

REPUBLICAN NOMINATIONS. Election, Tuesday, Nov. 5th. STATE.

For State Treasurer, BENJAMIN J. HAYWOOD, of Mercer county. For Judges of the Superior Court, JAMES A. BEAVER, of Centre county. JOHN JERVIS WICKHAM, of Beaver county. EDWARD NEWELL WILLIARD, of Lackawanna county. CHARLES E. RICE, of Luzerne county. GEORGE B. ORLANDY, of Huntington county. HOWARD REEDING, of Northampton county.

For District Attorney, ANDREW J. COLBORN, of Somerset Borough. For Poor Director, HARRISON GOELIN, of Somerset Township.

In a public debt is a public blessing, then this country is doubly blessed in the present National Administration.

The most important question facing the Republicans of Kentucky and Maryland, is how to get their votes counted.

WELL, W. SCOTT MULLIN has received his reward. He voted for the Combine in the late State Convention and has been appointed a deputy factory inspector.

It is a potent fact to every one that, to avoid a further increase of the public debt by issuing a new batch of bonds, the National Administration must increase its revenues or reduce its expenses.

At the G. A. R. barbecue in old Kentucky, they slaughtered 200 bluegrass steers, 300 lambs, and 100 fat hogs. It took 7,500 gallons of burgoo soup and any amount of other things to fill the multitude.

The "Cuckoos" are saying that they see no reason why President Cleveland should not have a third term. Evidently this is a fever put out to ascertain Democratic sentiment. Now listen for the refrain of "Grover, Grover, four years more for Grover."

While on Sunday last we were scizzling with the mercury scorching around and above ninety, the more blessed climate of Colorado and Wyoming were enjoying a snow storm with the thermometer two degrees below the freezing point. Who says this isn't a great country, with a variable climate?

KENTUCKY Democrats are growing desperate with fear that the State will lose and under her fortunes with the Republican party. They have suppressed free speech on the stump and have taken to libel suits against newspapers that have the courage to criticize Bourbon politicians and their ways.

THE Ohio Republicans opened their State campaign last week with a rousing meeting at Springfield, Sherman, McKinley, Forsaker and Bushnell and Jones, the two principal candidates on the Republican ticket, made telling speeches. The crowd in attendance was immense and the enthusiasm unbounded. There is every prospect of Ohio Republicans carrying the State by many thousands.

EVIDENTLY this year's political campaign is going to be a very short and a very quiet one. It is now within six weeks of the election and there is not yet a ripple on the unusually calm surface of the political pool. The coming election is important because of its bearing on the great battle of next year, and our friends must see to it that the present contest is not let go by default. Eternal vigilance is the price of success.

The removal of the Library of Congress from the Capitol to the new building will begin this week. For the present 100,000 volumes are to be stored in the room to be used by Mr. Spofford in the basement of the building. Almost a year will be necessary. It is said, to remove all the books owned by the government. About seventy thousand volumes will be left at the Capitol as a reference library for members of Congress. There are more than 700,000 books in the collection.

On Sunday next General Schofield will be retired from the command of the United States Army by reason of having reached the age limit of sixty-four years. General Schofield is one of the last survivors of the great commanders who won fame on the battle fields of the war of the rebellion. He was an active participant in the siege of Vicksburg, the capture of Atlanta, the battle of Nashville and the March to Sherman to the Sea. General Nelson A. Miles, the renowned Indian fighter, will succeed to the command of the army.

THE Judges of the Philadelphia courts propose to enhance their dignity and the decorum of the bodies over which they preside, by wearing gowns while on the bench.

As the Judges of the Supreme Court of the United States, and of the Supreme Court of the State now wear their gowns, there is no reason why, except as a matter of taste, the Common Pleas Judges should not adopt the custom. Anything that will add to the dignity and decorum of our courts is certainly commendable. The custom of Judges wearing gowns is a very ancient one, but has for many years fallen into disuse in this country.

It may not be generally known, but the legislature of Pennsylvania at its last session passed a law giving to typewriting a legal status in the State. This law declares that all typewriting heretofore executed or done, and which may be hereafter executed or done, for any purpose whatever, shall have the same legal force and effect as ordinary writing, and the word "writing" occurring in our laws shall be held to include typewriting. For instance, our statutes provide that all wills shall be in writing. The question as to whether a typewritten will is a statutory will, and all other possible controversies of this nature, are avoided by this legislation.

THE Republican State Convention of New York, at its late meeting, finally presented to the country as its candidate for President, Governor LEVI MORTON. Mr. Morton is well advanced in years, but is as sound and alert as most men of his age.

That he is well fitted for the position and well worthy of it will be admitted by general consent. Governor Morton carried New York by over one hundred and fifty thousand, and that State is a large factor in Republican Presidential calculations.

On the first of July last the increase of the national debt since the advent of the Cleveland administration amounted to $285,000,000. Yesterday it had attained the enormous sum of $390,000,000.

