A Soldler's Secret

By Captain CHARLES KING, U. S. A.

[Copyright, 1862, by J. B. Lippincott company, and published by special arrangement with them.]

-SYNOPSIS ----

apportion on the eve of her departure in losin. II-After Nita leaves camp for Hol-on trics to uncarth the mystery of her swoon. He suspects that sergeant Elis, a recent re-cruit, and a man with a history, and some connection with it. III-Lieutenant (Carly '' Brewster, another officer of the Twelfth, is in love with Winiffed Berricn, the daughter of Major Berrien. Captain Rolfe lights upon evidence that another woman chains Brew-ster's drouten that another woman chains Brew-ster's drouten. IV. The society of the fort gives a hop, and Mrs. Knowles, a married first from a nearby town, makes a scene with Brew-ster, at which Major Barrien and Wini red are mystified and indigmant. V.-Beroe Brewster can exploit to Winifred about the Knowles woman his troop is ordesed to march against the Sionx Indians in Dakota. VI. Mojor Ber-tren hearts some gossip about Brewster's rela-tions to Mrs. Knowles and bars the lower out from a parting word with Winifred. VII and VIII-The whole Twelfth goes to the seat of war. Captain Rolfe sends a detective to hum on Screaming His' career before he joined the army. IX-Major Barrien is wounded in a skirmish. Brewster and Ellis save his life. for tack of accommodation at the camp, had she not lived all one winter with her beloved Dick in a Kansas dugout just the year after their marriage? Had she not camped with him on the Yellowthrough the mountain fever in the Big Horn? Were there not women, school teachers and the agent's and trader's families there at the agency? What had the to fear for herself or Winifred in the midst of the Twelfth? secret that the Indians have slipped away from the troops along the Cney-

CHAPTER XI.

Brewster led his little hand of troopers off into the night

"Who's there?" demanded Brewster from beneath his robes and blankets, as late that night his name was called. "It is I-Holden. Tumble up, man; I want you quick."

"My God, doctor, is Berrien worse?" "No, thank heaven, he's sound asleep. Sergeant Ellis was brought in by the guard half an hour ago. He fell exhausted at the lines. We've just brought him to at the hospital tent, and from what I can make out-he's so weak yet -there's something back there out on train hands, one or two disgusted corre-I ran over for you as soon as I could, for you probably know him best." "Be with you in a minute," shouled Browster, kicking off his moccasins to realize the "scoop" they would have and struggling into his heavy boots. "Long after eleven-near midnight, I blows nobody good.

and to assure her that the major was rewarded their efforts. From Ellis' de- stand still. All on a sudden the leaders Jack's punging availed min nothing doing well: he pointed out to her that were so muffled in furs that within their they had nothing but rough shelter of canvas shelter they could hardly suffer log and turf and canvas at the camp; greatly from the cold. He was assured that there was absolutely no place where delicately nurtured women could that the driver and Pete were with them, also well provided with robes and blankbe cared for. He offered her and Miss ets, and that they were in no immediate Winifred his own warm, snug, though danger of freezing; but he could not rudely furnished room at the station, bear the thought of the long, weary and ordered his chief clerk to clear out waiting, the dread anxiety, the darkand sleep in the office. He told her how impossible it was for him to leave his ness, the isolation in all that howling post and his duties of forwarding supwilderness. He could picture Winifred plies, and explained that there was no nestled in her mother's arms, wondering, wondering, as the hours dragged officer to properly escort them. But one by one she had promptly overthrown his by, when, if ever, human aid would objections. Escort? Here was Sergeant come to their relief. At four o'clock he and his party had searched and dian boys the evening before, had doubt- above the rapids, leaping the narrow Ellis. What better could sho ask? As scouted for half a dozen miles up and down the valley. Some of his best and stanchest men were giving out, and these, with Sergeant Brooks, he ordered stone?-nursed him in a deserted log hut news and shelter at the station.

