In an interview a few days ugo he said: In an interview a few days ago he said: "In the early summer of '94 I went upon a tour through Canada on my wheel. My route was from Utica to Cape Vincent thence by steamer to Kingston, and from there along the north shore of the lake to Toronto and around to Niagara Falls. I arrived at Cape Vincent at 5 o'clock, having ridden against a strong head wind all day. "After a delightful sail through the Thous-and Islands, I stepped on shore in that quaint old city of Kingston. A slight shower had fallen and the streets were damp, so that wis-dom would have dictated that I. leg-weary as I was, should have kept in doors, but so anxions was I to see the old city that I spent the whole evening in the streets.

anxious was I to see the old city that I spent the whole evening in the streets. "Five o'clock the next morning brought a very unwelcome discovery. I was lame in both ankles and knees. The head wind and the damp streets had proved an unfortunate combination. I gave, however, little thought to it, supposing it would wear off in a few hours, and the first flush of sunlight saw me speeding out the splendid road that leads to-ward Napance.

The delightful juggling with figures, such as was induiged in by some of the rolicsome conferees in the recent confersace when seven was required to make a ajority out of nine and three was destared to be a majority out of twelve, wil. not elect a Republican Congressional candidate in a three-cornered fight, and the sooner the friends of both candidates lispel this delusion the sooner arrangements can be made to have one or the other withdraw.

These, as we view it at this writing, be the cold facts in the case; with both Hicks and Thropp on the ticket McNamara will be elected, and, with only one of them on, it will require hard work and close watching to prevent him from landing a winner.

The conference opened in a farce; will the election close in the same manner?
