

SENATOR Andrews says there will be no fight for State Chairman of the Republican party, and if Senator Quav desires to remain at the head of the organization, he can do so without any opposition whatever. That is the opinion of a majority of the Republicans of the State, who would prefer to see Senater Quay remain where he is, unless he should be nominated for President at St. Louis, in which event the campaign in this State would run itself.

THE agents of the pure food department of the Department of Agriculture in this State ought to go for the manufacturer of adulterated articles, and disgust all well disposed citizens presthus protect the retailer, who is ignorant of the fact that the goods he buys to sell again are not pure. Arresting the retailer is all right, but he should be made acquainted with the fact that he is not selling pure goods, and warned not to sell any more. If this were done, the chances are that no retailer would disregard the warning, and the selling of impure food would at once cease. The dealer only knows what he is told concerning the impurity of what he sells. It is quite probable that the law will be amended in some way to protect the innocent dealer.

Quay as Chairman of the Republican State Committee the Republican State Convention, which meets in Harrisburg on the 23rd inst., will do well to promote Mr. Frank Willing Leach, Chairman of the Executive Committee, to that responsible position. Mr. Leach has demonstrated on former occasions that he is one of the best organizers in the country and possesses executive ability of rare quality. His election as Chairman of the State Committee would be especially gratifying to the interior counties for the reason that he has, since his advent in politics, kept in close touch with the Republican sentiment of the farming communities Mr. Leach would make an excellent and creditable State Chairman.

No sooner were the results of Saturday's primary known than the professed friends of F. J. Kooser set to work to capture the County Committee and elect a man of their own kidney Chairman. Runners were sent to the four corners of the county, every precinct was invaded, and every effort was made to influence the members of the Committee to vote for the candidate slated by this select band. Democrats and so-called Independent Republicans worked hand in hand. One of the Democratic leaders in this unholy alliance loudly proclaimed on the public streets shortly before the assembling of the convention: "We've got a majority caught on a shutter which had just been of the committee captured," and evincbet of fifteen dollars to five.
