A Bachelor's Lament-

There is one class of individuals whom I despise utterly and irretrievably. For thirty years I have been making up my mind to say why I hate my chambermaid, and the following are some of my reasons;

She sends my fresh pajamas to the laundry and leaves my clean linen on a chair for a week, where the dust settles on it.

She hangs my dress coat by the middle of its back on a sharp hook, and folds my trousers just outside the new crease the tailor has just put in. She takes all my matches for the other hourder's rooms. She jams my trunk up against the wall, no matter how often I pull it out.

so that the lid will stay open, she yanks it up to the wall again. She carefully cherishes for me all the duns, which I have grown held trying

A Double Row of Japanese Buildhas Which Cannot Be Counted. Close to this interesting pool is the avenue of images, representing the Amida Buddha. The idols vary in size but are similar in design. There are sev eral hundred of them altogether, and they sit facing one another in two long GCOD rows. We asked the little Jap who change is for the better, as the clover brought us to the place how many o seeding costs no more, either for seed them there were. In an awed whispe he replied, "Nobody knows." Then he told us how impossible it was to com them. Each image was made unsight) by having numbers of little bits of pap stuck on to it and chewed bits of pap which had been spat at it. The object this disfiguration we failed to discover though our friend Hojo informed us they were put on by the young priests, a part Johnstown, Pa., of whose novitiate it was to attempt to count the Buddhas. There is evidently something wrong with these idols, for no one has eve been able to reckon them up the same twice over, in spite of sticking a piece of paper to tick each one off. Of course two unsuperstitions Englishmen were not to be humbugged by native stories, so M.