> little bluff, where they and their horses the edge of the distant bluff, following through the powdery drift, and then, speedily stamped a hole in the snow- an active, mischievous leader and leav- Brewster leading, eyes everywhere, aldrifts around the hospital ambulance ing their jaded pursuers far behind. The most on all fours, they scurried along and huddled for warmth-fires they Indian knows too much to chase a run- half way up the opposite slope, keeping tomorrow," said Sterrett. "It is an open daunted campaigners at his back, he ly stop when unpursued and can then sixty yards they made their rapid way, had once again turned down stream, fol- more readily be headed off and turned and then around a little bend and among "All the more reason for my being at and feeling for ravines he could not see came the nimble herd full tilt toward shimmering white there rose an odd along the southern bank. Time and the elbow in the shallow valley, where shaped heap, only a trifle higher than my husband's side," promptly answered again they dismounted and ran beside a broad white streak told of deep drifted its fellows, and from the midst of it their horses to restore circulation to the snow, and there the leader veered to the there projected a dingy, whity-brown this army heroine. "Dr. Holden will have to go, and Dick will be left practically alone. Winifred and 1 start at

Of course that ended the matter. Against such determination he was ed to their girths in the powdery snow. dun colored pony, who with the speed of foundered to his armpits in the powdery powerless. Having first done his best At last Brewster noted that here and the wind came darting out across the drift, and in a moment more had forced to detain them he had then bent all his there far in the northwestern skies the level surface beyond, gamely, skillfully his way through the fragile white wall stars were beginning to peep; the clouds heading him. Around went the leader before him, had seized the handle of the efforts to the duty of transportation, and were driving away, the dawn was nigh, once more in a wide circle westward, door and Winifred Berrien, starting from now at a late hour in the evening and in the hurricane abating. Broader and around the southermost edge of the her mother's clasping arms, blinded for the energetic and familiar language of the corral was blaspheming the fate that brighter the daylight stole over the fleecy drift, and then, with thundering an instant by the glare of radiant sunstorm swept prairie, streaked here and hoofs, the whole troop went bounding shine, barely able as yet to rally from the had led him to yield his better judgment there with fleecy, winding veins, and away to the west without a living soul to her importunity. Somewhere about when at last the sun arose in its un- to interpose between them and the bald, nine o'clock one of the outriders had clouded splendor the gale had died away rolling heights at the far horizon, miles been dragged off his horse more dead to a mere ghost of its furious self, and and miles away. than alive and told a pitiful tale of havthey rubbed the icy fringe from their "Go it, pony! I'm glad to see a reding been driven before the storm, and he didn't even know how far they had battered eyelids and gazed long and skin done for once!" was Morse's jubigot before he lost sight of the ambulance entirely, but was sure that one with the driven snow, and saw not a tenant? Look!" and all they had lost the road and now were adrift on the prairie. This was sign of those whom they had rushed to bad enough; but at ten o'clock or thereabout the corral master came in to say that the riderless horse of the other man had just arrived at the gate and, barely able to stagger, was led inside. "Pete had a flask along," said the corral master sententionsly. "That's what's bade him make his way to camp and horses, from the sharp eyes of the chasthe matter with him."

Then Sterrett could stand it no longer. Soldiers there were none to send-they were all over the range, at the canton sent out at once. ment or beyond; civilians were there in plenty, dozens of refugees from the ranches, dozens of railroad men and to ride away. "If I had dreamed we the bank pointing eagerly to a couple of catch the luckier members of that all corporal. Ride as lively as you can." pervading fraternity, but who were quick red his unwilling horse through the ice in transmitting to their respective jour-

CHAPTER XIL

"But the regiment is ordered to march enne, and there's the mischief to pay."

once, even if we have to walk."

