Make a Will.

Men often say, "I don't need to make a will; the law makes a will good enough for me," Judge Harlan has recently been writing on this subject, and says: "Suppose a man should die and leave a widow and children, and his estate in realty should amount to $15,000, his widow would only receive $300, absolutely, and the income of one-third for life of that estate, with no power to use or bequestly any of the principal, but the children would receive the income of two-thirds of the estate until their maturity, when they would receive their pro rata share of the principal, and at their mother's death would receive the other one-third. And more unjust-worse still-suppose a man elder brother-Walter-had preceded should die and leave a wife and one child. the mother would receive the income of one-third for life and the child twothirds. Can anyone with a sense of jusaddition to his wife and five children he tice think this right? I know four widows, is survived by Mrs. Jeremiah S. Pleasant, Westmoreland County, was sold at Sheriff's sale last From date of April 1, 1896, we will do a Tue-day at the suit of S. D. Meyers, of strictly cash business. Believing it to be Meyersdale, and his two partners in the to the best interest of our customers and purchase of a horse from Clark, who is ourselves, to buy and sell for cash, there- now serving a four-months' sentence in by enabling us to reduce prices and in- jail for his crookedness in the deal, by giving a sworn pedigree, representing the animal as imported, when in fact it was cleary proven at the trial that he raised the horse from a colt. The purchasers, on learning of the fraud that had been practiced on them, refused to pay their notes for $700, given Clark as the balance due on $1,000, the purchase price. Following his conviction they secured indoment against him in Somerset Conn-ty and had it transferred to Westmoreland County. Homes Wanted for Children. The Childrens' Aid Society, of Somerset, would like to secure good homes in christian families for three girls, aged 12, 8 and 6 years, respectively, and for two boys aged four years.
