-John L. Dale, who has been here on a visit for some time took his departure for his home in Wisconsin, Monday. He has lost flesh in this country, and we believe goes back some thirty pounds lighter than when he came and he thinks he could stand some more lightening yet. His weight now is about 250 lbs. in his stockings. He is good company, and will be missed by his acquaintances here.

-Rev. S. S. Burton and Jno. L. Dale had a "bee" in the old Methodist church yard, one day last week, trying to remove the elders and other bushes off some of the graves, so that the resurection might come easier to those lying there. They expected help, but none came, and all the work that was accomplished, was done by them. The state of this resting place of the dead is a crying shame against the living of our place, and we hope soon to have it to record, that it has been put in a better shape.

> To Nebraska, California, and Kansas, and the B. & M. R. R. Lands.

The "Burlington Route," so called lies, right in the path of the Star of Empire. It runs almost immediately in the center of the great westward movement of emigration. Crossing Illinois and Iowa, it strikes the Missiouri river at three points.

These three points are the gateways into three great sections of the trans-Missouri region.

The Northern gate is Omaha, where the great Pacifiic road will take you to the land of gold and grapes, sunny mountains, and perpetual summer.

The middle gate is Plattsmouth, which opens upon the south half of Nebraska, south of the Platte river, a region unsurpassed on the continent steadily increasing in the place.
