Philadelphia, Oct. 10 .- The opening guns of the Republican campaign in the old Keystone state were fired yesterday, and from now on until election day there will be an unceasing canvasa in the itnorest of Lieutenant Colonel James E. Barnett, J. Hay Brown and Josiah R. Adams, the nominees on the state ticket. This is an important year in the politics of the country. It is generally recognized that this struggle is but the skirmish of the great presidential battle that is to be waged next Everywhere throughout the wear. Union the lines are sharply drawn and Republicans have placed the name of Major William McKinley upon their banners, and they are preparing to give him a magnificent vote of confidence in his triumphant re-election to the presidency. In Pernsylvania, the first state where the Republican state convention led off with an unqualified declaration for his renomination, the issue is aquarely presented.

General Frank Reeder, chairman of the Republican state committee, has completed the itinerary for the first two weeks of the canvass. In these a cippus, or sepulchral column, containing a cinerary urn of rare oriental stand taken by the Bryanne leaders alabaster was brought to light. The inscription on the cippus revealed that the ashes contained within the urn were those of Calpunius Piso Licinianus, who, in February, A. D. 69, was proclaimed Caesar by the Emperor Galbra. Four days afterward Galbra was killed, and Piso also suffered death in his thirty-first year. His were the ashes that the alabaster ura cou-

The precious urn was given to a workman employed on the premises to take care of. Some days after, when the proprietor of the place asked for the urn, he found it empty. "Where," said he, "are the ashes that were here?" The workman, surprised, said that he gathered them together and, never dreaming that they were any good, but being white and clean, sent them to his wife to make lye for her washing! And thus, said the Inte Shakespeare Wood, describing this incident, have the ashes of an imperial Caesar, adopted by Galbra as Tiberius was adopted by Augustus and accepted by the senate, been used more than 18 centuries after his death by a Ro "The Republican League of Pennman washerwoman to cleanse her dirty linen, together with the ashes of other
