SOME SIGNS OF APPROACHING AGE.

How a Man Showed That He Was Growing Old Without Knowing It. A man, apparently slightly past middle life, whose hair was tinged with gray and noticeably thin on top, sat near me at a theater. As the curtain rose for frazzled out over his head, but a woman the first time a spectacled man of about he will butt clear over into the next the same age entered and occupied the vacant seat between us. He looked at the other fixedly. The look was exchanged, and in a second each had the other cordially by the hand. The conversation told that they had been schoolmates who had not met in many years. "By Jove, Charlie," exclaimed the first, "it does me good to see you. You haven't changed much more than I have, and I am not a day older than when we get our diplomas.

"I can't quite agree with you, Tom," answered the other, "but I don't feel very old yet. I see you still enjoy the theater, and I suppose you have kept up your literary tastes for the past 30

"Thirty years!" repeated Tom. "How the years fly! Do you remember how they used to drag? Theaters! Well, I do go now and then, but the plays and acting are not what they used to be. As to books, I still rend them, but none of the modern trash. There hasn't been a good book written for a quarter of a century. The new ones give me the dyspepsia worse than what I eat. Do you remember the meals we had on the old Vermont farm? Those were happy days. Thirty years and more ago! Strange, but I don't show a sign of age. I wonder where this confounded draft is coming from. I feel neuralgia on top of my head now.

"Tom, old boy," replied the other, "you are deceiving yourself, for you have shown marked signs of approaching age within three minutes. Your belief that theaters and actors have degenerated, that new books are below the standard that childhood cooking was perfection and that time flies so very fast are all indications that you are on the down hill side of life. The slight draft that you say brings a tinge of neuralgia to the top of your head, where, I notice, the hair is rather thin, wouldn't have been thought of 30 years ago. Then here you are in the very front seat of a theater. No use denying the signs, Tom. We are getting along and must admit what others plainly see."-New York Herald.

AN EASY BET TO WIN. It Took Only a Short Time to Collect

"Nore Than Twenty" Fools. They stepped to the edge of the side-walk and looked long and earnestly in the direction of the cornice of one of the big buildings. Of course under the circumstances the man who had been standing in the doorway felt impelled to join them. He could not see anything extraordinary at the top of the building. but he kept his eyes upturged because they did.

A man who was hurrying along saw the three, and he at once forgot where he was going and what he had to do, and joined them. "I told you so," said the man who had first cast his eyes in that direction, and he made a motion as if to point out something to his companion. Four men who were passing saw the gesture and stopped to investigate, and before they had fairly fixed their gaze upon the cornice three others joined "You may be right," returned the companion of the man who had first spoken, "but you said 20, you know." Six more people, including two women, were now straining their eyes to see what was wrong with the cornice, and a rumor was in circulation that some one had tried to throw a child out of one of the windows. This was promptly denied by the man who knows it all and who is always present on such an occa-sion. He said that a gang of counterfeiters had been found on the top floor and had taken refuge on the roof, where they were preparing to do battle with the officers who had been sent to arrest

Meanwhile the little group at the edge of the sidewalk had swelled to a crowd of over a hundred.

"Well, are you satisfied now?" asked the man who had first stopped. "Yes," replied his companion "There are more than 20."

A GOPHER AS A HYPNOTIST. by Its Glittering Eye, a Rabbit

Awalted Certain Death. A gopher snake at Escondido has been the cause of much earnest discussion among local naturalists recently. The question discussed was, "Do Snakes Charm or Hypnotize Their Prey?" One of the naturalists had the unusual but fortunate experience at Escondido of come a trembling cottontail rabbit and envelop the animal in its deadly coils. For some time the naturalist watched the snake's movements.

It was within 10 or 12 inches of the apparently fascinated rabbit. Silently and almost imperceptibly the snake had wormed its way nearer and nearer to its victim. Its eyes glistened with an intense brightness. Not a movement did it make which might alarm the timid rabbit. The forked tongue, which to the eye of a human being is so repulsive victim's curiosity or caused the animal to so concentrate its mind on the snake's tongue as to throw that mind into a hypnotic condition of such strength that it could not break the spell and run away from impending death. The forked falls in the cloth. The lithe body crept nearer and nearer. The rabbit was motionless. Its eye was fixed on the pieroture. Then was the spell broken.

To the naturalist who watched the the snake had certainly fascinated the animal. As a gopher snake is not potsonous and has no well developed fangs, its only means of killing prey is by constriction. In order to catch an animal it seems almost necessary for the snake to fascinate the victim. - Washington Post.

Everybody has it.
That Tired Feeling.
Don't know what it means.
Keeps you awake at night.
Destroys daily comfort.
Wearies the body.
You would shake it off.
You would be healthful and strong.
So you can. you can, you go at it right.

And Racknehe means Kidney ache. How do we know it?

Because Doan's Kidney Pills cure it.

And they are for Kidneys only. How can we prove it?

Breause the Public says so,
Here is a case in point.

EA German authority says that the stabble and roots of an acre of a heavy crop of red clover weigh over three tons and contain 180 pounds nitrogen, 7 pounds of potash. This nitrogen was gathered from the air, and the phosphoric acid and potash were brought up from the sub-soil, where ordinary plants could not have reached it. These elements in the form of commercial fertilizers would cost over $30.
