THE DRAMA OF LIFE.

M. V. THOMAS.

On the stage the acts are changing. Scenes are shifting to and fro; And the drama—never ending—Makes strange faces come and go.

MRS. LATON'S TEA.

Enmeshed in the depths of her big arm chair, a smile lighting up her fine old face, that white hair framed with a crown of snow, Mrs. Harmon was considering her nephew Andrew, a good looking young fellow of twenty-eight, who, for this part, was considering the timepiece on the mantel, whose hands were already past three o'clock.

Art of Butter Making.

At an Iowa dairy convention was a prize package of butter which was highly praised by the judges and visitors. It was made by heating the milk to 80 degrees, and removing the cream with a separator. A whole milk starter was used, and the cream allowed to ripen slowly, with frequent stirring, for 36 hours, when it was placed in the churn at a temperature of 55 degrees, using an ounce of butter color to 1000 pounds of milk.

Lincoln's Horse Trade.

Abraham Lincoln was fond of a good story, and it is a well known fact that he often illustrated an important point in the business at hand by referring to some favorite horse. One of the best he ever told related of himself when he was a lawyer in Illinois.

Shoe Don'ts.

Don't fail to rub patent leather shoes, because physical injury. They should not be resoled to where there is inflammation of the stomach.

Notes of All Sorts.

The use of compressed air in operating the pneumatic broom recently introduced at the railway yards of the Santa Fe line in Chicago for sweeping cars has proved a great success in its application to carpets and upholstery.

Extensive Clothes-Line Post.

The object of a new invention which will be appreciated by housewives is to provide an adjustable metallic post for clothes-lines, which may easily be set up or taken down, raised or lowered to any desired height, and securely supported.

WICHESTER.

Something About General Sheridan's Famous Black Warhorse.

In January, 1876, General Sheridan sent the following letter to a friend:

Foods That are Wasted.

Because corn fodder can be easily grown and gives an abundance under favorable conditions it is not regarded as valuable as experiments show. A few years ago some experiments were made at Amesherst College which brought out surprising facts, and as the work extended over a term of five years the results are conclusive and have been accepted.

The Red Cross in Cuba.

Miss Clara Barton, of the Red Cross society, has been given permission to extend to Cuba the good offices of her association. The permission has been officially given by Spain, and the public will watch anxiously the results.

Football With Lincoln's Habitat.

The favorite ball worn by Abraham Lincoln was a tall "stovepipe." It has been described as a foot high, with a brim almost as wide as a Southern sombrero. Many anecdotes are connected with that famous tall hat.

Nicknames of Railroads.

The nomenclature of the railways, says a writer in the New York Times, is often as unique and interesting as are the trade marks. Whenever it is possible to abbreviate the full title of a railroad the public eagerly avails itself of the shorter phrases.

Give the Republicans a Chance.

The Atlanta Constitution has been sounding southern democratic opinion upon the attitude that the democrats in congress should take towards the republican party. Senator Jones, of Arkansas, who led the fight for Bryan, says that the people accepted the republican plan, and that the democrats do not propose to throw any unnecessary obstacle in the way of permitting them to put their plans into execution.

Three Interesting Characters.

Three men of considerable prominence in American affairs died during the late war. One was Philip Tucker, played an important part in federal and confederate politics; another, General Darus Nash Conch, was intrusted with important commands and duties during the war; and the third, General Joseph Orville Shelby, cut a dashing, brilliant and romantic figure in the trans-Mississippi annals of the rebellion.
