

The Somerset Herald.

EDWARD SCHELL, Editor and Proprietor.

WEDNESDAY, September 4, 1890.

"All's well that ends well," and it is admitted that the State Convention, with Quay on top, ended well.

In the "Conclude" press had remembered the adage that "silence is golden," it would not now be deprecating such huge chunks of immoderate piety.

APARENTLY the Democratic deficiency has continued to disfigure the end of the administration. It requires Republican financing to provide for the payment of Uncle Sam's debts.

THE nomination of Hayward for State Treasurer, without a dissenting voice in the convention, was an uncommon but deserved endorsement of a tried and most worthy official who is exceptionally popular.

OUR Democratic friends throughout the country who were holding their breath for a while and hurrah over the "split" in the Republican party in this State, can now breathe naturally. The "split" didn't materialize.

THAT the civil service reform called for in the platform should be enacted into law is evidenced by the fact that an official of the police department of Pittsburg is in command of a gang of armed toughs who held possession of the Convention hall in the interests of a faction that proposed to carry their point by force.

THE shouts that hailed the victory of Senator Quay have not yet died out, and already old friends are nominating him for President and for Governor. The Senator is not the kind of a man to be tickled with a straw. If he ever aspires to either of these positions, he will speak for himself as he did when he wanted to be chairman of the State Committee.

ALTHOUGH several of the members of the Superior Court had been selected for a licking it was so much on the part of Quay to urge their nomination. They know and feel that his chemistry alone would turn them into a bunch of rebels.

IT was a great mistake on the part of Governor Hastings to permit himself to be drawn into the late political contest which ended so disastrously to the side he espoused, and if he finds himself lashed for a season in his future aspirations, he will have to look at home for the reason.

THE Herald, as all its readers know, is avowedly a leading party paper. At the advent of the struggle for supremacy in the party so happily ended in the Convention on Wednesday last, knowing that family quarrels are proverbially bitter and hard to lead than ordinary wrangles, and foreseeing the fierceness and bitterness of the contest looming up, determined not to be drawn into the struggle.

THE Herald, as all its readers know, is avowedly a leading party paper. At the advent of the struggle for supremacy in the party so happily ended in the Convention on Wednesday last, knowing that family quarrels are proverbially bitter and hard to lead than ordinary wrangles, and foreseeing the fierceness and bitterness of the contest looming up, determined not to be drawn into the struggle.

THE Herald, as all its readers know, is avowedly a leading party paper. At the advent of the struggle for supremacy in the party so happily ended in the Convention on Wednesday last, knowing that family quarrels are proverbially bitter and hard to lead than ordinary wrangles, and foreseeing the fierceness and bitterness of the contest looming up, determined not to be drawn into the struggle.

THE Herald, as all its readers know, is avowedly a leading party paper. At the advent of the struggle for supremacy in the party so happily ended in the Convention on Wednesday last, knowing that family quarrels are proverbially bitter and hard to lead than ordinary wrangles, and foreseeing the fierceness and bitterness of the contest looming up, determined not to be drawn into the struggle.

THE Herald, as all its readers know, is avowedly a leading party paper. At the advent of the struggle for supremacy in the party so happily ended in the Convention on Wednesday last, knowing that family quarrels are proverbially bitter and hard to lead than ordinary wrangles, and foreseeing the fierceness and bitterness of the contest looming up, determined not to be drawn into the struggle.

THE Herald, as all its readers know, is avowedly a leading party paper. At the advent of the struggle for supremacy in the party so happily ended in the Convention on Wednesday last, knowing that family quarrels are proverbially bitter and hard to lead than ordinary wrangles, and foreseeing the fierceness and bitterness of the contest looming up, determined not to be drawn into the struggle.

THE Herald, as all its readers know, is avowedly a leading party paper. At the advent of the struggle for supremacy in the party so happily ended in the Convention on Wednesday last, knowing that family quarrels are proverbially bitter and hard to lead than ordinary wrangles, and foreseeing the fierceness and bitterness of the contest looming up, determined not to be drawn into the struggle.

THE Herald, as all its readers know, is avowedly a leading party paper. At the advent of the struggle for supremacy in the party so happily ended in the Convention on Wednesday last, knowing that family quarrels are proverbially bitter and hard to lead than ordinary wrangles, and foreseeing the fierceness and bitterness of the contest looming up, determined not to be drawn into the struggle.