It is in about eleven weeks. Day by day it is mounting higher, under the suicidal policy inaugurated by the revenue-destroying Democracy.

It is this that the Democrats mean by reforming the administration of national affairs, heaven help our national affairs! Philadelphia Inquirer.

The opening of the political campaign has caused considerable speculation as to whether the recent act of assembly, increasing the pay of election officers, would be in effect this fall.

The act was passed in February, after the spring election, and consequently no matter when it became or is to become operative it cannot effect election officers elected last spring to serve at the November and February elections to come.

The constitution provides that the pay or emoluments of elective officers cannot be increased or diminished during the term of office. It will be seen that neither the inspectors nor the judges, elected last February, will be allowed the increase, though the clerks appointed will benefit by the act as they are not elective officers.

New York Republicans. In the New York Republican State Convention, at Syracuse, last Tuesday, the officers now serving were renominated as follows: J. D. Rockefeller, Chief of Appeals, Col. E. Martin, Birmingham; Secretary of State, John Palmer, Albany; Comptroller, James A. Roberts, Buffalo; State Treasurer, A. B. Colvin, Glen Falls; Attorney-General, Theodore C. Hancock, Syracuse; State Engineer, C. W. Adams, Utica.

The following are the points in the platform of National importance: It denounces the Democratic party for its false and misleading statements of public expenditures, its failure to promptly and properly protect Americans and American interests in foreign countries, and for trucking to foreign influence and sacrificing by wholesale American prestige and dignity.

New Jersey Republicans. The Republicans of New Jersey held their State Convention on Thursday, John W. Griggs, a lawyer of note and of great personal popularity, was nominated for governor. He was formerly President of the State Senate.

Ohio Sam's Great Corn Crop. DEWITT, Ill., Sept. 22.—The growing season of 1890 will go down into the agricultural history of the country as phenomenal. There is now maturing the largest crop of corn the country has ever produced, probably 200,000,000 bushels.

The Valerky Thirteen. NEW YORK, Sept. 22.—Before December, snow will be the feature of an American October will again sound along the stately corridors of Bluebeard Castle. The hand of a fair American—this time a young one, not the relief of another—will be able to take down any of the 17,000 volumes from the library shelves and say that it is her own.

Explorer Perry Returns. ST. JOHNS, N. F., Sept. 22.—The Peary relief steamer Kite arrived here yesterday from Bowdoin Bay, with Lieutenant Peary, his crew and Eskimo servant Hanson, the North Pole hunters, on board. The expedition was fruitless, the party getting no farther north than other explorers had. Fossil, which Peary had reached last fall, he was unable to find this spring on account of the heavy snowfalls, and the party almost starved to death. Ice became exhausted and Peary and Hanson had to drag him on a sled a good portion of the journey. In order to save their lives the men had to kill all except one of their dogs for food. The most northern point reached was Independence Bay.

A Billionaire in Wyoming. BUFFALO, Wyo., Sept. 22.—An equine stardust was here Friday with a severe gale, continuing all day and night, accompanied by snow. Last night Peary had reached last fall, he was unable to find this spring on account of the heavy snowfalls, and the party almost starved to death. Ice became exhausted and Peary and Hanson had to drag him on a sled a good portion of the journey. In order to save their lives the men had to kill all except one of their dogs for food. The most northern point reached was Independence Bay.

Work of Masked Men. ALTONA, Sept. 22.—A bold robbery was committed by Woodbury township, Bedford county, last night. About 9 o'clock three stalwart masked men walked into the house of Michael Rechter while the family was seated in the parlor and a daughter was playing the organ. One of the men asked her to play a dancing piece, and she replied that she could play nothing but sacred music. Money was then demanded from Mr. Rechter who said he had none. The men then drew their revolvers and threatened him, which he carried, and Mr. Rechter gave them $10. This did not satisfy them and, going through the house with the utmost deliberation, they opened the trunk and drawers, securing $225, a gold watch, two silver watches and a quantity of valuable articles received by Mr. Rechter at a birthday celebration a short time ago.

Converted by a Jury of Eleven. JOLIET, Ill., Sept. 20.—After serving six years of a fourteen years' sentence in the penitentiary, Miss Belle Egan, of Pana, Ill., has been granted a new trial. Miss Egan was arrested in 1888 at Panama for killing a Chinaman. During the trial one of the jurors became sick and the Judge was compelled to excuse him. Both sides consented to continue the trial with a jury of eleven. The jury returned a verdict of guilty and the woman was sentenced to life imprisonment. Her friends have now moved for her release, contending that the conviction was illegal, from the fact that eleven men sat on the jury. On this ground the Court orders a new trial.

CHICKAMAUGA PARK. The Battlefield Dedicated as a Pleasure Resort.

CHICKAMAUGA, Sept. 19.—One of the bloodiest battles of the world ever saw was formally dedicated here today to a pleasure resort for the enjoyment and joyment of the American people for all time. It was the dedication of the battlefield of Chickamauga, whose beautiful ravines and mountain sides were streaming with nearly thirty thousand dead and wounded men thirty-two years ago.

