legal tender. They demand "bimetallism," whereof we already have a sound money system of bimetallism, in which the ratio is maintained by the Government's credit, which party would disappear under free coinage.

The Popocrats dwell much upon the hard times as an excuse for asking the country to make an experiment, says the New York Tribune. They say to the voter: "You're hard up, anyhow, and you might as well risk this. You can't be much worse off if it does go wrong. This is the kind of an experiment they ask him to make."

"We demand the free and unlimited coinage of both silver and gold at the present legal ratio of 16 to 1, without waiting for the aid or consent of any other nation."

The Republicans also see the distress that has come to the people, and they have the remedy, as expressed by Major McKinley, in this: "It is a good deal better to open up the mills of the United States to the labor of Americans than to open up the mints of the United States to the silver of the world."

It is for American workmen to judge whether they want fifty-three-cent dollars for the work they do now, or one-hundred-cent dollars for the work they might do if our mills started up again.

The Populists of this State are asking for a fusion on the electoral ticket by the Bryan Democrats. Since the Bryan nomination the lead Democrats on the Democratic electoral ticket have been dropping out, and by the time the ballots are printed there will be nothing left on the ticket for the Populists to try and break in where they are practically in full possession already, and where there is nobody else but them. If those who participated in the Allentown convention and made the platform were Democrats, those who are now supporting Bryan can not be called Democrats.

We don't need any more jumpy about "Iron Barons" since the Silver Kings came into power.

TOM WATSON isn't weeping any considerable number of weeks over Boy Bryan's electrolytic cathay.

TEXAS isn't looking for the "free and unlimited." She has been too intimately associated with the fifty-cent Mexican dollar for that.

The trade of France last year reached a total of $1,501,000,000, an increase over 1894 of $117,000,000. France is a gold standard nation, and refuses in its history and present condition every argument advanced by silver fanatics.

POSTMASTER GENERAL WILSON has decided to take no part in the coming campaign. He will sail for Europe October 12, and will remain absent for months. He will be accompanied by his wife. Another straw which tends to show which way the administration wind blows.

The Treasury Department has prepared a pamphlet containing the following information upon every phase of the currency question, which is to be mailed free to all who ask for it. There is no excuse for any man who can read to remain in ignorance on the silver question.

The Republicans of Maryland have decided to organize clubs in each county to see that every Republican voter in the State is registered and familiar with the system of voting. Indications come from all the border States that Republicans are getting into their fighting clothes.

The gold that came out of the mines of the world last year is footed up at $292,750,000, which is more than the world's combined production of gold and silver forty years ago. In quantity, as well as in other respects, the recognized unit of value was never in a more servicable condition.

WHEN Mr. Cleveland accepted his nomination at Madison Square Garden four years ago, 20,000 people were present, and the pressure of the crowd on the main floor was so great that a mob was barely averted. It was an anxious sight for the police of New York, and there were no inflammatory speeches made, either.

In the sure news that Nansen is saved, alive and well, ends another Arctic expedition, and another theory is exploded as to the way to get to the Pole. Nansen penetrated four degrees nearer the Pole than any other explorer. Perhaps this is glory enough. The North Pole is still where it always has been, and undiscovered.

IN CHARLES'S history of the French Revolution occurs the passage from which Mr. Bryan may have adapted his cross of gold. It reads: "Or mark low D'Espremeville, who has his own confided way in all things, produces at the right moment, in Parliamentary harangue, a pocket crucifix, with the apostrophe: 'Will you crucify him a fresh?'"

NATIONAL Chairman Jones has announced that the headquarters of the National Democratic committee will be established at Chicago, with a branch in New York. It is said that the selection of Chicago is largely due to the influence of Mrs. Bryan, who was greatly disappointed by the frost with which her husband was greeted at the recent Madison Square Garden meeting.

"TALK about a 20-cent cent," says Senator Thurston, replying to a free silver orator's charge that the gold dollar has appreciated in value instead of silver depreciating. "Well, if that is the case, the farmers are getting considerably more than their dollar's worth."

"The silver dollar is getting the worst of it," says a leading silver man. "It is getting almost three times the compensation it did in 1873, when silver was demonetized."

Why do not the free silver men quote that part of Mr. Blaine's speech in which he says that, notwithstanding all that he has said regarding the place of silver, to coin a dollar of 412 grains when the bullion was worth only 92 cents would be wrong, and give an illegitimate profit to the seller of silver bullion. But no, to quote the speech honestly would be to show that Blaine occupied then, in 1873, the position of the Republican party to-day.

