

ing it slowly in her fingers, "but the application is very obseure. It says : dom of Japan, the land of the great | His voice died away in a faint mur-

you. If it were possible-" sumstaces, and it is to believe that appeared, as have all the primitive eight years, and it has never failed to every man and every woman knows in- school-houses, but one, which still do all that is claimed for it. Why not

Bless nief what is more than

3.6

There is certainly nothing much

When one is asked to a small dance or other entertainment at a private house, he should answer in time to allow his hostess to fill his pace if he is unable to go. It is not a more matter. of form, as so many men seem to think, but it is a matter of the atmost importance. Affairs of the kind are not gotten up haphazard, but are carefully thought out. The hostess knows just the people and just the number she wants, and if those whom she asks do not resbond, her plans are all upset and the affair does not go smoothly.

Then, as to making dinner calls or party calls. It is a custom more honored in the breach than in the obsercance, I fear, but there may be more crouse in this case. Such calls are apt to be stiff and stupid simply from their formality. Many men absolutely refuse to make them, but it is not good form, and out of respect to their host-

There is one other little formality that it is surprising men who are supposed to be well bred often fail to observe. It is the writing of so called "bread-and-butter" letters. When one has spent a day or two at a country house, or has been making a visitanywhere with friends, ordinary courtesy demands that on his return home he shall write a note to his entertainers, telling them of his arrival, and thankthem for the pleasure his visit has given him. It would seem a most natural thing to do, yet some men consatutiy neglect 3. This is a thing that is imperative, and no man can afford not to do it. One may perhaps be pardoned ner calls, but there is no exense for his omiting his bread-and-patter letter.

Attention to such little matters as these marks the difference between the thoroughbred and the man who goes and happy so long as his comfort is un-

A Household Treasure.

D. W. Fuller, of Canaloharie, N. V.,

UT

Shogun, where the illustrious house of mur. The noble taikos bowed very God of Vengeanes, hold fast till the circle ends.' I presume that is the Fujimara reigned supreme. It was low and withdrew toward the door. prayer of these kneeling figures who my glorious privilege to drive from the One by one they passed out silently, desire that there shall never be an end country one hundred thousand Chi- but the last one tripped over a rug and to their revenge whatever it may be. nese, Mongols and Coreans, of whom fell with a loud thud upon the floor. The circle never ends, of course; it is after the battles of Kiushiu but three "Oh, I hope you have not hurt yourequivalent to saying 'hold fast for- men were allowed to escape and carry self !" I cried, surprised to find the back the news of the disaster." words coming quite naturally at will. ever."" The breast of the regent swelled with "Nobody is hurt, dear," Nan replied "Betty," said Nan, giving me a rapturous hug, "I take it all back-what pardonable pride as he told of the fa- soothingly, and I found myself stretch-I said about your getting awfally sold mous repulse of the Mongolian invadout upon the couch with Dr. Stewart at auctions. You know," she explain- ers in 1281. As he paused for his words holding my hand and Mrs. Vaughan ed to Mr. Cobb, "my sister has a weak- to take effect there was a low murmur looking at me in a very anxious way. of adulation escaped from the lips of "How much did she drink of it altoness for buying things." the admiring taikos. gether ?" observed the doctor glancing The bubbling of the samovar sug-"Then there was peace in Japan," he | at his watch and then at me. gested something.

"Almost a cupful," Nan replied. "Now," said I, "I have a mind to went on, "and the term of my regency try some of the tea that came with the was long and prosperous, but when old "The rest of us had just barely tasted about The Pineola Balsam, a certain the building, and sometimes in the teapot."

"Are you sure it isn't poison?" she as it once was, up rose Nitta Yoshisada teapot. I was so frightened I couldn't throat and the stopped up feeling in was the old church in which Stein, the head of the hated family of Mins- stir for a moment." asked dubiously.

didn't tell you, did I?" I continued, ame, the faithful servant of the true final," observed the doctor. "I told you and to keep you awake uncles want to open the house for serin the pedastal, full of a fine brown There, in the city of Pekin, the arts of anything harmful in it." the evil one were cast about me and "The Chinese possess a great many sell it for twonty-five cents, powder."

stands on the hanks of the Youghio- try a remedy so long tried and tested, he or she is most likely to live in hap-

Happy marriages have undoubtedly been known when these rules have not been followed; but generally speaking, part of the century a log house was it is unwise for any one, in such a serierected at the site of the old New Bary ous matter as marriage, to disregard in Cemetery, on land owned by 'Squire a moment of passion that fixed ideas Mitchell. It was intended for, and and instincts of a lifetime .- Edinbanry was used as a union church, but the Systema, Methodists, bein ; more numerous than

Intended to Catch Your Eye.

ing was of pretty good size, and had an immense pulpit, which was movable, Don't skip this paragraph because it is small. It is worth reading for it tells and sometimes it stood in one corner of perfection, as it supplies a curving, age came on and my strength was not it when she fell over and struck the remedy for coughs, tickling in the other, and some times at one side. This the upper part of the chest. A simple the old German mentioned a good Even catarrh, that dread breader of "Dr. Stewart says it is merely the moto, and anarchy reigned in Japan. "I thought Mrs. Morris understood cough may turn into something seri- while ago, hung himself and was found consumption, succumbs to the healing powder of very old dry tea leaves. I The usurpers triumphed, and I, mad- that my report on the analysis was not ous if let alone. It ceases to vex one Sunday morning, when the writer's influences of Thomas' Eelectric Oil.

addressing our guests, "that we dis- Mikado, was banished to China, where her I should like another sample, o'nights when you have allayed vices. During the work on the repairs Ground that was subsoiled the past covered a queer little circular drawer I fell into the hands of my enemies. though there really did not seem to be the inflammation in your throat with on the pike a man named. Sam Mc- fall has caught and will store a large Ely's Pineola Balsam. The druggists Clean was a sub-contractor and board- amount of water that has recently ed with the writer's parents. He was fallen, gheny river, not far from Confluence, | Trial bottles free at J. N. Snyder's long since vacated as a school-house, drug store, Somerset, Pa., or at Bralbut remaining as a monument and re- lier's drug store, Berlin, Pa. Regular minder of by-gone days. In the early size obe, and $1,00,

How to Press Seams.

An ingenious woman has discovered a new and satisfactory way of pressing spams.

A rolling-pin is at the bottom of it. other denominations, used the church She has taken a rolling-pin and split it more frequently than any. This buildin half, covering it as one would an ironing board. It presses the seams tosmooth surface, and yet one which remains firm beneath the weight of the