HABES CORPUS WARRANT.
The Man Accused of Robbing and Terrifying Aged David Berkeley Giving a Hearing—One of Them Positively Acquitted.—Bait Fried & Sold.
The atmosphere of the county jail is never inviting and those who enjoy it are forced to do so against their will. The excessive heat of the past few days has not added to the comfort of the inmates of that institution and three of them, awaiting trial on four separate indictments growing out of the robbery and snatching of aged David Berkeley, of Paint township, are anxious to be set temporarily at liberty. It is hinted too that the warm rays of the sun may have brought them to pain less fancies in a vain effort to cool. True, this is the lawyers' usual season, if it can be said that attorneys ever have such fears, but although the present season is unusually devoid of interest for members of the legal profession, a lawyer's brain is never entirely at rest, and he is constantly on the alert to devise some scheme by which the adversary's side of a case in order to advocate any step that he may take, and at the same time gain every advantage.

A Remarkable Stone.
J. H. Hauck, clerk at the Cameron House, Lewisburg, Pa., is said to have in his possession a remarkable stone, the size of which he would not like to disclose from the stomach of a white deer by Mr. Hauck's father. If applied to a bite into which poison has been injected it at once draws it out and the patient is filled with relief. The stone is a petrified sponge, and can be used repeatedly.
The reason these stones are found in the stomach of a white deer, as handed down from the Indians, is given as follows: The deer is fond of eating certain vegetable poisons taken into the stomach with grass. To preserve the life of the animal nature has placed in its stomach this porous stone which at once absorbs the poison and neutralizes it and saves the deer's life.
The other day Mr. Hauck took the stone to Williamsport and applied it to the swollen limb of a man who had been bitten by a dog. The dog was strapped and fast to a bed post. His husband was strapped fast in a rocking chair. Then the robbers turned over the bed clothes and found a quantity of silver hidden in the hole in the wall. The stone was applied to the wound with the amount of money they had found, the robbers turned, the soles of Mr. Berkeley's feet with a candle and with pieces of paper and finally with the flame of an lamp in a vain effort to make every available hiding place of a supposed large amount of money and government bonds. The defenseless old man insisted that there was no more money in the house, and after the robbery he had been taken to a state of almost insensibility they died from the building. A daughter of the venerable couple, who occupied a bedroom on the second floor, heard the disturbance and went out in an effort to see what was the matter. She saw a window in order to alarm by the neighbors, and the ground sustained a fractured ankle and internal injuries from which she subsequently died. LAST OF THE SEASON.
The Pennsylvania Railroad's Popular Excursion to the Seashore.
$10 FOR TWELVE DAYS.
The last of this season's series of popular twelve day excursions to the seashore via the Pennsylvania Railroad will leave Pittsburg on August 23.
These excursions are held in easy to see. The rate of $10 for the round trip is phenomenally low, considering the distance and the character of the service. The limit of twelve days just fits the time set apart for the average vacation, and the dates of the excursions are most conveniently adjusted. There is also the widest choice of routes to the seashore: the resort, Atlantic City, Cape May, Sea Isle City, and Ocean City are the choicest of the Atlantic coast resorts, and any one of them may be visited under these arrangements.
A special train of parlor cars and day coaches will leave Pittsburg on the above mentioned day at 8:35 A. M., and connect at Philadelphia with a special train via the new Delaware and Chesapeake route, leaving passengers at Atlantic City in twelve hours from Pittsburg; or passengers for Atlantic City may spend the night in Philadelphia and proceed to destination the following morning. The following day, passengers for the other points above named will use regular trains from Market Street Wharf the following day.
The rate will also be sold for regular trains leaving Pittsburg at 4:30 and 8:10 P. M. from all stations at which they stop, and from stations from which regular connections can be made. These trains will leave Pullman sleeping cars attached and arrive in Philadelphia next morning, where passengers may proceed to the shore on any regular train that day.
