

—There is said to be a good prospect of an agreement at Harrisburg on an Apportionment bill, which, in the coming week, will relieve the Legislature from the dead-lock which has for weeks stopped all business. There is a manifest necessity for fairness and liberality on both sides; and we should be sorry to believe that the Committee having the question in charge were unable to arrange a plan that would be so just as to command a majority in both Houses. The Republicans should not permit the failure to distract the State to rest upon them. If failure, it must be, let it not be till they have done everything that might be expected from fair men.—Pittsburgh Commercial.

—The Cincinnati Enquirer prints a letter dated "Missouri, April 8th," reviewing the Presidential situation, from a Democratic stand point. In respect to Hendricks, his general popularity, unexceptionable private character, and respectability as a statesman, are acknowledged, but his coalition with Tammany and affiliation with the bondholders are mentioned as objections urged against him, besides the fact that he does not represent the distinctive doctrines which the Democratic party must maintain in the contest of 1872. Thurman's ability as a jurist and experience as a statesman commend him to favor, but his presence in the Senate is regarded as a public necessity, only to be dispensed with in the contingency of his transfer to the Supreme Bench of the United States. Blair, F. P., is regarded as commanding "the approval of every fearless Democrat in the country." Yet while many urge his nomination, others are loath to forget his erratic career anterior and during the war; but the choice of the trans-Mississippi valley, says the letter-writer, is George H. Pendleton, of Ohio, whose friends claim for him a popular strength enjoyed by no other statesman in that region. This outlook of the Democratic Presidential situation is based upon the combination of a "promiscuous company of intelligent gentlemen" representing the popular Democratic feeling of the Great West.

BODY FOUND NEAR PETROLEUM CENTRE.—The body of a man in an advanced stage of decomposition was discovered Wednesday near Petroleum Centre, a few yards from the path leading up what is known as "Wild Cat Hollow." Several dollars in money and papers found upon the body, which showed his name to be James Glosky, a workman in that vicinity who had been missing for several months. A coroner's jury was impaneled, which had not rendered a verdict at the time our informant left; but from circumstances connected with the finding and position of the body it appeared that the unfortunate had attempted to commit suicide, for his undershirt was torn in shreds to make a rope, which was around his neck; but it would also seem that in endeavoring to climb a tree for the purpose of affixing the opposite end of the rope, he had fallen to the ground, breaking neck instantly. Providence thus preventing a suicide's act. His head was doubled in under his body, and the neck had been dislocated. The remains had probably lain where discovered all winter, and were only discovered by the offensive odor proceeding from that vicinity, and which occasioned a search as to the cause. One hand was missing, and although the above statement is supposed to be correct, it will doubtless never be fully explained how he met his death, and another mystery is added to the many that have marked the past few years in the oil region.—Herald.

—We take the following items from the Venango Citizen:

A well now owned by Buchanan and others, on the Whitman farm, Canal township, nine miles from this city, on the Mendville turnpike, commenced pumping on last Thursday, and is producing 10 barrels per day. The rig was put up and drilling commenced last fall. We have no particulars.

On last Saturday morning a basket containing an infant, apparently four or five weeks old, was found at the door of P. R. Gray, in First Ward. It had been placed there sometime during the night. It was evidently the hope and intention of the person leaving it to have it well cared for, as it was warmly clothed, and extra supply of clothing was found in the basket, also a nursing bottle, a bottle of soothing syrup and a five dollar greenback, were found snugly tucked away by the side of the innocent sleeper. The Overseers of the Poor assumed charge of the child, and it is being properly cared for.

We are sorry to be called on to notice the fact of another horse being stolen from this neighborhood. On last Friday night there was a valuable horse stolen from the stable of Mr. Hugh Tombs, of Scrubgrass township, this county, and as far as we have ascertained, there is no clue to the perpetrators. It must certainly be men that have followed that profession for years, or their consciences would not permit them to steal from a man that has not been able to work for two years. When such scoundrels are at large there can be no better safe-guard thrown around the horses of our vicinity than the organization of a suitable detective force and insurance Co., of which there was one lately organized in this place.—Rising Sun.

—We clip the following from the Warren Ledger:

Died, suddenly, in Pittsburgh, on the 7th instant, E. L. H. DUNN, aged 35 years. His remains were brought to Irvinville, and the funeral services held in the old stone church, on last Sabbath afternoon, were numerously attended by relatives, friends and acquaintances of the deceased.

The funeral ceremonies by Rev. W. A. Rankin was more than usually solemn and impressive.