"Lie still, Haddock; you're not want- nala full and picturesque details of the Wolf and was presently following a lit- with their long ears erect, with outed," he added. "What time is it, Doc!" Dakota blizzard. It is an ill wind that the break in the north side which led by stretched neck and eager brayings, clata more gradual ascent to the prairie be- tered away in pursuit of the herd. judge. Come as quick as you can. I'll Even though every one told him he youd. Brewster knew them at a glance-Steratt's ambulance mules. Indeed, the Now, men, one of you ride back to In five minutes, in the dim light of the fore daylight, Sterrett had a little party ward the party at the ford, poke into broken pole was still dangling between of stalwart frontiersmen duly equipped every ravine to your left-they're all full the two in rear and bounding with them of snow; it may be the ambulance is so over the frozen turf. stant the gale should show signs of mod- deep in the drift they could hear no erating. Hour after hour it shrieked sound. If you find anything, the faint- turn to the south end, had cost the band and howled, driving the sheets of snow est trace, ride up on the prairie and their liberty. Darting along abreast of at sight of Brewster the languid, half before it, sweeping the frozen prairie circle your horse to the left. Morse, them, but nearly half a mile away to the clean as a floor, but whirling dense white you come with me." "Beg pardon, lieutenant, I think Mur- pony had shot far out beyond them, and clouds into every sheltered gulch and ravine, settling the drifts in the lee of phy see's something now," said Morse, now, sweeping around in a wide circle indicating the farther shore with a nod to his right, rode between them and the railway station where, "dead" and aban- of his fur covered head. Whirling eag- broad wastes to the west. Two other Inerly about, Brewster was surprised to see | dians were circling in their front, bardoned, lay the engine of the eastbound train, the passengers huddling for his little Irishman, a hundred yards or ring the way to the low hills to the warmth into a single car and cheerfully so away, cronching low on his horse's south. Others still, straggling far out discussing the propriety of using the back, still in the ravine and up to his eastward, reined up so as not to intergirth in snow, and peering cautionsly fere with the "rounding" of the herd, other for firewood. eastward, his eyes just level with the and in a moment or two more these And then, before the first faint glimmer of dawn, as though sport with its own vio- bank. Then he was plainly seen to sig- three experts had turned their runaway lence, the gale began to die. The clouds nal. In an instant Brewster and his men | property in wide sweep back into the scudding southeastward drew aside, unwere plunging into the rapid stream, curtaining the placid heavens, where crushing the ice that skirted the shores few minutes the matter was settled; the and bounding out upon the frozen ponies were sulkily trotting along the ground beyond. Again Murphy held bank beyond the bend, headed for home twinkling out of sight. Soon in a blaze forth a hand-a warning gesture, not a and hard work again, with the ambr over the far distant bluffs and looked a beckoning one. "Keep down, keep lance mules braying at their heels. Here down," he signaled, and wondering, the the younger Indians, the boys, took "black troop" were bracing einch straps, lation wrought by rude Boreas in the little party of troopers cautiously fol- charge, and from the distant slopes, lowed into the ravine.

