Seventeen-Year Locusts.

Dispatches from a number of States antounce the appearance of locust grabs. Public Indifferent to Signs Put Up For Its In southern Ohlo and southwestern Penn sylvania there are private reports that the pest has been seen in considerable force. No reports have been received at the Department of Agriculture, however, regarding the reported appearance of the seventeen-year locust. Chief Clerk Schoek says it is early for the locust to put in an appearance. He has been advised that the seventeen year visitors will be numerous in the eastern part of the State this year.

Mr. Schock says the insect which is commonly designated as the "seventeenyear !-cust," is the American periodical "ciemla," of which there are several -pecies in the United States. A Losa to the Pioneer Club. Mrs. Massingberd, the president of the Pioneer club, London, died recently at Llandudno. She was the founder of the club and its best financial friend. Her loss will be widely felt, for Mrs. Massingherd was a woman of many interests, and her wealth and influence were ever at the disposal of these of her sex who were less favorably placed than herself. Full of charity, stanch and true in her friendships and unselfish, it is difficult to imagine who will take her place. Mrs. Massingherd was an earnest advocate of temperance and in favor of woman suffrage. It is, however, as founder and president of the Pioneer club that her name will be remembered. She expended upward of £20,000 in establishing and furnishing an institution which has proved of the greatest value to a large number of English women desiring a rendezvous in the metropolis.

Diret Inheritance Tax.

Register and Recorder James M. Cover has received the necessary blanks and is now prepared to collect the direct inheritance tax provided for by a recent act of the legislature. The new law took effect May 12 and provides for a tax of two per cent on the clear value all the personal estates in excess of $5,000, at the death of the possessor. It does not apply to real estate nor to personal estates valued at less than $5,000. The tax goes to the state and is to be levied through the register's office where all estates are settled. As soon as letters testamentary or letters of administration are issued on an estate the register is to make an investigation to ascertain whether or not it is subject to the inheritance tax. If he thinks it is, he is required to appoint an appraiser who shall make an official investigation and report to the register and recorder. If the estate is found to be subject to the tax is a subject to the castate is found to be subject to the tax is a subject to the castate is found to be subject to the tax is a subject to the castate is found to be subject to the tax is a subject to the castate is found to be subject to the castate is found to be subject to the castate is found to be subject to the less than $5,000. The tax goes to the state now. Keep taking Scott's he is required to appoint an appraiser and report to the register and recorder.

If the estate is found to be subject to the tax, it is assessed and the money thus collected is turned over to the state. The register is required to make a report to the auditor-general on the first Monday of each month of all estates so taxed. The estates of persons who died since May 12, or of those who died before that time and of whose estate the actual distribution had not been made before May 12 are subject to tax. It is believed this law subject to tax. It is believed this law will give the state an income from much property which has been exempt from taxes, such as bank and other stock which is not returned to the assessors, and which therefore escaped taxation. It is difficult to conceive how property can escape this tax, as all estates must be accounted for by those who settle them up, and must be returned to the register's office.
