

The Somerset Herald.

EDWARD SCULL, Editor and Proprietor.

WEDNESDAY, March 21, 1897.

It is not a wise man who goes to Washington looking for an office without being sure that he has a return ticket in his pocket.

The tariff bill will soon be put in operation, and in such shape that it can not fail to prove of great benefit to the business interests of the whole country.

FIFTEEN thousand members of the Grand Army of the Republic have petitioned the legislature of Pennsylvania to prohibit the sale of liquor on Memorial Day.

OVER two thousand women registered in Fort Scott, Kansas, and on election day worked hard for their candidates. All the returns of the casualties are not yet in.

CANADIANS threaten a retaliatory tariff. They are at liberty to go ahead, but must give up the idea that 5,000,000 Canadians can shape the legislation of this republic of 70,000,000.

SOME of the Democratic papers are already worried about the size of the probable surplus under the Dingley bill. The complaint to the Republicans is neat, though unintentional.

THE second trial of the Methodist preacher-editor, Dr. Swallow, for libel, on a charge brought by Capt. John C. Delaney, was concluded last Thursday, and resulted in a verdict of guilty.

A BUREAU bill that will work fairness to all and injury to none would be of great benefit to the business interests of the country. When such a bill will be passed by Congress and become a law remains to be seen.

PRESIDENT MCKINLEY is a strong and hearty man. Since he has been in the White House he has stood more and more on test of physical endurance, and stood it well. He is the right sort of a man for president, with a strong mind in a strong body.

SENATORS Quay and Penrose each scored a point Monday, the latter in securing the appointment of Mr. Charlemagne Tower, Jr., as Minister to Austria, and the former that of ex-Senator Shallenbarger as Second Assistant Postmaster General.

THE blackbirds which have been established around Crete may be "pacified" as regards Turkey, but it has not been that sort of a blockade for Greece, as her sunken vessel of a few days ago discovered. The big powers are fighting the battles of the "great assasin," as Gladstone calls the Sultan.

When such a paper as the Providence Journal announces that the cotton manufacturers of that section have become convinced that the South will take possession of that industry, and that "there is no movement to manufacture goods of which linen is the only or a partial constituent in New England," it is evident that the good times which the South has so long anticipated will soon be coming, and that with them will be many millions of New England investment.

THE farmers of the country are likely to find a greatly improved market for their grain in the near future. The war shipments of grain abroad in the past few months show an increased demand for that article by foreign consumers, and when the new reciprocity feature of the Dingley bill goes into effect it will give to our grain, as well as other products, such an advantage in tariff rates abroad as to make a market for that enormous production of our agricultural area far in excess of anything ever before known.

THE report that four Democrats in the House—three from Louisiana and one from Texas—will vote for the tariff bill is probably true. There is a strong likelihood, too, that some Democratic votes will be had for it in the Senate, where they would "count" for more than they can in the other branch. In any case, the bill is reasonably sure to get all the votes in the Senate which it needs. The favor which Democratic papers in various parts of the country are showing for the tariff indicates that the measure will go through the Senate without much trouble.

EVERYTHING except silver seems to be strong in the markets these days. Silver is down close to the lowest point it ever reached, with no sign of an advance in sight. Its condition in this respect resembles that of the party which championed it last year—that is, the silver coin, like the silver party, is worth less than half what it pretends to be worth. Everybody would be glad to see silver twice as high as it is now, yet everybody with brains knows that the party which tried to boom it hurt it. That party's extravagance and follies destroyed all chances which it had of intelligent friends ever had of inveigling the country to "do something for silver" in the future.

THE legislature now in session in Kentucky for the purpose of electing a United States senator does not appear to have learned much from the previous struggle. The body was called together for the express purpose of choosing a senator, but a deadlock has been the result since the first day it met. Owing to the long and unprofitable fight of the former body, the state has had but one representative in the Senate, but that fact does not seem to disturb the factions, each of which is more interested in electing its man than in combining against the enemy. It has been decided quite often to re-elect years that an appointment of a senator by the governor, when the legislature failed to do its duty, will be held in the Senate. That body is the judge of the qualifications of its members. The recent contests in Oregon and Delaware should be of some value to the Kentuckians. There are several contests awaiting disposition by the Senate committee. Owing to the makeup of that body at present, it is not possible to organize it so that the majority can do business.

THE Senate has a great deal of important matter before it just now, which the country wants disposed of.

News From the State Capital.

A bill was introduced in the house Thursday by Mr. Jeffries to provide for a building commission to erect a new capitol. The measure transfers the government to the commission, to ask for competitive bids and specifications for a modern building for architects, citizens and the State. The bill is to be submitted within thirty days after it becomes a law. The commission shall select five of the best plans which shall become the property of the state and it shall select for those selected by dividing one-half of one per cent. of the cost of the building into equal parts and giving to each architect an equal share.

