"FISHER'S BOOK STORE."

THIS is one of the most commenda-able and valuable mercantile enterprises in the county. Mr. Chas. H. Fisher, the proprietor, started the bus's ness on the first day of April, 1-80. Many previous attempts had been made before Mr. Fisher arrived on the scene to make a book and stationery store pay in Somerset. No previous effort seemed to "eatch ou," but "Fisher's Book Store," now a household word in the county, was a "go" from the first day its doors were opened. This establishment is an educator, and has done more to foster and promote popular and substantial education than any other agency except the common schools. Of late years its business has become largely wholesale. Its wholesale trade covers Somerset county and extends into adjoining counties and states. Mr. Fisher devotes himself specially to the school book and school dressmaker and milliner in Somerset. The largest and most complete milbeen remarkably successful, securing