The dedication was conducted by men who, thirty-two years ago, fought in the awful strife; men who at that time sought each others' lives, sought to increase the bloodshed, if necessary, to win the fight.

The exercises at the auditorium were imposing and impressive. The Auditorium, though crowded, was comparatively cool, and the acoustic properties were almost perfect, so that the speakers could be distinctly heard in all parts of the hall.

The exercises took place at Snodgrass Hill, whose top and side for a mile or more were so thickly covered with dead that they thirty-two years ago, that as the survivors slowly and solemnly walked over it from crest to base stepping from one prostrate body to another.

View-President A. E. Stevenson presided over the dedicatory exercises. The orator, John H. Palmer, the venerable Senator from Illinois, who, thirty-two years ago today, risked his life on the battlefield, made the first dedicatory address. Never in all his life, unless, perhaps, when he was directing the march of Chickamauga thirty-two years ago, did he speak more earnestly.

Another patriotic tale followed General Palmer and then the battle-scarred veterans of the Confederacy, who called his "Right Arm"—John R. Gordon—of Georgia, was introduced. He was greeted with no less applause than was General Palmer, and he spoke with fully as much enthusiasm, feeling, and patriotism.

Justice Made a Farce. KNOXVILLE, Tenn., Sept. 22.—The situation in such cases over the whole country is not so serious as last night. A courier, who has just arrived here, announces that although matters are quiet, many men remained armed, waiting for any attempt that may be made at the trial of the men under arrest. Sheriff Maples assistants, and are ready to move on should the Company of State Troops, of Knoxville, returned to night from Atlanta, but will not be sent to Sevier county unless another requisition is made by the sheriff.

Killed a Huge Panther. BELLEVILLE, Pa., Sept. 21.—A huge panther, the first one killed in Pennsylvania for many years, and one of the largest ever seen in the Allegheny Mountains, was shot near here today. A boy telegraphed to the Allegheny Game and Clarence station, is the heroic young hunter who brought down this royal game. It was a dangerous encounter, as the panther is the most formidable and ferocious beast that inhabits the forests of North America.

Lost in the Snow. RAWLINS, Wyo., Sept. 21.—Frank Nevan, ranchman, on Saturday morning sent his two boys, aged 11 and 13 years, out after the cows. The boys not returning, he started to look for them in the town. About 20 hours later he returned without finding any trace of the missing boys, who undoubtedly perished in Saturday's storm. The searchers report that the boys were two feet deep in the snow. The boys were last seen near Snake River on Saturday night picked up one of Taylor & Hogg's shepherds named Gray, who was just returning from the mountains. When the stage approached he fired his pistol at the driver's attention. He was so numb with the cold that he was unable to reach it without assistance.

Quay is Back. PHILADELPHIA, Pa., Sept. 23.—United States Senator Quay arrived here this morning from his fortnight's sojourn at his Florida retreat, but the last he heard of him there more than did politics. He was at the Republican State Committee headquarters and had a short conference with the chairman of the Executive Committee, Frank Whiting Landis, and at 12:20 o'clock the noon he left on the Pennsylvania Railroad Limited Express for his home in Beaver, where he will remain for the next two weeks.

Cold Wave Reaches Chicago. CHICAGO, Sept. 22.—The hottest September week which the people of Chicago have experienced in over 20 years, was followed to-night by a sudden cold wave. The temperature all day was as high as on any day during the phenomenal hot spell, the thermometer at 3 p. m. registering 87 degrees in the shade. The temperature is falling slowly, but the cold blast from the Northwest approaches.

Items of Interest.

San Francisco Republicans claim that 20 out of 56 members of the National Committee favor that city for the national convention.

Two weeks ago Mrs. Jacob Weiming, of Uniontown, O., gave a tramp a pair of her husband's castoff trousers, in the belief that she was doing him a kindness. The tramp brought back the money, saying that he had not discovered it for a week, and that he had walked back 150 miles to return it. Weiming gave the man a position and he has promised to go home with his family.

Found the Gold.

CHATELAIN, Ala., Sept. 5.—Champ Cornelius buried $200,000 in gold near here when he went to the war. Soon afterward, while at home on a furlough, robbing his house by night and lunging him in a vain effort to extort from him the hiding place of his treasure. His body was buried in the house, but the whereabouts of the gold remained a secret.

Yesterday three strangers, one of whom claimed to be an adept in the use of lasso, were seen in the use of lasso which for locating streams of water, gold and silver, offered to search for the treasure provided John Findley, who now owns the Cornelius plantation, would pay for the cost of search, agreeing to divide the find with him. Findley laughingly told them they could keep all the gold they found.

They dug where the Cornelius mansion stood all yesterday and last night. This morning they were gone, but they left an empty old rusty vessel and a note, saying they had found the treasure and kept it, according to Findley's permission.—Philadelphia Press.