scription Brewster knew that the ladies swerved; the blanketed riders could be A moment more, with a dismal groan he seen bending low and over as they was on his side in the soft, cold bed, the swung their nimble steeds in circle to | lariat was being lashed and knotted so the right. And then, then, an instant that even furious struggles could not more, and, tossing the powdery snow all in a fleecy white cloud, there came tear-nity, his erstwhile friends and comrades ing up out of the depths of some unseen were heaping new insult and a storm of coulce a lively herd of Indian ponies re- snow upon him. Jack couldn't underjoicing in their unwonted freedom and stand it. determined not to be herded back to slavery without a struggle. It was hard to repress the shout of joy that sprang to the soldiers' lips. Then Twenty-thirty seconds of breathl it wasn't the ambulance after all; noththat, after breaking away from the Incould not light, even had there been a ning horse; he leaves him to his own de- well under the crest and just at the edge vestige of fuel-and then with three un- vices, well knowing he will more quick- of the deep drifts to their right. Fiftylowing its wanderings in the darkness back to the ways he should go. On great heaps and mounds of glisteni Time and again they plunged waist stretched away at racing speed on that a cry of delight half stifled in his lips deep into drifts and the horses flounder- course but for one young warrior on a Carroll Brewster leaped into the snow, wistfully up and down that shallow, lant shout. And then, suddenly and winding valley, all heaped and tumbled sharp, "Good God! What's that, Lieu-Not six hundred yards away, now, the save. Never for an instant did Brewster re-birtle band of ponies, following their spirited leader, had suddenly halted at lax his efforts. Giving each of his men the very edge of some dip or sink in the a pull at the flask, he selected little prairie that lay to the southeast of the Murphy as about the most compact and snowy rift in which the troopers were certainly the lightest of the trio, and crouching, still hidden, they and their tell the colonel that up to sunrise no ing Indians. Then as suddenly, tossing vestige of the lost ones had been found, high their scraggy manes, as though and suggest that additional parties be with one accord, the nimble brutes whirled to the south, their leader in-"Tell somebody to bring my field dulging in a fine flourish of heels as he glass," he added, as Murphy was about sped away. And now Morse lay against would have found nothing of the ambu- black objects startlingly outlined on the the prairie, an ambulance and women. spondents who had got the "tip" as to lance until this time, I never should glistening white of the snow, two obimpending movements all too late to have left it. Good luck to you now. jects that came plunging up from the catch the luckier members of that all corporal. Ride as lively as you can." gling breast deep in the drifts, and at Murphy turned promptly away, spurlast reached the edge of the prairie, and, into the black and racing waters of the followed instantly by another couple,

"Ready, men! They're just peeping over in the hollow now. The moment

Twenty-thirty seconds of breathless silence. Then a quick gesture; a quick, ing but this frolicsome band of rascals low toned, but imperative "Go!" Go they did, skimming over the pool less been driven before the gale, de- chasm where the black waters, dancing

manding the sending forth of quite a and frothing, had defied the ice king; s done by reading the first verse upon party of the young men in search, even ducking under the opposite bank; carwhich the eye falls, and the verse in before the storm had fully abated. For | bines in hand, revolvers at the hip, carto push along with the gale and seek a moment the troopers forgot their mis- tridges gleaming in every belt; and after sion as they watched the chase. Fresh | them, leaping, yet bending low, went Three others he posted near the main and unhampered by weight of any kind Brewster. Another moment and they crossing of the Wolf, under the lee of a the scurrying band came sweeping along reached the mouth of the ravine, burst > the trial.-Exchange. Bucklen's Arnica Salve. The Best Salve in the world for Cuts, Bruises, Sores, Ulcers, Salt Rheum, Fever Sores, Tetter, Chapped Hands, Chilblains, Corns, and all Skin Eruptions, and positively cures Piles, or no pay required. It is guaranteed to give perfect satisfaction or money refunded. Price 25 cents per box. For sale at numbed and stiffened feet and fingers. left and south and would doubtless have canvas, slanting to the north, and with J. N. Suyder's drug store, Somerset, Pa., or at Brallier's drug store Berlin, Pa. Love and Charity. If you can make love and charity in > make up your mind that you are a stupor like slumber into which she had fallen, heard her name called in the joyous tones she knew so well and saw her lover, a stalwart, glowing, rejoicing young snow god, all sparkling with the white crystals, all glistening in the glorious beams, gazing upon her with a is only one patent medicine that I ever Chimes. love light in his brave blue eyes that use, and that is Chamberlain's Cough brought instant glow to her own wan and pallid cheek. And then, before she Remedy, It possesses some medical could even speak, before her mother roperties that relieve the little sufcould emerge from the enfolding robes, erers immediately. It is, in my opina shout was heard, then the sudden ring on, the best cough medicine in the of a rifle shot, followed instantly by anmarket." If this remedy is freely other, the spat as of a whiplash on the canvas top. Something tore its way given as soon as the croupy cough appears it will prevent the attack. It is through the roof and front with spiteful

"Fire, men! Keep 'em off! Fire!"

praise and thanksgiving at the joyons

....