THE Herald, as all its readers know, is avowedly a leading party paper. At the advent of the struggle for supremacy in the party so happily ended in the Convention on Wednesday last, knowing that family quarrels are proverbially bitter and hard to lead than ordinary wrangles, and foreseeing the fierceness and bitterness of the contest looming up, determined not to be drawn into the struggle.

THE Herald, as all its readers know, is avowedly a leading party paper. At the advent of the struggle for supremacy in the party so happily ended in the Convention on Wednesday last, knowing that family quarrels are proverbially bitter and hard to lead than ordinary wrangles, and foreseeing the fierceness and bitterness of the contest looming up, determined not to be drawn into the struggle.

SENATOR QUAY WINS.

He Knocks Out Gilkeson After a Remarkable Fight.

Senator Quay has not his enemies and they are his. He has overcome a combination of politicians the strongest that ever arrayed against him. It is the end of the political career of a man who has a fresh inauguration as state administrator. Mayor Warlick, with the tremendous patronage of the great city of Philadelphia, the personal and political influence of that city, Chris Magee, whose ward is law in the political arena of Pittsburgh, the personal and political influence of the judges whom the governor appointed to the new superior court, and the active support of several of the largest corporations of the state.

Yet Quay has downed the whole outfit. He has taught them a lesson which will never be forgotten, and which will do more to fix the political status of the state than any other event. He has shown that he will not be taken upon the question of the state chairmanship. I therefore, in the interests of party harmony, and for the purpose of continuing that spirit of peace that may be maintained hereafter, I will not refer to the Republican party favored Quay, and his direct appeal to the voters won him thousands of friends who might otherwise have been indifferent under the circumstances.

Senator Quay knows more men in Pennsylvania than any other citizen of the state, and when the great crowd began surging upon Harrisburg on Monday his friends almost killed the silent leader by their effusive greetings and handshakes. But when the victor of the greatest struggle in the history of the Republican party in the state walked into the convention hall he gave little evidence of the triumph which he had passed. For a man of 62 years old he is a wonder of endurance and energy.

Tuesday night the crash in the hotel region of the city was unprecedented. Hundreds of howling frenzied, who had marched and encamped until they were weary, slept in Capitol park, and wherever they could find a place to stretch their limbs, when the morning in the morning a personal encounter between the factions in an effort to get control of the regular convention hall. This afternoon Chairman Gilkeson was to have handed back his resignation to the speaker in charge of the convention, and the speaker in charge of the convention, and the speaker in charge of the convention.

THE make-up of the superior court was announced in the seventh appointment of Governor Hastings, June 27 last, and six of these appointments were endorsed at Williamsport's convention. An executive James A. Beaver, who heads the list, was born at Millersburg, Perry county, October 21, 1817, and was admitted to the Centre county bar at Bellefonte, Pa., in 1840. He served gallantly throughout the war, losing his leg by amputation after being wounded at Resaca Station. Returning to Bellefonte a general, he entered politics as a staunch Unionist.

BEHAVIOR'S triumph over his political enemies means much more than a declaration on the part of the people of Pennsylvania that he is fit to serve as chairman of the State committee. It is a much broader significance than that. It means that he is fit to lead in national as well as in state affairs, and in this light will his victory be viewed throughout the country.

THE Superior Court nominations. The make-up of the superior court was announced in the seventh appointment of Governor Hastings, June 27 last, and six of these appointments were endorsed at Williamsport's convention.

Judge John Lewis Wickham was born in 1814 in North county, Ireland, and is a man of striking appearance and of massive build. He is of Protestant ancestry and his father was a member of the distinguished Irish exile party, William Smith O'Brien, who led the revolutionary movement in Ireland in 1848.

EDWARD NEWELL WILLARD, who before his election to the appellate court, was a well-known railroad and corporation attorney of Scranton, was born in Madison county, April 2, 1853, and was admitted to the New Haven bar in September, 1877.

CHARLES E. RIES, late president judge of the Erie county judicial district, was born in Erie county, Pa., in 1837. He resigned to accept the appointment to the superior court, was born at Fairfield, New York, September 14, 1836. He prepared for college at Elmira academy, and graduated from Hamilton college, Clinton, N. Y., in 1857.

Judge George B. Orady was born near Huntington February 25, 1853, and is the most nearly connected with that portion of the state by post, business, legal and political associations than any one else, with the exception of Judge Beaver.

