The Somerset Herald. PRESIDENTIAL PARTY LEAVE. EDWARD SCULL, Editor and Proprieto

WEDNESOAY

FROM present indications Pennsylvania's majority this fall for Sound Money and Protection will be almost too large to be counted.

"LESS politics, more patriotism," was the sentiment expressed at a meeting of the Brooklyn Republicans on Saturday, and the sentiment is a good one, not only for greater New York, but for Pennsylvania and the rest of the Union.

PRESIDENT MCKINLEY apparently enjoyed his recent visit among Somerset's "Frosty Sons of Thunder" as much as the same "Frosty Sons" did their visit to the Major's home, at Can- James Smith; baggage master, Thomas ton, just one year ago to-day.

Tire deadly conflict between the strik ing miners and the deputy sheriffs at Latimer is greatly to be deplored. Surely, in this age of the world, with our claims to civilization, there should be some better way to settle labor controversies than he violence or bloodshed in any form:

WE HAVES'T heard of any call being issued by the Independents of Somer set to ratify the nomination of William R. Thompson, who was placed in nomination as a candidate for State Treasurer by the Independent Republicans at Pittsburg Saturday night. Our Independents are a little slow at ratifying, but they can be looked for on the Thompson band-wagon in due course of time.

THAT tragedy at Hazleton was most deplorable, and the trouble is that it is difficult to fix the responsibility. The various accounts do not agree. too much scared to know what he was were attacked, or exactly what occurred is not clear. But, at any rate, it was peculiarly unfortunate, because it came just at the time when the difficulties seemed near adjustment,

AMERICANS are learning to be more liberal in the matter of holidays. In 1873 Pennsylvania had but six legal holidays. The number of full holidays now in this State is eleven, to which have been added fifty-two half holidays. Deducting Sundays, the working days that remain out of the 35 number 276. A crowd of four or five hundred people assembled at the station 15 minutes before the train left. The President and Mrs. McKinley, and Attorney-General McKenna, were the first of the party to arrive. Mrs. McKinley was assisted into the private car and took a seat at an open window, where she smiled at the crowd, and waved her handkerchief in response to the cheers of the people. The Presi-

HAZLETON, Pa., Sept., 11.-The clash between the strikers and deputy sheriffs that made a day of awful tragedy for this mining region, was a stormy out break after the hall of the past few days in the anthracite strike situation.

The region was very quiet yesterday forenoon and as there seemed to be no uprising at McAdoo and Coleraine, the source of the disturbances for the past on their platform. The attitude of the Jewish crowd that day on the hillside when they would force Jesus to be king is not the only in-stance of its kind. Many to-day recogfew days, every one was of the opinion that the day would pass without any incident of note. The screnity of the day was disturbed at noon by a rumor that nize the beauty and power of Christ's life. on Sanday, but not while they are in church business on Monday. They would force Him to be king, themselves reserving the right to dictate. It can not be. The platforms are too widely different; as different as love and selfishness, as right-consumess and sin. You doubtless have seen men strug-gling under conviction of sin, pleading for mercy. Why this struggling? Why this pleading? There was unwillingness to surrender all to Christ. They would force Him to be king on their platform.