Investigation.

Those people who were clamoring for an investigation of the State Treasury and Auditor General's Departments have secured their investigation—a very careful and exhaustive one, by the State Auditor General. The funds of the State are intact, that the State has not lost a cent under the present or any other State Treasurer and Auditor General; that the financial system of the State is perfect; that the State Treasurer has worked for several more clerks than he paid for them; that the Auditor General, working along new lines that require a great deal of assistance, has been forced to do the handling of the State funds. The committee recommends that there be an increased force in the financial departments, and that there be six depositories of State funds in the State, three in Philadelphia, two in Allentown and one in Harrisburg, each of them to pay two per cent. on all deposits of State funds. That is about the sum and substance of the committee's report. It is recommended that the State Treasurer and the Auditor General have no reason to complain, and if the suspicious people who are always wanting some kind of an investigation do not like the way, they can get it the best way they can.

Intelligence in the Jury Box.

In an article on intelligence in the jury box the Washington Post says: As a sample of the wisest and most progressive legislation that the winter has produced in any part of the country we select an act passed by the Senate of North Dakota. It is a law providing that no person shall be disqualified as a juror because of having expressed or formed an opinion founded on newspaper reports or rumors. This act will improve the character of juries in that state by rendering it possible to secure intelligent citizens for jury duty. The plain fact is that every person who reads the newspapers and listens to the talk of the North Dakota is a juror. It is not an intelligent person ever has an opinion of such a case that is fixed beyond the power of change. If the facts are as stated in the papers, or by common rumor, the intelligent citizen thinks "the accused is guilty." But his mind is in a receptive condition, and if the evidence disproves reports and establishes a reasonable doubt, he is ready to acquit.

Great Storm at Sea.

Terrible tales of disaster and suffering come from the sea, following close upon the violent storms that raged. About 200 lives have been lost, and the end of his bright career, in two years, old, and his wife, a young woman and wealthy family. Miss Higgs, over whom they fought, is the daughter of one of the wealthiest families in the country. The brothers managed to get away in a small boat, but she and her mother were left behind. She was rescued by a passing vessel, but her mother was not seen again.

THE COMBINE UNDONE.

Senator Quay Makes Deal With Philadelphia Leaders.

A Saturday's telegram from Philadelphia says: David Martin has been secured with a view to his election as delegate to the delegates from this city to the next State convention. Of the eighty-eight men who will form Philadelphia's representation in the convention fully sixty, if not seventy or more, are the friends of Senator Quay and will favor the nomination of the candidates for State Treasurer and Auditor-General that have the support of the man from Beaver.

This means the collapse of the anti-Quay fight in the State. Without an almost solid delegation from this city aided by the Combine adherents of Magee and Flinn in the western end of the State who wish to do down Quay would have no leg to stand on. The fact that a break in the Philadelphia end of the Combine was near has been apparent for some time.

The beginning of the end was foreshadowed when Leaders Patton, Anderson, McNichol and Klemmer went to Florida to consult with Senator Quay. At that time it was announced that it was probable that the Combine would be broken up. Since then events have been quickly shaping themselves.

NOTICE TO MARITIMERS. Yesterday's news leaked out that this delegation of leaders with several others had formally informed David Martin that in the future his orders would not be recognized. The ward leaders said that they would continue to support the administration in local affairs, but in State and national politics they would be for Quay. Incidentally it was also intimated to Mr. Martin that in the future the Philadelphia end of the Combine would be practically relegated to Mr. Martin to the position of a mere ward leader.

It is said that the news was conveyed to Mr. Martin by Select Councilman Patton. None of those in the deal would be to the matter last night. When asked for an affirmation or a denial the answer was invariably a quiet smile and a request that they be excused from talking about the matter in quite comprehensive in its character.

It is said to include Robert J. Moore, of the Fourth ward; Select Councilman Anderson, of the Sixth and Tenth; Select Councilman McNichol, of the Second; Health Officer Stull, of the Twelfth; Clerk of Quarter Sessions Abern, of the Thirteenth, and County Commissioner Williams, of the Fourteenth wards. Senator McNichol, of the State Convention, is not yet included in the arrangement, but he will in all probability act with the other leaders. Not including McNichol, these leaders control the majority of the State Convention. Aside from these at least fifty delegates would be Anti-Combine anyway.

It is said that in return the leaders were given a direct promise of Federal patronage, but they were given to understand that they would receive fair treatment from Senators Penrose and Quay. Several other ward leaders are also ready to break from the Combine, and Martin will be ready if he can secure twenty delegates by the time the convention rolls around.