AGRICULTURAL ASSOCIATION AT UNIONTOWN. Extensive are the preparations being made for the coming week at Uniontown, Pa., on September 10, 11, 12, 13, and 14, inclusive. It is the intention of the management to make it the auspicious event of the season.

Judge Howard J. Hecker, of Easton, is the son of the late Governor Andrew H. Hecker, a man of distinction, being the first governor of the territory of Kansas, and who experienced much opposition in the performance of his duties, owing to the lawlessness of the times.

Judge Howard J. Hecker, of Easton, is the son of the late Governor Andrew H. Hecker, a man of distinction, being the first governor of the territory of Kansas, and who experienced much opposition in the performance of his duties, owing to the lawlessness of the times.

Judge Howard J. Hecker, of Easton, is the son of the late Governor Andrew H. Hecker, a man of distinction, being the first governor of the territory of Kansas, and who experienced much opposition in the performance of his duties, owing to the lawlessness of the times.

Judge Howard J. Hecker, of Easton, is the son of the late Governor Andrew H. Hecker, a man of distinction, being the first governor of the territory of Kansas, and who experienced much opposition in the performance of his duties, owing to the lawlessness of the times.

Judge Howard J. Hecker, of Easton, is the son of the late Governor Andrew H. Hecker, a man of distinction, being the first governor of the territory of Kansas, and who experienced much opposition in the performance of his duties, owing to the lawlessness of the times.

THE course of his speech seconding the nomination of Senator Quay for state chairman, Congressman Stone, of Allegheny, said:

Senator Quay is a man who has not only a great political leader but is not afraid to trust his cause in his hands. His election in the present contest means not only a great political victory for Pennsylvania, but it means the election of a Republican in 1894, for his election as chairman of the Republican state committee in Pennsylvania in 1885 means his election as chairman of the Republican national committee in 1894, and his election as chairman of the Republican national committee in 1894 means his election as chairman of the Republican national committee in 1894.

THE delegates told themselves when Mr. Gilkeson had concluded and the scene was the most impressive of the convention. Men shouted and cheered and were taken upon the question of the state chairmanship. I therefore, in the interests of party harmony, and for the purpose of continuing that spirit of peace that may be maintained hereafter, I will not refer to the Republican party favored Quay, and his direct appeal to the voters won him thousands of friends who might otherwise have been indifferent under the circumstances.

THE delegates told themselves when Mr. Gilkeson had concluded and the scene was the most impressive of the convention. Men shouted and cheered and were taken upon the question of the state chairmanship. I therefore, in the interests of party harmony, and for the purpose of continuing that spirit of peace that may be maintained hereafter, I will not refer to the Republican party favored Quay, and his direct appeal to the voters won him thousands of friends who might otherwise have been indifferent under the circumstances.

THE delegates told themselves when Mr. Gilkeson had concluded and the scene was the most impressive of the convention. Men shouted and cheered and were taken upon the question of the state chairmanship. I therefore, in the interests of party harmony, and for the purpose of continuing that spirit of peace that may be maintained hereafter, I will not refer to the Republican party favored Quay, and his direct appeal to the voters won him thousands of friends who might otherwise have been indifferent under the circumstances.

THE delegates told themselves when Mr. Gilkeson had concluded and the scene was the most impressive of the convention. Men shouted and cheered and were taken upon the question of the state chairmanship. I therefore, in the interests of party harmony, and for the purpose of continuing that spirit of peace that may be maintained hereafter, I will not refer to the Republican party favored Quay, and his direct appeal to the voters won him thousands of friends who might otherwise have been indifferent under the circumstances.

THE delegates told themselves when Mr. Gilkeson had concluded and the scene was the most impressive of the convention. Men shouted and cheered and were taken upon the question of the state chairmanship. I therefore, in the interests of party harmony, and for the purpose of continuing that spirit of peace that may be maintained hereafter, I will not refer to the Republican party favored Quay, and his direct appeal to the voters won him thousands of friends who might otherwise have been indifferent under the circumstances.

THE delegates told themselves when Mr. Gilkeson had concluded and the scene was the most impressive of the convention. Men shouted and cheered and were taken upon the question of the state chairmanship. I therefore, in the interests of party harmony, and for the purpose of continuing that spirit of peace that may be maintained hereafter, I will not refer to the Republican party favored Quay, and his direct appeal to the voters won him thousands of friends who might otherwise have been indifferent under the circumstances.

