Oils! Is a special boon to business men who, having drifted unconsciously into the drink habit and awaken to find the disease of alcoholism fastened upon them, rendering them unfit to manage affairs requiring a clear brain. A four weeks course of treatment at the PITTSBURG KEELEY INSTITUTE, No. 4246 Fifth Avenue,

No. 4246 Fifth Avenue, restores to them all their powers, mental and physical, destroys the abnormal appetite, and restores them to the condition they were in before they included in stimulants. This has been done in more than 1600 cases treated here, and among them some of your own neighbors, to whom we can refer with confidence as to the insolute safety and efficiency of the Keeley Cure. The fullest and most searching investigation is rvited. Send for pumphlet giving full information.

Just glance around, Gaze o'er the ground, And see What life would be Wer't not for thee.

Look first on men, And witness then How into classes twain-Both vain-Men are divided in these days, You'll stand amaze!

They toll from morn till night, Or else they loaf with all their might, Their noses grinding on the stone, A mass of toiling skin and bone, Or else, impatient of the moil of life, In clubs take refuge from all strife, Their trump, a spade or club. Ay, there's the rub!

And maids these days! Poor maids! Their ways Sometimes compel the thought That they are far more easy caught By glittering things-By trinkets, rings-Than by nature fit for wings!

Their trump the diamond. Then you come With Copid in your train, and take the numb And icy hearts of all maukind,

And bring the thought of love-sweet love, the blind. One snap upon fair Cupid's string, And pessimistic thoughts take wing. And spite of diamonds, clubs and spade

Makes His Callers Work.

A civil engineer, who lives at Asnieres a suburb of Paris, is of the opinion that no power should go to waste. Receiving the friendly call of a colleague, the latter complained how difficult it was to open the gate leading from the street into the grounds. "You should have that gate carefully looked over, and the hinges oiled," said the visitor. "No. I will do nothing of the kind," was the reply, "the hinges are well oiled, I know it; but the gate is connected with a hydraulic system, and anybody coming in or going out of that gate raises eight gallons of well water into the tank on my roof. That makes the gate open a triffe harder, I admit."

The Pope as a Poet. The Rome correspondent of the Berliner Tageblatt telegraphs the following about the Pope's state of health: "A high personage who often sees the Pope, and who, only the day before yesterfactory. It is certainly not to be denied that for the last few years he has not been so strong as he was, and when he gets somewhat excited a reaction regularly sets in which makes him appear weaker than he really is. At such moments he has forebodings of death. For instance, he wrote to a diplomatist living abroad, a friend of his, that he must hasten to Rome if he wanted to see him alive. The Holy Father's latest indisposition can be traced to his getting up in the middle of the night, as he often does, to write down some Latin verses which had occurred to him. He caught a severe cold. The correspondent's informant believes that the Pope may live years.
