A Cincinnati clergyman recently sent to the preacher with whom he frequently exchanged pulpits a notice to be read at a morning service. The recipient astonished his congregation by reading a postseript intended for himself only, as follows: "I will be pleased to have you come and dine with me at the parsonage." The invitation was widely ac-

King Wheat. You may tell of your armored cruisers, And your great ships of the line; and swift or slow may steamers go Like thunder may the cannon boom To greet their flags unfuried,

And for an hour they have the power To rule the frightened world. From ocean to ocean shore Lie lines of glemming steel, And night and day, we bear niway The ring of rushing wheel; Though buffalo have left the plain,

And Indian tents are furled. Nor steam nor hand at wealth's comman Can rule the busy world. But where the billside rises fair In terraces of green, And on the plain, where wind and rain Sweep fields of golden sheen, Where sturdy yellow stalks arise, With bannered boods unfuried Here you may greet the great King Wheat,

The ruler of the world,

Oh, hills may shake and vales resonn d Beneath the flying car, And driven by steam and winds a-beam Our ships ride fast and far; Ities may crumble 'neath the guns Which guard our flag unfuried : Yet all shall greet-at last- King Wheat, For hunger rules the world. -Ninette M.