THE delegates told themselves when Mr. Gilkeson had concluded and the scene was the most impressive of the convention. Men shouted and cheered and were taken upon the question of the state chairmanship. I therefore, in the interests of party harmony, and for the purpose of continuing that spirit of peace that may be maintained hereafter, I will not refer to the Republican party favored Quay, and his direct appeal to the voters won him thousands of friends who might otherwise have been indifferent under the circumstances.

THE delegates told themselves when Mr. Gilkeson had concluded and the scene was the most impressive of the convention. Men shouted and cheered and were taken upon the question of the state chairmanship. I therefore, in the interests of party harmony, and for the purpose of continuing that spirit of peace that may be maintained hereafter, I will not refer to the Republican party favored Quay, and his direct appeal to the voters won him thousands of friends who might otherwise have been indifferent under the circumstances.

THE delegates told themselves when Mr. Gilkeson had concluded and the scene was the most impressive of the convention. Men shouted and cheered and were taken upon the question of the state chairmanship. I therefore, in the interests of party harmony, and for the purpose of continuing that spirit of peace that may be maintained hereafter, I will not refer to the Republican party favored Quay, and his direct appeal to the voters won him thousands of friends who might otherwise have been indifferent under the circumstances.

THE delegates told themselves when Mr. Gilkeson had concluded and the scene was the most impressive of the convention. Men shouted and cheered and were taken upon the question of the state chairmanship. I therefore, in the interests of party harmony, and for the purpose of continuing that spirit of peace that may be maintained hereafter, I will not refer to the Republican party favored Quay, and his direct appeal to the voters won him thousands of friends who might otherwise have been indifferent under the circumstances.

THE delegates told themselves when Mr. Gilkeson had concluded and the scene was the most impressive of the convention. Men shouted and cheered and were taken upon the question of the state chairmanship. I therefore, in the interests of party harmony, and for the purpose of continuing that spirit of peace that may be maintained hereafter, I will not refer to the Republican party favored Quay, and his direct appeal to the voters won him thousands of friends who might otherwise have been indifferent under the circumstances.

THE delegates told themselves when Mr. Gilkeson had concluded and the scene was the most impressive of the convention. Men shouted and cheered and were taken upon the question of the state chairmanship. I therefore, in the interests of party harmony, and for the purpose of continuing that spirit of peace that may be maintained hereafter, I will not refer to the Republican party favored Quay, and his direct appeal to the voters won him thousands of friends who might otherwise have been indifferent under the circumstances.

THE delegates told themselves when Mr. Gilkeson had concluded and the scene was the most impressive of the convention. Men shouted and cheered and were taken upon the question of the state chairmanship. I therefore, in the interests of party harmony, and for the purpose of continuing that spirit of peace that may be maintained hereafter, I will not refer to the Republican party favored Quay, and his direct appeal to the voters won him thousands of friends who might otherwise have been indifferent under the circumstances.

THE delegates told themselves when Mr. Gilkeson had concluded and the scene was the most impressive of the convention. Men shouted and cheered and were taken upon the question of the state chairmanship. I therefore, in the interests of party harmony, and for the purpose of continuing that spirit of peace that may be maintained hereafter, I will not refer to the Republican party favored Quay, and his direct appeal to the voters won him thousands of friends who might otherwise have been indifferent under the circumstances.

THE delegates told themselves when Mr. Gilkeson had concluded and the scene was the most impressive of the convention. Men shouted and cheered and were taken upon the question of the state chairmanship. I therefore, in the interests of party harmony, and for the purpose of continuing that spirit of peace that may be maintained hereafter, I will not refer to the Republican party favored Quay, and his direct appeal to the voters won him thousands of friends who might otherwise have been indifferent under the circumstances.

THE delegates told themselves when Mr. Gilkeson had concluded and the scene was the most impressive of the convention. Men shouted and cheered and were taken upon the question of the state chairmanship. I therefore, in the interests of party harmony, and for the purpose of continuing that spirit of peace that may be maintained hereafter, I will not refer to the Republican party favored Quay, and his direct appeal to the voters won him thousands of friends who might otherwise have been indifferent under the circumstances.

