in the eld days, when transportation was more difficult than it is at present, the Brock House was about the end of civilization and was a 24 hours' trip by hoat from Jacksonville. It was at that time a great resort for sportsmen, who were attracted there by the fishing and shooting to be had in the vicinity.

Big Alligators.

The old register, which extended back a great many years, contained some queer records, some of them of doubtful veracity. Among ct lers, sould one had written:

Every day he holds consultations with Outside Decoration of French Houses. heads of departments to find out what Ferdinand Mazas, in The Architecparticular lines of articles they want tural Record, explains sculpture as applied to Paris houses. "Twenty years ago, " Mr. Mazas says, "the external ornamentation of French houses was, in general of a very sober character." Today decoration is very much in fashion and prehaps not always discreet.

M. Paul Heneux, having been intrusted with the crection of the new town hall at Les Lilas, a charming little place near Paris, conceived the idea of treating all the sculpture of the building with lilacs. The capitals, the balcony, the friezes and the flower work placed above the dormer windows represent nothing but sprays, buaches, leaves and petals of lilac. The brackets of the windows are also formed of flowers of the same spring shrub. As to the balaster of the grand staircase, it represents a trellis with branches of lilac climbing over it. Yet the architect has avoided monotony and has produced the most graceful variations upon this single theme adopted by him. We will also mention a house designed by M. Paul Heneux. In this case all the sculpture has been inspired by the profession of the owner, who is a druggist. The frontals of the dormer windows of this house are ornamented with garlands of mallows and poppies. The frieze is composed of renaissance motives, in the ornamentation of which other medicinal plants figure. Finally, on the first story there is an escutcheon that recalls the origin of the fortune of the owner, who is the disseminator of some kind of oint-

GRANT'S NAME.

How He Came to Adopt "U. S." as Ills Initials. Up to the start for West Point, Grant Grant. The young traveler required a trank, and Thomas Walker, a local "genius," was the man to make it. He did so, and, to finish it off, he traced on the cover in hig brass tacks the initials "H. U. G." James Marshall, Ulysses' cousin, went to help him carry the new trunk home. Ulysses looked at the big, glaring letters. "I won't have that so," he said. "It spells 'hug.' The boys would plague me about it." And he thereupon shifted his middle name and became Ulysses H. Grant, and so he went forth into the world. He registered at Roe's hotel, West Send for Point, on the 29th of May, as "U. H. Grant," and the same day reported to Circularo the adjutant, George G.
