CULTURAL NOTES ON CELERY.

Several Points on Which Eastern Growers Agree-Concerning Fertilizers.

That you cannot make celery pay without plenty of manure and an abund ance of moisture are points generally accepted at the east. Growers, too, as rule, give preference to farmyard manure for this crop. At least they do not rely alone on commercial fertilizers. though man advocate an application of nitrate of soda in midsummer at time of a rain or of artificial watering.

Following are some timely hints from American Gardening:

Sow seed on a south border in the middle of April in drills six inches apart. When large enough to handle, transplant in 3 feet beds, setting the plants two or three inches apart. Colery transplanted in this way never gets a setback when put in the tranches. Grow Henderson's White Plume for early, Henderson's Half Dwarf and Golden Dwarf for late.

In regard to manure, farmyard ma. you can call that a division, are settled. -Philadelphia Times. nure is better for celery than fertilizer at from the cow stable, if possible Should it be laid up a time so much the better. If you intend planting a large quantity of celery, it is a good plan to run off the rows with a plow, sny, five feet apart. * Split open the rows with a plow. That will make a nice trench for your manure. It is much the best way, for large quantities worked with a spade is of that long battle saw it proved beyond slow work. After the manure is in the all peradventure that no "infinance" of trenches and the soll worked into it it theirs had won the day, but the simple is then ready for planting. The plants fact that six years of hitter experience should be at least two or three inches had taught them the only weapon that below the level. That gives a nice would kill, and they used it. They burchance to give plenty of water. Without moisture it is impossible to grow good celery. came out victors." Then, again, there is another consideration when winter comes on. After growing it all summer there is a large bass voice that would have made his Stephen A. Douglas had a magnificent quantity of celery destroyed every year fortune on the opera stage. The manner quantity of celery destroyed every year through not being properly protected. A very good plan in the fall is to put three rows together, and then cover with leaves or salt hay, but the best plan of all is for any one that has room to store it away in frames. Of course the frame must be banked up to keep frost out, and on all favorable occasions give nir, but the celery must be put in the frame before it gets out by frost.

A Gospel Trolley Car.

A gospel trolley car will soon be making nightly rounds of New York and Brooklyn suburbs. The car made its first trip a few nights ago, loaded with a melodeon and speakers and singers, connected with the Passaic Street Mission, in Passaic, N. J., made a round trip on the New Jersey Electric Railway, going by way of Patterson to Singac and back. Wherever they saw a group of people on the sidewalks or rural roadsides the car was stopped. and the evangelists sang hymns and exhorted the bystanders to seek salvation. The idea is a novel one, and while it is difficult to see how it could be carried out without interfering with the regular traffic of the line, it is possible that some persons might be impelled to better living who could not therwise be reached .

Are you suffering from rheumatism? Thomas' Electric Oil has cured thousands of the worst cases of this terrible disease. It only costs 50 cents to try it.

Insanity Amono Women.

The large increase in mental trouble among women is directly traceable to a diseased state of their peculiar and delicate organism. Much of this is brought about by carelessness, late hours, thin shoes, tight corsets, overwork, anxiety and sometimes by excesses. When her delicate mechanism is disabled or deranged nothing equals