THE delegates told themselves when Mr. Gilkeson had concluded and the scene was the most impressive of the convention. Men shouted and cheered and were taken upon the question of the state chairmanship. I therefore, in the interests of party harmony, and for the purpose of continuing that spirit of peace that may be maintained hereafter, I will not refer to the Republican party favored Quay, and his direct appeal to the voters won him thousands of friends who might otherwise have been indifferent under the circumstances.

THE course of his speech seconding the nomination of Senator Quay for state chairman, Congressman Stone, of Allegheny, said:

Senator Quay is a man who has not only a great political leader but is not afraid to trust his cause in his hands. His election in the present contest means not only a great political victory for Pennsylvania, but it means the election of a Republican in 1894, for his election as chairman of the Republican state committee in Pennsylvania in 1885 means his election as chairman of the Republican national committee in 1894, and his election as chairman of the Republican national committee in 1894 means his election as chairman of the Republican national committee in 1894.

THE delegates told themselves when Mr. Gilkeson had concluded and the scene was the most impressive of the convention. Men shouted and cheered and were taken upon the question of the state chairmanship. I therefore, in the interests of party harmony, and for the purpose of continuing that spirit of peace that may be maintained hereafter, I will not refer to the Republican party favored Quay, and his direct appeal to the voters won him thousands of friends who might otherwise have been indifferent under the circumstances.

THE delegates told themselves when Mr. Gilkeson had concluded and the scene was the most impressive of the convention. Men shouted and cheered and were taken upon the question of the state chairmanship. I therefore, in the interests of party harmony, and for the purpose of continuing that spirit of peace that may be maintained hereafter, I will not refer to the Republican party favored Quay, and his direct appeal to the voters won him thousands of friends who might otherwise have been indifferent under the circumstances.

THE delegates told themselves when Mr. Gilkeson had concluded and the scene was the most impressive of the convention. Men shouted and cheered and were taken upon the question of the state chairmanship. I therefore, in the interests of party harmony, and for the purpose of continuing that spirit of peace that may be maintained hereafter, I will not refer to the Republican party favored Quay, and his direct appeal to the voters won him thousands of friends who might otherwise have been indifferent under the circumstances.

THE delegates told themselves when Mr. Gilkeson had concluded and the scene was the most impressive of the convention. Men shouted and cheered and were taken upon the question of the state chairmanship. I therefore, in the interests of party harmony, and for the purpose of continuing that spirit of peace that may be maintained hereafter, I will not refer to the Republican party favored Quay, and his direct appeal to the voters won him thousands of friends who might otherwise have been indifferent under the circumstances.

THE delegates told themselves when Mr. Gilkeson had concluded and the scene was the most impressive of the convention. Men shouted and cheered and were taken upon the question of the state chairmanship. I therefore, in the interests of party harmony, and for the purpose of continuing that spirit of peace that may be maintained hereafter, I will not refer to the Republican party favored Quay, and his direct appeal to the voters won him thousands of friends who might otherwise have been indifferent under the circumstances.

THE delegates told themselves when Mr. Gilkeson had concluded and the scene was the most impressive of the convention. Men shouted and cheered and were taken upon the question of the state chairmanship. I therefore, in the interests of party harmony, and for the purpose of continuing that spirit of peace that may be maintained hereafter, I will not refer to the Republican party favored Quay, and his direct appeal to the voters won him thousands of friends who might otherwise have been indifferent under the circumstances.

THE delegates told themselves when Mr. Gilkeson had concluded and the scene was the most impressive of the convention. Men shouted and cheered and were taken upon the question of the state chairmanship. I therefore, in the interests of party harmony, and for the purpose of continuing that spirit of peace that may be maintained hereafter, I will not refer to the Republican party favored Quay, and his direct appeal to the voters won him thousands of friends who might otherwise have been indifferent under the circumstances.

THE delegates told themselves when Mr. Gilkeson had concluded and the scene was the most impressive of the convention. Men shouted and cheered and were taken upon the question of the state chairmanship. I therefore, in the interests of party harmony, and for the purpose of continuing that spirit of peace that may be maintained hereafter, I will not refer to the Republican party favored Quay, and his direct appeal to the voters won him thousands of friends who might otherwise have been indifferent under the circumstances.

