This manly stand taken by Justice eeber was generally commented upon as indicating that he is deserving of the greatest consideration at the hands of the men identified with the Republican organization. They had the game all carefully set up with some of the leaders of the Prohibition party, who were quietly encouraged to took favorably upon the proposition by certain disappointed Republicans, but when the delegates in the Prohibition state convention discovered what was going on they promptly sat down upon Creasy, whose friends, they declared, should never have had the audacity to attempt to foist him upon the Prohibition party, without his having the slightest claim to recognition from them. This setback was quite as unexpected as it was emphatic.

It looks as though Creasy is not going to cut much of a figure in this com-

FLINN MAKES A STATEMENT. Following the declaration from Justice Beeber that he proposed to abide by the action of the Republican state convention, a statement from Senator William Flinn, of Allegheny, who was known as the "insurgents" in the last legislature, is significant. Senator Flinn, when asked what would be his attitude toward the Republican state ticket replied:

"What else can it be but to aid it in every way possible? Anthrax Killed the Surgeon, spread until the arms and shoulders were fairly alive with sores. Operations a the hands of skilled surgeons failed to stay the progress of the disease. The body of Dr. Smith began to swell at an alarming rate, and a state of coma follow ed. His last hours were painless.

On August 28 Dr. Smith performed an antopsy on some animals on the Berlin farms and sent portions of their bodies to State Veterinarian Pearson, who afterward pronounced the disease authrax, Dr. Smith attended other live stock in the neighborhood and took all the usual sanitary precautions, being fully aware of the horrible nature of the malady. His precautious, however, did not prevent infection. He was 53 years of age and a graduate of the University of Pennsylvania.