It is amusing to see the misuse that is made of currency terms by the Popocrats. They speak of "free silver," whereas free coinage would not make silver money any more free than it is now, nor any easier to get, except to the owners of silver bullion. They speak of "demonetizing" silver, whereas silver has not been demonetized, but there is today more silver money in innow; and every man who owns an old stove or some worn-out hoe and shovel may set up as a millionaire. If not, why not? If free coinage would do but the same of one metal, why not of another?"

"Because," replies the follower of Mr. Bryan, "iron is not a 'precious metal,' and silver has from time immemorial been recognized as a money metal. The rule applies only to the 'precious metals,' silver and gold. No others are used as money."

Then you run counter to the facts of history. Many other metals, and other materials than metal, have been and still are used as money and as currency. Sparta used iron, Syracuse used brass, used tin, Russia platinum, Burnham lead, Carthage leather, China silk, Abyssinia salt, Tartary tea, Campeche logwood, Mexico sugar, the African coast cowrie shells; and many nations of high civilization have used such materials as words "precious," "rare," "rare," and "shelk-iron" testify. Why demand the demonetization of silver any more than of iron, or shells, or oxen? And if money is not to be such an effect upon one thing, why not upon others?"

"Well," he persists, "the actual value of the metal in the coin doesn't matter, anyway. There isn't a cent's worth of copper in a cent, and there isn't a cent's worth of paper in a hundred-dollar bill. Yet they pass as full legal tender. So would the silver dollar, even if it did contain only 35 cents worth of silver. It is the standard money, and not redeemable in anything else. The copper cent is more 'token money.' It is not full legal tender, and does not enjoy free coinage. You don't make a man accept one hundred copper cents as payment of one dollar. You cannot take 45 grains of copper—the amount in a cent—to the mint and get a cent for it. The paper in a hundred-dollar bill derives its value solely from the fact that the Government is willing and able and, indeed, bound to redeem it on demand in gold. You cannot take a bit of white paper, seven inches long and three wide, to the Treasury and get a dollar for it, or have it stamped 'one dollar' by the Government. When the Government wants to make copper money it buys copper at the market price. When it wants to make silver money it buys silver at the market price. So when it wants to make silver coins it buys silver at the market price. You have no more business to demand that your bit of silver, of 412 grains worth 92 cents, be stamped 'one dollar' than your slip of white paper be stamped."

Now do you intend that your 16 to 1 silver dollar shall be redeemable in gold, as paper money is, or irredeemable standard money? If the former, you are asking that the Government shall pay 100 silver dollars for every 16 gold dollars it would give for the richest nation in the world to bankruptcy. If you don't believe it, try the experiment yourself, by paying 100 cents for every 16 cents worth of goods of any kind your neighbors may offer you. But if the latter, if the silver dollar is to be irredeemable, standard money, then you are demanding that there shall be two kinds of a dollar: one of 100 cents, and silver, which a dollar is worth more or less to-morrow. That is the way it is in Russia, where the gold ruble is worth about 77 cents and silver ruble 38 cents. That is the way it is in Japan, where the gold yen is worth 90 cents and the silver yen 50 cents. The result in those countries is that nothing circulates but the depreciated silver, and according to Gresham's law, and the people are scarcely removed from pauperism. Do you think Russia and Japan are any better off than we are? Do you think for the United States to imitate either in finance or in the general condition of the people?"

ALLEGED TO TAKE CHARGE. CHICAGO, August 15.—The alleged Bryan combine has gained its point, and national Popocratic headquarters will be located in the World's Fair City. It was well on toward midnight last night when authoritative news to this effect came from the crowd of hangers-on at the Sherman House parlors that has been waiting for three days to see which way the wind would blow, and when it was announced that Chicago had won the day there was a jubilation that lasted until well into the morning.

Not is the enthusiasm dampened to-day by later reports that Senator Gorman has refused the chairmanship of the campaign committee, and that Senator Jones is inclined to withdraw into his private life. Last night's speech is regarded as additional crumblings of confidence.

There is no use for the conservative members of the national or executive Popocratic committees to attempt to disguise what is meant by the transfer of authority to the West. There is but one interpretation, and that is that the Popocratic-Anarchist party of New York and Holland this morning. A party of men in the employ of the Pennsylvania Telephone company were starting out to work and placed 100 pounds of dynamite in a wagon, which was standing in a yard of a G. Miller's hotel, when the dynamite exploded, killing three men, fatally injuring three others and seriously injuring a fourth.

Miller's hotel was completely shattered, his loss being over $500. The loss to property in the borough is very large. The cause of the explosion is not known.

CHAMBERBURGER DEAD IN LINCOLN. LINCOLN, Neb., Aug. 14.—W. F. Eyster, a prominent man of Chambersburg, Pa., was killed by a train here last night, having been dragged and robbed. He left his hotel four hours before being found with a rough character who has not yet been identified. He was on his way to Colorado and stopped here to visit friends.