THE delegates told themselves when Mr. Gilkeson had concluded and the scene was the most impressive of the convention. Men shouted and cheered and were taken upon the question of the state chairmanship. I therefore, in the interests of party harmony, and for the purpose of continuing that spirit of peace that may be maintained hereafter, I will not refer to the Republican party favored Quay, and his direct appeal to the voters won him thousands of friends who might otherwise have been indifferent under the circumstances.

THE delegates told themselves when Mr. Gilkeson had concluded and the scene was the most impressive of the convention. Men shouted and cheered and were taken upon the question of the state chairmanship. I therefore, in the interests of party harmony, and for the purpose of continuing that spirit of peace that may be maintained hereafter, I will not refer to the Republican party favored Quay, and his direct appeal to the voters won him thousands of friends who might otherwise have been indifferent under the circumstances.

THE delegates told themselves when Mr. Gilkeson had concluded and the scene was the most impressive of the convention. Men shouted and cheered and were taken upon the question of the state chairmanship. I therefore, in the interests of party harmony, and for the purpose of continuing that spirit of peace that may be maintained hereafter, I will not refer to the Republican party favored Quay, and his direct appeal to the voters won him thousands of friends who might otherwise have been indifferent under the circumstances.

THE delegates told themselves when Mr. Gilkeson had concluded and the scene was the most impressive of the convention. Men shouted and cheered and were taken upon the question of the state chairmanship. I therefore, in the interests of party harmony, and for the purpose of continuing that spirit of peace that may be maintained hereafter, I will not refer to the Republican party favored Quay, and his direct appeal to the voters won him thousands of friends who might otherwise have been indifferent under the circumstances.

THE delegates told themselves when Mr. Gilkeson had concluded and the scene was the most impressive of the convention. Men shouted and cheered and were taken upon the question of the state chairmanship. I therefore, in the interests of party harmony, and for the purpose of continuing that spirit of peace that may be maintained hereafter, I will not refer to the Republican party favored Quay, and his direct appeal to the voters won him thousands of friends who might otherwise have been indifferent under the circumstances.

THE delegates told themselves when Mr. Gilkeson had concluded and the scene was the most impressive of the convention. Men shouted and cheered and were taken upon the question of the state chairmanship. I therefore, in the interests of party harmony, and for the purpose of continuing that spirit of peace that may be maintained hereafter, I will not refer to the Republican party favored Quay, and his direct appeal to the voters won him thousands of friends who might otherwise have been indifferent under the circumstances.

THE delegates told themselves when Mr. Gilkeson had concluded and the scene was the most impressive of the convention. Men shouted and cheered and were taken upon the question of the state chairmanship. I therefore, in the interests of party harmony, and for the purpose of continuing that spirit of peace that may be maintained hereafter, I will not refer to the Republican party favored Quay, and his direct appeal to the voters won him thousands of friends who might otherwise have been indifferent under the circumstances.

THE delegates told themselves when Mr. Gilkeson had concluded and the scene was the most impressive of the convention. Men shouted and cheered and were taken upon the question of the state chairmanship. I therefore, in the interests of party harmony, and for the purpose of continuing that spirit of peace that may be maintained hereafter, I will not refer to the Republican party favored Quay, and his direct appeal to the voters won him thousands of friends who might otherwise have been indifferent under the circumstances.

THE delegates told themselves when Mr. Gilkeson had concluded and the scene was the most impressive of the convention. Men shouted and cheered and were taken upon the question of the state chairmanship. I therefore, in the interests of party harmony, and for the purpose of continuing that spirit of peace that may be maintained hereafter, I will not refer to the Republican party favored Quay, and his direct appeal to the voters won him thousands of friends who might otherwise have been indifferent under the circumstances.

THE course of his speech seconding the nomination of Senator Quay for state chairman, Congressman Stone, of Allegheny, said:

Senator Quay is a man who has not only a great political leader but is not afraid to trust his cause in his hands. His election in the present contest means not only a great political victory for Pennsylvania, but it means the election of a Republican in 1894, for his election as chairman of the Republican state committee in Pennsylvania in 1885 means his election as chairman of the Republican national committee in 1894, and his election as chairman of the Republican national committee in 1894 means his election as chairman of the Republican national committee in 1894.

THE delegates told themselves when Mr. Gilkeson had concluded and the scene was the most impressive of the convention. Men shouted and cheered and were taken upon the question of the state chairmanship. I therefore, in the interests of party harmony, and for the purpose of continuing that spirit of peace that may be maintained hereafter, I will not refer to the Republican party favored Quay, and his direct appeal to the voters won him thousands of friends who might otherwise have been indifferent under the circumstances.

