shabby attire leave the building. Before a word was spoken by any of he curious benchers the judge said, as hough musing to himself, though in a me loud enough for the others to hear: "Strange that I should see that man ust at this moment, and when we were discussing a question that he could have answered. His life, like guilty of murder."

"Tell us the story," exclaimed the one known as the proctor. "He was ruined," began the judge,

'by his ambition." "Ambition," suggested the solicitor, with a genial smile on his kindly, clean-shaven face, "is responsible for much good and much evil. It is ambition that has made wrecks, legal driftwood of many of us. We have dreamed of great deeds in our profession, we have builded fairy castles in the air, while others have by hard work suc-

Crimson clover and tye should now be well advanced. It does not pay to cut the crimson clover for hay at this season of the year, as grass will soon be plentiful, and later hay crops can be grown to better advantage. Plow the crimson clover under and plant the land to corn. By so doing the cost of fertilizer will be reduced, as the crimaon clover will ampply all the nitrogen needed for the corn. After the corn is "laid by" it will pay to then broad-cast cow peas between the rows, working the seed in with a cultivator. By harveating the corn and removing the crop to the barn to be shredded, and then turning the pigs on the cow peas, they will not only grow rapidly, but will be fat enough to kill without the aid of corn.