Milesian hail:

other diseases.

o get married on Christmas.

All Frez.

also an ideal remedy for whooping "zin. "Down! down upon the floor! both of cough. There is no danger in giving you, quick?" shouted Brewster, as he it to children, as it contains nothing slammed the door, and the next instant injurious, For sale by Benford's they heard the order in his ring-Pharmacy. ing tones, half stifled in the snow,

In many a Welsh household the first

They heard the quick bang! bang! of carbines close at hand, the prompt re-The first of the year is really a sort sponse of rifles distant as were the first, of double festival in Japan, for the Japthe whistle of lead through the icy air. the shrill yells of battling Indians, the ancse, like the Chinese, reckon their furiousgallop of bounding hoofs. Every- age from that date. A child born 24 where to their front the rapid fire in- hours before New Year's day is called creased. More yells, partly of triumph, 1 year old on that day, so that it is the partly summoning additional warriors birthday of all the Japanese people .-coming hoofs, and in the midst of it all New York Advertiser. to the spot, then the muffled beat of hospital tent, Brewster was bending over Ellis' prostrate form. Others had pulled | by midnight and ready to start the inoff his heavy boots and were chafing his half frozen feet. Holden had just administered another dose of brandy, but open eyes began to gleam and the muscles of the lips to twitch.

Brewster's stern voice, calm and steady

"Stoop lower, Brewster; he wants to speak to you," said Holden. And Brews- overy stack and shed and building at the ter inclined his ear almost to the black mustache.

Then with sudden bound he was on his feet again.

"What!" he cried. "God of heaven. man! do you mean it?" His face v/as ashen in an instant, but his eyes never quit their questioning gaze. Ellis nodded vehemently, striving again to speak.

"Doctor, do you hear?" cried Brewster, in mad dismay. "He says Mrs. Berrien and Winifred are in the ambulance | the stars were faintly gleaning and then broken down at Wolf Creek." And without another word he darted from of glory and triumph the sun rose slowly the tent.

Ten minutes more, a dozen men of the down upon the scene of wrath and desobuckling throat latches and loading | conquerer's absence; and just then, too, blankets on their astonished steeds. De- there have in sight a battered little squad spite the howling of the gale, half the of troopers on spent and jaded steeds, camp was up and astir, Farquhar among and the sergeant in command rode breast the first. Brewster had his own horse | deep into the drift at the south entrance saddled and was astride before any one of Sterrett's office and yelied over the in- I can think of." else was fairly dressed, and by this time | tervening shield of snow the stunning Ellis had recovered sufficiently to speak question: and tell his story. The train from the "Did the ladies get back all right? We cast came in on time at three, and ha can't find the ambulance anywhere along was amazed to see Mrs. Berrien's face. | the Wolf." No one dreamed of her coming, for the wires were down. The quartermaster ran to meet her, and the sorgeant himself hastened to give her good news of her husband. Nothing would answer, though, but that she must go to him at

In vain did Major Sterrett plead with her, saying it took five hours to drive over to the cantonment by day and he feared the evening would be dark and stormy. Go she would, and the quartermaster ordered out his own ambulance and best four mule team, with his own driver and a couple of armed outriders. He gave the ladies hot tea, loaded in lots of blankets and robes, and they started about half past three, were in the teeth of the gale at five o'clock, in pitch darkness and off the road at six, and somewhere about sevan the mules became unmanageable in the blizzard whirled short around and snapped off the pole. By this time, too, one outride was lost, the other was frozen half to death and had been drinking whisky. The driver was so stiff he could hardly at once. Off with you now."

eager and agitated.