THE delegates told themselves when Mr. Gilkeson had concluded and the scene was the most impressive of the convention. Men shouted and cheered and were taken upon the question of the state chairmanship. I therefore, in the interests of party harmony, and for the purpose of continuing that spirit of peace that may be maintained hereafter, I will not refer to the Republican party favored Quay, and his direct appeal to the voters won him thousands of friends who might otherwise have been indifferent under the circumstances.

THE delegates told themselves when Mr. Gilkeson had concluded and the scene was the most impressive of the convention. Men shouted and cheered and were taken upon the question of the state chairmanship. I therefore, in the interests of party harmony, and for the purpose of continuing that spirit of peace that may be maintained hereafter, I will not refer to the Republican party favored Quay, and his direct appeal to the voters won him thousands of friends who might otherwise have been indifferent under the circumstances.

THE delegates told themselves when Mr. Gilkeson had concluded and the scene was the most impressive of the convention. Men shouted and cheered and were taken upon the question of the state chairmanship. I therefore, in the interests of party harmony, and for the purpose of continuing that spirit of peace that may be maintained hereafter, I will not refer to the Republican party favored Quay, and his direct appeal to the voters won him thousands of friends who might otherwise have been indifferent under the circumstances.

THE delegates told themselves when Mr. Gilkeson had concluded and the scene was the most impressive of the convention. Men shouted and cheered and were taken upon the question of the state chairmanship. I therefore, in the interests of party harmony, and for the purpose of continuing that spirit of peace that may be maintained hereafter, I will not refer to the Republican party favored Quay, and his direct appeal to the voters won him thousands of friends who might otherwise have been indifferent under the circumstances.

THE delegates told themselves when Mr. Gilkeson had concluded and the scene was the most impressive of the convention. Men shouted and cheered and were taken upon the question of the state chairmanship. I therefore, in the interests of party harmony, and for the purpose of continuing that spirit of peace that may be maintained hereafter, I will not refer to the Republican party favored Quay, and his direct appeal to the voters won him thousands of friends who might otherwise have been indifferent under the circumstances.

THE delegates told themselves when Mr. Gilkeson had concluded and the scene was the most impressive of the convention. Men shouted and cheered and were taken upon the question of the state chairmanship. I therefore, in the interests of party harmony, and for the purpose of continuing that spirit of peace that may be maintained hereafter, I will not refer to the Republican party favored Quay, and his direct appeal to the voters won him thousands of friends who might otherwise have been indifferent under the circumstances.

THE delegates told themselves when Mr. Gilkeson had concluded and the scene was the most impressive of the convention. Men shouted and cheered and were taken upon the question of the state chairmanship. I therefore, in the interests of party harmony, and for the purpose of continuing that spirit of peace that may be maintained hereafter, I will not refer to the Republican party favored Quay, and his direct appeal to the voters won him thousands of friends who might otherwise have been indifferent under the circumstances.

THE delegates told themselves when Mr. Gilkeson had concluded and the scene was the most impressive of the convention. Men shouted and cheered and were taken upon the question of the state chairmanship. I therefore, in the interests of party harmony, and for the purpose of continuing that spirit of peace that may be maintained hereafter, I will not refer to the Republican party favored Quay, and his direct appeal to the voters won him thousands of friends who might otherwise have been indifferent under the circumstances.

THE delegates told themselves when Mr. Gilkeson had concluded and the scene was the most impressive of the convention. Men shouted and cheered and were taken upon the question of the state chairmanship. I therefore, in the interests of party harmony, and for the purpose of continuing that spirit of peace that may be maintained hereafter, I will not refer to the Republican party favored Quay, and his direct appeal to the voters won him thousands of friends who might otherwise have been indifferent under the circumstances.

THE delegates told themselves when Mr. Gilkeson had concluded and the scene was the most impressive of the convention. Men shouted and cheered and were taken upon the question of the state chairmanship. I therefore, in the interests of party harmony, and for the purpose of continuing that spirit of peace that may be maintained hereafter, I will not refer to the Republican party favored Quay, and his direct appeal to the voters won him thousands of friends who might otherwise have been indifferent under the circumstances.

