comparatively young man white?" "Tush, boy, don't look confused-you

"I was a reporter on an evening paper, ambitious and struggling to rise in my profession.

We rented a little cottage in the suburbs, and although we had not much of this world's goods our home was a very happy one for the first six or eight months. Then little bickerings and fault findings began. Bitter quarrels finally grew out of the most trivial things, and scarcely a day passed that there had not been angry words spoken by one or the other.

"We loved each other dearly, and we tried hard to avoid all this. We had resolved again and again in our moments of repentance that we would treat each other with more consideration, be more forbearing, but it seemed useless—our troubles increased.

"So it went on for several months. I had become morose and gloomy, and Nora's poor little face had grown so pale and sad that the sight of it made my heart sche.

"One lovely morning in early sum mer, when the roses that clambered over our cottage walls was in bloom and nodding their pretty heads at us through the windows, when the birds, newly mated, were singing their joy and the nir was heavy with the perfume of flowers and breathed only love and peace, the crisis came.

"While I was hurriedly getting ready to go to the office something occurred to detain me. I was annoyed and spoke sharply to Nora. She answered me in an insolent, taunting manner that always enraged no. Our words grew hotter and hotter and more ex.