but it's more like Indians than anything | tion about one who seemed to be their leader.

the bank in the direction indicated.

many a year.

this way?"

they've heard of the ambulance?" do, lieutenant. Day or night, calm or with its precious contents. From their her avay. storm, those fellows can all around beat | crouching place it was impossible to see | as in getting news."

east, liettenant," chimed in Murphy. southeast the prairie lay before them, "That means if they are from the vil- and the keenest eye could detect no sign New Discovery know its value, and lages near the agency they've circled of hollow between that which lay so those who have not, have now the around our people." Breathless the little party watched the

"Alm well, men, but fire lively." coming dots. The stream bore to the upon the plain. Somehow Brewster felt Before outting the ambulance and its northeast after a deep bend about half certain that now at last he was actually precious freight Ellis had made such examination of the neighborhood as was a taile away, and on the farther bank. within pistol shot of the ambulance, address to H. E. Bucklen & Co.,

"Aim well, men, but fire lively. Don't let them again get so close as to have a

And that swerve, that sudden halt and south, the warrior on the dun colored shining track of the sun, and in a very from south and east and from the prai-"What do you see?" queried Brewster, rie to the west, the others came cantering toward that sharp angle half a mile

"Upon my soul, sir, I wish I knew; away and gathered in eager consulta-"Indians? where away?" And with a All this, and much more. Brewster wild fear at heart Brewster gazed over and his men were watching with bounding pulses, in breathless excitement. "Indians, and coming this way, sir, or Brewster with feelings of mingled hope I'm a tenderfoot," muttered Morse, a and despair. Now he knew that the man who had served in the Twelfth for ambulance must be somewhere near at hand, possibly up that long ravine on "What on earth can they be doing so | the south side that slanted in from the far south of the agency? You don't prairie not a hundred yards away below there were a good ford at that point. "They're all hostiles, sir, when there's Might not that be the very one of which only three or four ag'in them. It don't Ellis spoke? Now, if it were but possimatter whether these are from the ble to drop back out of the drifts in rgency or the Bad Lands now, if they which they were hiding and recross the can catch a white man a-napping, and stream, they might yet creep unobserved something has brought them out here." | into the mouth of that gally and feel "My God, man! you don't suppose their way afoot until, somewhere in the snow, they came upon, as he now felt "They hear things quicker than we sure they must, the stormbound wagon across the ridge that separated them "And they are coming from the north- from the ravine referred to; but to the near them and that from which those vagabond mules had emerged far out

Two Valuable Friends. 1. A physician cannot be always had.

shot at the wagon. Watch that above Rheumatism, Neuralgia, Sprains, again unable to do anything. Sometimes all." Two-three minutes the sound of Bruises and Burns occur often and | I was so had I have loaded wagons on battle raged aboat them, increasing at the semetimes when least expected. Keep my knees, utterly unable to stand up. front. A soldier voice was heard to say: handy the friend of many households "There's more of them coming, sir. You and the destroyer of all pain, the knew of, but undicine seemed to have can see them down there to the east" And Mrs. Berrien's heart grew faint famous Red Flag Oil, 25 cents.

2. Many a precious life could be with fear. Winifred had buried her face upon her breast and closed her ears saved that is being racked to death to the horrid sounds. And then, all on with that terrible cough. Secure a a sudden, the yells of the charging In good night's rest by investing 25 cents dians seemed to grow fainter, then for a bottle of Pan-Tina, the great sounds of dismay arose among them, remedy for Coughs, Colds and Con- try them. I took them to please her, then the cries were drowned in the clatter of ironshod hoofs and the choras of sumption. Bottles of Pan-Tina sold at G. W. soldier cheers. Murphy and his little squad came whirling up the bank, and Benford's drug store. Mrs. Berrien's heart poured forth in

A New Epoch.

