

such as farina, wheatlet and glutena, should be substituted for the heat-giving oatmeal for breakfast. Cook enough one morning to last two, as they are just as palatable cold as they are hot. While fried food will seem a little out of place in the warm weather there are certain light dishes that may be utilized for breakfast. Commeal hominy croquettes, or even rice croquettes, may be made the day before and simply fried at serving time. Squash and cucumbers may be dipped and fried. In the chafing dish one may have chipped beef, creamed or fricasseed barbeened beef, cold mutton warmed in a little tomato sauce, and dishes of eggs such as omelets, scrambled eggs, cream-

"Fruit should be served in a flat dish, with, if the weather is particularly hot, a little chopped ice sprinkled over it. Fruit that is very acidulous should not be served too cold. Powdered sugar and cream should accompany the fruit course. In the place of chops or steaks we may have eggplant, broiled or fried tomatoes, panned tomatoes, a dainty omelet with peas, omelet with asparagus tips, or with parsley, following the fruit. Corn oysters and corn fritters may also take the place of meat. Coffee, tea, chocolate and milk are, of course, in summer, as in winter, the breakfast beverages."

Several travelers were waiting for a train on the veranda of a Southwest Georgia hotel. It was a dismal, rainy

"This reminds me of one of Longfel-At the mention of the name (Long-

"Longfellow? What do you know

"Little," replied the first speaker,

"An' is he a-writin' of books?" asked the tail man. "Why, the last time I heard of him he wuz runnin' fer Sher-

"I fear you are mistaken in the man," said the first speaker laughing. "Not me!" replied the tall man. "Don't I know him? Bill Longfellow had a squint in one eye an' a cut over the other. An' jest ter think-the durned fool's took ter writin'!"-At-

A Cuban fruit dealer stopped a pedestrian to whom he was known, and

"Gone up," replied the pedestrian.

The fruit dealer looked thoughtful as he slowly polished an apple, and then

"Ah, Cuba no good no more! I no

Editor Morrison, of Worthington,