Bernard Winslow who is in the South Side Hospital at Pittsburg is in a sad condition. He was found on Tuesday morning in a shanty boat on the Monongahela river near the outskirts of the city. Wimslow has been without visible means of support for some time past, living on the charity of neighbors. He slept in the shanty boat where he was found. On-Sunday he was missed from his usual haunts and a search failed to find him until Tuesday. When found Winslow was dying of starvation.

He was once a passenger conductor on he old Pittsburg & Connellsville road and is well known here and supsequently kept hotel in Confluence and Uniontown. His wife died many years ago. At the time of their marriage there was much objection on the part of her parents owing to religious differences, she being a Protestant and he a Catholic.