"To hell wid 'em, fellera! Sure all B throop's comin-not two miles behind!" lution through the heavens by touching the southern solstice, and then (Continued Next Week.) commences his return to northern lati-The Longest Word.

tudes, man is compelled to recognize a new epoch in his own career and is re-The longest word in the English minded to pause a moment for earnest house,' anguage is not "strilles," although reflection in order to gather wisdom ast letters, (s-mile-s). One of the hap- the signs of the future.-Christian plest words, however, is health; real, Work. agged, rousing, red faced health. A. E. Kilpatrick, of Fillmore, Cal., There is neither boon nor blessing like had the misfortune to have his leg it. Yet thousands have lost it and it caught between a cart and a stone and stays lost. This need not be, Myriads hadly bruised. Ordinarily he would have regained their health by using Dr. have been laid up for two or three Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, An weeks, but says: "After using one invaluable remedy for consumption or bottle of Chamberlain's Pain Balm I think any of the hostiles have got down them. Surely the banks looked as though lung scrofula, bronchitis, asthma, began to feel better, and in three days ough, heart disease, fever and ague, was entirely well. The peculiar soothintermittent fever, dropsy and many ing qualities which Chamberlain's Pain Balm possesses I have never noticed in any other liniment. I take CONDENSED TIME TABLES. Israels-My daughter Rachel vas goin pleasure in recommending it." This liniment is also of great value for rheu-Jaenbs-Vet you goin to give her? matism and lame back. For sale by Israels-If business imbroves between now an den, I vill probably give Benford's Pharmacy.

Some Good and Bad Omens.

To meet a red haired person on first getting up indicates a dull day in busi-Those who have used Dr. King's ess, and if such a one cross your door on New Year's day you will have an unlucky year. While making a trade, opportunity to try it Free. Call on the if a cross eyed person looks at you, it *Johnstown Accommodation.—Rockwood 5:55 p. m., Somerset 6:30 Stoyestown 6:48, Hoov-ersville 6:59, Johnstown 7:50, *Daily. advertised Druggist and get a Trial indicates that the bargain will be unprofitable. To hear a cricket chirp is good luck, and it is always a welcome sound under the hearthstone of the behind them fancy that their power to resist disease is lessened because a coughsticks to them a few days. They change their ideas when they have tried The Pincola Balsam, for its goes right to the spot and makes the irritated throat well. The resinous substances in the pine and other trees will stop a cough every time if combined as they are in Ely's Pineola Balsam, which all wide-pit in the morning, so had was my condition, and be forced to return home

Baltimore and Ohio Railroad.

Somerset and Cambria Branch

NORTHWARD.

Johnstown Mail Express.—Rockwood 3:30 s. m., Somerset 4:10, Succession 4:52, Hoov-ersville 5:08, Johnstown 6:10, Johnstown Mall Express.—Rockwood 1050 a. m., Somerset IEE, Stoyestown 1133, Hoov-ersville IEG, Johnstown 1245 p. m.

Public interest will steadily increase, and the disappointment of the met whose votes turned the scale at the last election, with the results under the met ministration they elected, will make the campaign the most intense excit in the history of the country.

The New York Weekly Tribune,

YARD

Moulding

Star Rails,

SOMERSET, P

Pickets,

Balasters, Chesinal

Newel Posts, Etc.

Sash.

the leading Republican family newspaper of the United States, will publish all $ political news of the day, interesting to every American citizen regardless in [27] miliations.

Also general news in attractive form, foreign correspondence covering the new he world, an agricultural department second to none in the country, market rep which are recognized authority, fascinating short stories, complete in each num he cream of the humorous papers, foreign and domestic, with their best comic ares, fashion plates and elaborate descriptions of woman's attire, with a varial attractive department of household interest. The New York Weekly Tedana's deal family paper, with a eleculation larger than that of any other weekly public tion in the country issued from the office of a daily. Large changes are being me in its details, tending to give it greater life and variety, and especially more inte

Bottle, Free. Send your name and