What Shall Be Done FOR THE DELICATE GIRL.

You have tried iron and other tonics. But she keeps pale and thin. Her sallow complexion worries you. Perhaps she has a little hacking cough also. Her head aches; and she cannot study. Give her

Scott's Emulsion

The oil will feed her wasting body; the glycerine will soothe her cough, and the hypophosphites will give new power and vigor to her nerves and brain. Never say "cannot take cod-liver oil" until you have tried Scott's Emulsion. You will be obliged to change your opinion at once. Children especially become very fond of it; and infants do not know when it is added to their food.

KIPLING ON THE FUTURE.

When Kipling's last picture is printed, and the taber are twisted and dried. When the oldest copies have faded, and the youngest critics have died, we shall read, with awe and reverence, his words of counsel and advice. We shall read, with awe and reverence, his words of counsel and advice. We shall read, with awe and reverence, his words of counsel and advice.

AN INCIDENT OF VICTORY.

She was sitting on the piazza when the news came to her. The Marched Nell roses were blooming; a mocking bird was turning every other bird's talent into insignificance. The little colored girl brought her a morning paper and laid it down on her lap and sat down at her feet to sort the stocks in her work basket. Mrs. Rivers read the editorials, then turned to the war news. The headlines looked quiet, and down the column were the names of two more identified dead bodies; only regulars. S. P. Rivers, private, was one of the names, followed by the company and regiment numbers. It was her only son.

SUNDAY IS OUR DAY OF VICTORY.

Events of American History Enacted on That Day. Sunday, it appears from recent and remarkable evidence, is the American day of victory. The latest victory at Manila caps the climax of great American success in the war with Spain. Since the age of Puritanism there have always been people who exclaim against the doing of anything pertaining to worldly affairs on the Sabbath day. In their opinion the first day of the week should be devoted to the contemplation of spiritual matters. Some of the more rigid sects even exclude as far as possible the dispensable functions of life, hedging their conduct with every deprivation which reason can stomach. To people who cling to such beliefs, and to many who entertain more liberal views concerning religious obligations, the commencement of any important undertaking on Sunday invites, as they think, divine reproof in the shape of failure. Of course, many notable instances may be cited in support of this extra-religious view, and are repeatedly cited by its advocates. Bible passages are quoted and the pages of sacred and profane history reviewed to illustrate the dire consequences attending such flagrant desecration of God's chosen day. Particularly has this argument been applied to war, a necessary evil which has been for many centuries falling more and more under the ban of religion. To make war a day of victory, as it were, had enough, but to wage battle on a Sunday is to court the wrath of God.

DEPEW AND THE DEAF MAN.

There is a man in Buffalo who can never hope to get on good terms with Chauncey M. Depew. Once they were friends. Today Mr. Depew looks upon the Buffalo man with contempt. The story of their estrangement is rather interesting. Of course it happened at a dinner. Diners are responsible for nearly all things that happen to Chauncey. Mr. Depew had been called upon for a speech, and he responded by telling a story.

A Game of Whist.

"Grumpy," said Brown, as he hit the end off from a choice cigar and struck a match on the heel of his shoe, "is the perfection of politeness to the utmost degree. He never gets mad, but he has a habit of saying things in a way that causes one to wish that he would get mad and relieve himself by swearing."

Where Flags are Made.

In the Equipment building at the New York navy yard there is a large manufactory where most of the flags of our navy are made. A large vessel carries forty American flags, and a smaller vessel almost as many. This does not include the feet and international signal flags, and the flags of other countries.

Sparked Depew.

There was buried in Wolcott, N. Y., to-day an old woman whose proud boast it had been, in her late years, that she was the only person, aside from her parents, who ever administered a sound spanking to Senator-elect Chauncey M. Depew. She was Catharine Curtis Westfall-Bissell. In young manhood she was a spinster and a weaver, giving up at home to house among her patrons and preparing their housewife cloth. Among her employers were the parents of the future senator, says the New York Press.

Remarkable Rescue.

Mrs. Michael Curtin, Plainfield, Ill., makes the statement, that she caught cold, which settled on her lungs; she was treated for a month by her family physician, but grew worse. He told her she was a hopeless victim of consumption and that no medicine could cure her. Her druggist suggested Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption; she bought a bottle and to her delight found herself benefited from first dose. She continued its use and after taking six bottles, found herself sound and well; now does her own housework and is as well as the ever was. For trial bottles of this Great Discovery at J. N. Snyder's Drug Store, Somerset, Pa., and G. W. Brallier's Drug Store, Berlin, Pa. Large bottles 50c. and $1.00.

Sparked Depew.

There was buried in Wolcott, N. Y., to-day an old woman whose proud boast it had been, in her late years, that she was the only person, aside from her parents, who ever administered a sound spanking to Senator-elect Chauncey M. Depew. She was Catharine Curtis Westfall-Bissell. In young manhood she was a spinster and a weaver, giving up at home to house among her patrons and preparing their housewife cloth. Among her employers were the parents of the future senator, says the New York Press.