AYER'S Specific For Scrofula. "Since childhood, I have been afflicted with scrofula, which caused me terrible suffering. Physicians were unable to help me, and I only grew worse under their care. At length, I began to take AYER'S Sarsaparilla, and very soon grew better. I was completely cured, so that I have not had a boil or pimple on any part of my body for the last twelve years. I can cordially recommend Ayer's Sarsaparilla as the very best blood-purifier in existence."—G. T. REINHART, Myersville, Texas.

A Bailor's Luck.

NORRISTOWN, August 15.—Herbert Pritchard, a foreman of the Trenton cut-off railroad, living at Heaton, near Hatboro, Montgomery county, this evening considered his resignation to the company, and a story of rich reward for a simple act of kindness lies behind his resignation.

Some days ago a shabby attired young man came by the house of Pritchard, and asked for something to eat. Without any hesitation his request was granted, and the tramp taken into Pritchard's household, and kept there for several days. Then the stranger informed his benefactor that his name was Fleeshman; that he was worth three million dollars in his own right; and moreover, that he would reward, in princely sums, as well as his friendship, the magnanimity of Pritchard.

Everything turned out just as Fleeshman stated. The latter took a great fancy for the railroad man from the day he abandoned his "charitable" hand. The young millionaire is alleged to be absent from his home on account of religious differences. It is said he has already placed $1,000 in Pritchard's keeping and will shortly deed other property to him. He also intended Pritchard to resign his position, and the latter will hereafter act as companion to the millionaire.

They will travel in England, Wales and Scotland, beginning their journey on September 1. During the past few days young Fleeshman is said to have been corresponding with his mother, who is at present in New York, and she has agreed to his proposal. Pritchard is an Englishman, and has been in this country several years.

A Minister's Unusual Plea.

SAN FRANCISCO, August 16.—A popular discussion has been started in this city by a sermon preached by Dr. C. W. Wendt, one of the leading pastors of Oakland, and who is a member of the Episcopal Church, or mortally wounded in the question, and I think it is the duty of all Democrats to do everything in their power to bring about the defeat of the ticket."

Bryan's New York Meeting. There never was a Democratic mass meeting of such magnitude as that which was held in New York City on August 13. It was a grand demonstration of the people, and one of the grandest of the State was present.

"New York Sun says: 'Oh, what a wonderful disappointment it was. The grand reception billed to be the greatest that New York had ever seen, divided to a second rate political meeting before the meeting of the night. The speech only half finished, the orator almost pumped out, disappointed and anxious, reading from his manuscript so rapidly that a third of his words were lost in the confusion. There remained only one-half of those who had assembled in the early evening.'"

The Tribune says: "It was a keen disappointment. Bryan's oratory fell flat. The speech was the country's best, and it failed to make a favorable impression."

The New York Advertiser says: "William Jennings Bryan still lives physically, but like many another celebrity of a village, he is a creature of the crowd. He came to New York, but even while he unfolded his plans in the council room with his friends many of them found that an armor was fitted. The speech was the country's best, and it failed to make a favorable impression."

Robbed and Left to Die. IRVING, Pa., Aug. 16.—An assault and robbery which probably resulted in murder occurred near here yesterday. George Minney, an Assyrian peddler was found in the underbrush near Stewart's station with six bullets in his body and his head crushed. When restored to consciousness he said he had been sleeping where he was found, when he was attacked by two colored and a white man. When he resisted robbery, they shot him and then left him to die.

Armstrong Robbers Lost a Bank. SALT LAKE CITY, Utah, August 13.—At 3:30 this afternoon three masked men, armed to the teeth, entered the Bank of Montpelier, Montpelier, Idaho, and, covering Cashier Gray and his two assistants with their revolvers, emptied the safe of about $800.

Teller McIntosh was struck over the head with a pistol, and one of the robbers carried off the plunder in a wagon. The second man left shortly afterwards, leaving the third on guard.

As soon as he left the bank, officials gave the alarm, and the Sheriff with a posse was quickly on the trail of the party, but at last reports they had not been seen.

Young Sewall's First Gun. FOXBORO, Me., August 15.—Harold M. Sewall, son of the Vice Presidential candidate, opened the Republican campaign here last night by delivering his first speech on the issues of the day. The first of Young Sewall's position, pro-republican, to take had been widely published, and the meeting was of special interest. Two thousand persons were in attendance.

Mr. Sewall's speech was received with ringing cheers. He made a strong appeal for protection and sound money. He will stump the State in opposition to the ticket of Bryan and Sewall. Young Sewall is on good terms with his father, and they agree upon everything except politics. He was Consul General to Apia, Samoa, during Cleveland's first term.