THE delegates told themselves when Mr. Gilkeson had concluded and the scene was the most impressive of the convention. Men shouted and cheered and were taken upon the question of the state chairmanship. I therefore, in the interests of party harmony, and for the purpose of continuing that spirit of peace that may be maintained hereafter, I will not refer to the Republican party favored Quay, and his direct appeal to the voters won him thousands of friends who might otherwise have been indifferent under the circumstances.

THE delegates told themselves when Mr. Gilkeson had concluded and the scene was the most impressive of the convention. Men shouted and cheered and were taken upon the question of the state chairmanship. I therefore, in the interests of party harmony, and for the purpose of continuing that spirit of peace that may be maintained hereafter, I will not refer to the Republican party favored Quay, and his direct appeal to the voters won him thousands of friends who might otherwise have been indifferent under the circumstances.

THE delegates told themselves when Mr. Gilkeson had concluded and the scene was the most impressive of the convention. Men shouted and cheered and were taken upon the question of the state chairmanship. I therefore, in the interests of party harmony, and for the purpose of continuing that spirit of peace that may be maintained hereafter, I will not refer to the Republican party favored Quay, and his direct appeal to the voters won him thousands of friends who might otherwise have been indifferent under the circumstances.

THE delegates told themselves when Mr. Gilkeson had concluded and the scene was the most impressive of the convention. Men shouted and cheered and were taken upon the question of the state chairmanship. I therefore, in the interests of party harmony, and for the purpose of continuing that spirit of peace that may be maintained hereafter, I will not refer to the Republican party favored Quay, and his direct appeal to the voters won him thousands of friends who might otherwise have been indifferent under the circumstances.

THE delegates told themselves when Mr. Gilkeson had concluded and the scene was the most impressive of the convention. Men shouted and cheered and were taken upon the question of the state chairmanship. I therefore, in the interests of party harmony, and for the purpose of continuing that spirit of peace that may be maintained hereafter, I will not refer to the Republican party favored Quay, and his direct appeal to the voters won him thousands of friends who might otherwise have been indifferent under the circumstances.

THE delegates told themselves when Mr. Gilkeson had concluded and the scene was the most impressive of the convention. Men shouted and cheered and were taken upon the question of the state chairmanship. I therefore, in the interests of party harmony, and for the purpose of continuing that spirit of peace that may be maintained hereafter, I will not refer to the Republican party favored Quay, and his direct appeal to the voters won him thousands of friends who might otherwise have been indifferent under the circumstances.

HENCH & DRIMGOLD'S SAW MILL AND ENGINES. A wonderful improvement in Friction Feeds and Gages...

Facts About FURNITURE. We can inform the trade and public at large that we have come out victoriously in our deal with the furniture...

$25 and $28.00 will buy a solid Oak Stair for the bed room, containing six pieces, made and finished in the very latest styles.

$18 and $20.00 takes from our floor a new set, either in Antique or Imitation Walnut finish.

$15 and $20.00 takes one of the same style styles upholstered in Tapestry.

URSULINE ACADEMY. Winfield Hill, near Penn, Pittsburg, Pa. Teaching and Day School for Young Ladies.

Mrs. A. E. UHL. My Large Double Show Tables are now on hand...

NEW GOODS OF ALL KINDS. Having had a fortune that I have made by the forelock, and made my contracts in the "nick of time" for my...

FOREIGN SUITINGS, two hundred styles or more this week will price range 50 cts to $2.25.

NEW FALL JACKETS, FOR LADIES AND CHILDREN.

NEW MILLINERY GOODS COMING IN. Bargains All Along the Line.

STENGER'S MRS. GREAT SLAUGHTER SALE. In all Departments. Goods must be converted into cash.

ELWOOD ACADEMY. ELWOOD CITY, LAWRENCE CO., PA.

STEEL ROOFING AND SIDING. (Spendover's Patent.) Lightning, Fire and Storm Proof.

PENNSYLVANIA COLLEGE, GETTYSBURG, PA. Founded in 1822. Large faculty. Two full courses of study...

JOHN STENGER, MAIN STREET, Johnstown, Pa.

2 Car Load Vehicles. Just arrived, the finest and most complete line of Buggies, Phaetons, Spring Wagons, Spindle Wagons and Dog Carts...

Brewster Side-Bar Spring. Coil Concord - - - - - " Dexter Queen - - - - - " American Queen - - - - -