Distinct earthquake shocks were felt in several parts of Canada, on Tuesday evening at Montreal, Quebec, and they lasted about fifteen seconds, and at Morrisburg, Ontario, from thirty to fifty seconds.

Judge Martin Bell has filed his decision in the Blair County liquor license. Sixty-six licenses were granted, ten applications refused, and five were held over. The successful ones were admonished to discourage the bucket trade and to close their bars at 11 o'clock each night and to keep them closed until 6 o'clock in the morning.

Contractor M. C. Hite, who has done considerable excavating about South Fork during the past two months, departed on Monday morning, with a large force of men and equipment, to take the contract for the Berwind-White Coal Company. The company expects to open seven mines in that locality, and Mr. Hite has all the work in charge.

An important case has just been decided by Judge McComas of Washington D. C. It involved the question of whether the heirs of a suicide could collect his insurance from the Knights Templar and the other fraternal order company. It was decided that they could not. Unusual interest was centered in the case and the ruling may have an important bearing on all such cases in future.

Commissioner of Internal Revenue Foreman has decided that saloonkeepers who keep bottles of cocktails and other shelves for sale to travelers and others will be obliged to pay a retailer's license of $100 a year. The ruling will not apply to cocktail manufactory in the presence of the purchaser and put up in bottles to be drunk elsewhere.

The senate in an act passed finally changing the existing laws relating to the holding of the State Convention. The third Tuesday of February is made a legal holiday. This is February election day. Labor day is the first Monday of September instead of the first Saturday now observed. This is to conform to the law of other states. When the 31st of May falls on Sunday, the day succeeding, Monday, is made Memorial day, instead of Saturday, as under the existing law. February 15, Lincoln's birthday, is made a legal holiday.

George and Calvin Holmes, brother and brother-in-law, were shot and killed by a duel to the death near Moore's Hill, Ind., last week. The boys were twins, and two years old, and were the sons of a prominent and wealthy family. Miss Higgs, over whom they fought, is the daughter of one of the wealthiest families in the country. The brothers managed to get away in a small boat, but she and her mother were left behind. She was rescued by a passing vessel, but her mother was not seen again.

The Kentucky Court of Appeals has affirmed the decision of the lower court, giving the case its final status—Pauline Markham—$6,000 damages for a broken leg, sustained at Louisville four years ago. She fell into a cellar while going from the depot to her hotel, and the injury to her leg was so serious that she has since been unable to display her shapely limbs in tight on the stage. The suit was against the city and the contractors who were doing the excavating for the cellar.

Immigration Travel.

Immigration business of the B. & O. was not so large this year as it was four years ago, and the same holds true for the other Railroads. From all that can be ascertained the B. & O. handled more people into Washington than any other Railroad entering that city, and General Passenger Agent Scull has figured that 31,000 tickets were sold. Of this number fully 18,000 were sold in Baltimore on the morning of March 4th. D. F. Maroney, Superintendent of Transportation, reports that commencing on the morning of March 1st and ending at 3.30 p. m. March 4th, exclusive, the B. & O. ran into Washington 154 scheduled trains, with 128 extra cars, and 108 special trains with 771 cars. The number of trains leaving Washington was practically the same and it is supposed that fully 30,000 of the people who went in came out before March 4th, making the total number of about 64,000 people for the immigration. Most of this travel was from the east and a very small proportion from points west of the Ohio River, it being quite evident that the high rates of fare deterred many from coming in the short limit on the tickets also seriously affected business.

During the inauguration the B. & O. tested very severely the use of two conductors on extra and other heavily loaded trains. The Operating Department reports that the innovation was successful to a marked degree, and some 6,000 people were handled in a very short space of time without a single accident to a passenger.

The Only One To Stand the Test.

Rev. William Copp, whose father was a physician for over fifty years, in New Jersey, and who himself spent many years preparing for the practice of medicine, but subsequently entered the ministry of the M. E. Church, writes: "I am glad to testify that I have had analyzed all the Ayer's Sarsaparilla preparations known in the trade, but I can only recommend as a blood-purifier. I have given away hundreds of bottles of it, as I consider it the safest as well as the best to be had."—Wm. Corr, Pastor M. E. Church, Jackson, Minn.

50 lbs. of Coal

A day would keep your rooms warm in winter. But that small stove will burn only twenty-five. Hence, discomfort and misery.

A certain amount of fat, burned daily, would keep your body warm and healthy. But your digestion is bad, and you don't get it from ordinary fat-food. Hence you are chilly, you catch cold easily, you have coughs and shivers; while pneumonia, bronchitis, or consumption finds you with no resistive power.

Do this. Burn better fuel. Use SCOTT'S EMULSION of Cod-liver Oil. Appetite, and digestive power will revive; good flesh will protect the vital organs against the cold and the body against disease.
