Therefore, when we have a good staple article bought at a special price, we tell you of it, and when an article is advertised over our name it is represented to be good. That is just what we mean. There are instances where in the very highest classes of merchandise imperfections will occur. In such cases bring the matter to us and thus afford us the pleasure of adjusting same and promoting our mutual interests.

Just now we are passing through the hottest period of the summer season. Spring and early summer are gone, and the time when light weight textiles of every description are the all essential for comfort and pleasure. With the passing of the early season which has moved so many light weight fabrics, we still find a few good things left to sell quick and cheap.