Mr. Dunn, from his earliest childhood, has been a resident of our County, and his proverbial genial nature and largeness of heart, that never forsook him during a chequered and eventful life, endeared him to a host of friends, who claimed him as a common heritage.

On his monument may be inscribed, with a truth none will venture to gainsay or deny—this inscription, to which more of exalted pretensions can never be purchased in the hour of dissolution: "Here lies an honest man."

At an election held at the office of the Tionesta & Clarion R. R. in the Borough of Warren, on the 8th inst., pursuant to notice published, for the purpose of permanent organization under charter, the following named persons were duly elected as Directors for the ensuing year:

E. T. F. Valentine, H. A. Jamieson, J. D. James, Erastus Barnes, Asa H. Barnes, L. A. Rogers, and J. H. Williams.

At a subsequent meeting of Directors the following named persons were then duly elected officers for the ensuing year:

H. A. Jamieson, President; L. A. Rogers, Vice President; A. H. Barnes Treasurer; John Sill, Secretary.

The above organization of the Company shows a renewed vitality in the prospects of the road. They all have a personal interest in the building of the road, and will exert all their powers to accomplish the result. Many of them are men of capital, all of intelligence. A united effort of such a body of practical men will certainly put the Tionesta & Clarion Road under contract at no very distant day.

—The following items are taken from the Greenville Argus:

A little son of Hugh Gordon of Jackson township, this county had one of his little fingers cut off by an ax in the hands of another child while at play.

James Kane, son of William Kane, of Delaware township, this county, was killed on the 4th inst. The lad was returning a run-away horse of Alex. Donahue which had been caught near his father's house. When found he was lying in the middle of the road entirely dead, with a severe fracture of the skull near one of his eyes. It is supposed that he had attempted to ride the horse and was thrown, or was kicked by it.

The new rolling mill of Westernman & Co., at this place is now in operation, and turning out a good quality of hoop-iron. We visited the mill on Monday last, and were kindly shown through it by Mr. Westernman, who gives it his personal supervision. The cost of the mill is about $60,000. The company employ between fifty and sixty hands, who, taken altogether, are a fine looking set of men. The company have laid out a forty foot street on a plot of ground adjacent to the mill upon which the are now making preparations to erect during the season, ten dwelling houses for the use of their hands. Our limited space forbids our saying more upon this subject at present.

RAILROAD ORGANIZATION.—We observe O. Noble, Esq., Chairman of the Commissioners, has notified the stockholders of the Erie and Meadville Southern Railroad Company, that a meeting will be held at the Keystone National Bank, on the 11th of April, for the purpose of electing a President and twelve Directors. We are pleased to notice this movement to organize this company, and hope that measures may soon be inaugurated that will secure success of this important project. The desire of those who have control of this measure is two-fold—one to reach the oil regions; the other, to reach the coal fields of Mercer and Butler counties. By constructing a road to Cambridge, Titusville can be reached either by continuing it to Titusville, and uniting with the Union & Titusville Road at that point or running to the A. & G. W. to Union, and thence to Titusville, and Oil City can be reached over the A. & G. W. via Meadville. There is now a broad gauge road running from Greenville, Mercer county, to the coal fields five miles east of Mercer, which is contemplated to extend to the coal fields of Butler county. At Greenville this road connects with the A. & G. W., and by running over the latter to Cambridge, the contemplated road from Erie to that point would open a direct market to our city. Our citizens will, therefore, see that this project is one which they have no little interest in.—Erie Observer.

A couple of weeks ago, Will Hunter, of Monroe township—a boy some 17 or 18 years of age—cut off one of his toes with an ax and cut another toe about half off. The one so badly cut did not heal up properly, and was very sore, until a few days ago, when Amos Hunter, a brother, who is a scientific cabinet maker concluded to perform a surgical operation. Taking a sharp chisel and a mallet, he cut off the sore one at one blow. There was some trouble in stopping the blood, but the operation was quite successful. We presume our friend Amos will now be entitled to the cognomen of "doctor."—Clarion Democrat.

—The following from the Clearfield Journal:

About twenty-five dollars was abstracted from a money drawer in Hartwick & Irwin's Drug Store, on Tuesday afternoon, April 4th, by some light-fingered thief. The mystery is how the person managed to take the money without being discovered, the theft having been perpetrated during business hours, and evidently when the clerk was in the store. Suspicions are entertained as to who took the money, and if it is returned without delay, no questions will be asked, but otherwise proceedings for its recovery will be instituted.

