From the Transcript, Peoria, Ill.

No man is better known and liked in that rich tier of Illinois comnies, of which Pecria is the centre, than genial chester S. Har ring ton, of Princeville, IJ. For many yeas M. Harrington has traveled through the country on profitualle journeys as an itineram merchant, and everywhere he goes he as given a hearty velcome by the people who neperit upon his visits for the purchase of the were saries, and some of the luxuries, of life.

Mr. Harrington is a veteran of the war, and from this fact is made the remarkable experience which he related at the Transcrape of the experience which he related at the Transcrape of the very office recently. His story, telling of the exile of which the Civil War was but the beginning in his own, and in thousands of other cases, was as follows:

"I served three years in the 124th Illinois, culisting at Keuanne, Ill. I was in Libby Prison, and suffered like many another Northern soldier. Until recently I was a member of the Princeville Post, of the G.A.R.

"The strain of army lifte did its work in underradusing my health, although the collapse did not come for years. For half an hour these guns pitched shells through or under or over the target, according to the firing directions, with as much accuracy as a man would use a Winchester rifle at 100 yards. The work was done with the precision of a clock. Hints about Milking.

1. Always confine the cows in the stable to be milked. It is better that baving them chase one another aroun the yard. 2. Have the stable clean, and have the cows clean, or you can't get clean milk. Lime and whitewash for walls and posts is a good thing. Laud plas-3. Before commencing to milk, brush

4. After a little manipulation of the tents and udder, the milk is ready to "come down." Then is the time to take it, and do not delay. 4 Milk as rapidly as possible without irritating or worrying the cow. 6. No definite rule can be given a to how the teats should be handled in milking, as cows differ and hands differ so much; but be sure of one thing-7. There should always be a friendly feeling between the cow and the milker, and milkers should not be changed if it can be avoided. 8. A cow will not "give down" her milk to a milker she hates or is afraid of, and what she does give will be deficient in butter-fat. 9. Always milk a cow in the same manner, at about the same time and speed. Any change will irritate and tend to excite her. 10. Always milk in the same order and at the same time of day. 11. When it comes to a cow's turn to be milked, she knows it, and expects it, and wants to be milked. 12. If you disappoint her, and milk half an hour later, the chances are that you will get less and poorer milk than if you milked at the proper time. 13. Always milk the cow dry before leaving her, but do not continue strip ping after the milk is all drawn.

14. If part of the milk is left at each trees. Every foot of land is made to milking in the udder, nature will soon stop providing it because it is not taken. 15. The last milk drawn from a cow is much righer than the first. The last quart usually contains more than three times as much butter-fat as the first.