About 8 o'clock on Saturday evening, April 8th, a house near Curwensville, belonging to the estate of William Irvin, Esq., deceased, occupied by Mr. A. Irvin Thompson and family, was discovered to be on fire. The alarm was promptly given, but before assistance reached from town the flames had progressed so far as to render resistance ineffectual. Such household goods as were on the lower floor and in the cellar was saved; but all effects, such as beds and bedding, clothing, and a lot of meat in the second story were destroyed. The cause of the fire is a mystery, having originated in the upper story, and spread so rapidly, that Mrs. Thompson, with difficulty, and not without burning her arm severely, succeeded in saving her children, who were sleeping on the second floor at the time—Mr. Thompson being absent from home. The family received all possible attention from the neighbors, and, considering all things, were fortunate in escaping as well as they did. No insurance on the property. Mr. Thompson's loss is from $300 to $400. The building was worth about $1,500.

LARGE WELL ON CHURCH ROX.—Quite an excitement was created in town on last Friday morning, by a report that a flowing well had struck on well No. 2 of Thompson, Gilmore & Co.'s lease, on the Kerr farm, Church rox. This well is almost three miles north of Titusville, and was only about four feet in the sand. It was not therefore expected that oil would have been struck at that depth which made the report the more surprising. It appears that about eight o'clock yesterday morning, the oil commenced to spout, throwing the oil about seventy-five feet into the air in the form of spray. Work was immediately suspended, the tools left in the well and the fire extinguished. The spouting only lasted for a few minutes. In about an hour it again spouted with equal force, and continued to do so during intervals of about an hour. At four o'clock eight barrels had been collected; one-half the oil, however, was probably lost, by being scattered over the ground. Some parties near the well at 30, others at 50 while a few as high as 75 barrels per day. It will be tubed to-day, and pumping commenced as soon as the boiler can be removed to a safe distance. A large number of oil men visited the locality during the day, and every one seemed satisfied that the indications were good for the territory.—Herald.

—The Tidioute Journal says: The two lots lying on Main street between Messrs. Cox and Shaw, have been sold to the Methodist Society, who will soon erect thereon a fine substantial edifice, their old one being too small to accommodate their rapidly increasing numbers. The two elegant residences of Dr. Boland and Capt. Cummings are having their foundations laid, and will soon assume goodly proportions. Mr. Samuel Grandin is about erecting a house in rear of St. Paul's church, fronting on Jefferson street. Mr. Baldwin is putting up a nice building next to the Tidioute House. Girard Block is nearly finished on the outside, and rapidly approaching completion inside. The Post Office will be moved to the corner store soon, and elegant quarters they have. About the first of May the row of shanties opposite the Syracuse House will come down, and an elegant new brick block be begun. Mr. Neill has bought the lots east of the residence of Mr. Hagne, and will soon break ground for a fine residence. Mr. McKay has bought a lot near the Union School House, and will locate his household goods in a commodious residence on that spot. Mr. Binney has sold his house east of Tidioute to C. C. Thompson Esq. So it goes.

STABBING AFFRAY.—An affray that came near ending with fatal results, took place on Dock St., Sunday evening. It appears that a young man named Geo. Boden was walking down Dock St. with a young woman named Welch, who lives in the second McHenry, and is employed in Huidekoper Woolen Factory as an operative (by the way she is not unknown in the police court), was followed and attacked by one Ed. Barrett, near the Dock St. bridge, and a scuffle ensued, in which Barrett was stabbed in the neck. The wound was not considered a dangerous one now, in the opinion of Dr. Ray, who attended him; a sixteenth of an inch variation would have made it a fatal blow.

Up to the present time no arrests have been made. Although Boden apparently did this in self defence, he does not seem disposed to give himself up. He is supposed to be secreted near the city however.—Meadville Republican.

Edward H. Ruloff, one of the most hardened and self-possessed criminals of modern times, received his death sentence at the Court House in Elmira on the 6th, in the presence of an eager multitude. While women fainted, and strong men alone held their breath, Ruloff alone remained self-possessed and apparently unmoved. He will suffer the extreme penalty of the law at Binghamton, on the 16th day of May.

One day last week, as Sheriff Johnson in the discharge of his official duties was endeavoring to eject a family from a house in Callensburg, he was assaulted by the family with clubs, poker, hot water and various other appliances of warfare; but after a sanguinary struggle, the gallant sheriff and his posse came off victorious, with nothing more serious than the sheriff receiving a blow on the arm from a poker and one of his assistants getting a black eye. We forbear giving the names of the parties who have thus made themselves notorious, as it is published that the whole matter will be investigated at our coming court, when they will doubtless learn that it is not best to resist an officer in the discharge of his duties.—Clarion Republican.
