

The following was handed in last week for publication but was, in our hurry, overlooked.

The members of the Republican County Committee of Forest County, are requested to meet at the Court House, (at Prothonotary's Office) on Tuesday evening, May 23d, 1871, at 7 o'clock P. M. J. B. AGNEW, Ch'm. S. D. IRWIN, Sec'y.

Oil City Correspondence.

OIL CITY, April 29, 1871. DEAR REPUBLICAN:—For the delectation of such of your readers who care for news from this hub of the oil regions, I write this epistle:

The most important matters now occupying the attention of the honest citizens of this new city, are the numerous ordinances most daily promulgated by our worthy mayor and council, who are getting up a series of regulations for our government, which, if they are enforced, will make Oil City the most exemplary city in this world of sin. It takes pretty diligent study to keep "read up" on all their promulgations, but a fast reader can do it, by constant application. They have already issued ordinances frowning upon houses of ill fame, dog and cock fights and irregularities of that sort, and now I hear they have one in pickle, in relation to the running of trains within the city limits, which is calculated to make the railroad companies toe the mark in regard to the safety of our lives and property, or else be heavy contributors to our city treasury. Our personal sympathies in all these matters are with the mayor and council, and they shall have our countenance and support.

By the way, either Providence or some incendiary expressed disapprobation of houses of ill-fame by burning up an old brewery in the lower part of town which was being fitted up expressly for use in that line of trade; it occurred on Wednesday night.

An effort is being made to establish a "collegiate institute" in this place with good prospects of success. Several persons have for some time been on the point of giving from five to ten acres of land upon which to erect suitable buildings, but for some reason still hesitate, probably for fear the property won't be accepted. I am informed by those who know, that their fears are groundless.

When those nice showers were falling about the middle of the week, it led me to hope that the lumbermen of Forest county would be able to get over their "drams" and bring out some of that extensive lot of lumber that has been so long waiting for a rise, but an old lumberman told me yesterday that my hopes were vain, therefore I suppose that we'll have to do as they do out west in such cases, i. e. wait for more rain.

A very lively skirmish occurred this morning between two young men of the city, which resulted in one being knocked through a store window and both being picked up by the police to answer for a breach of the public peace. Probably the cost of a new window and the fine an indignant justice will impose, will have the effect of cooling their fiery tempers.

I notice that the dealers in baby carriages about here have laid in a very large stock this spring, which will probably give you an idea of how the population has increased.

More when the fit takes me. SYAH.

To show the uncertainty of oil territory or which way "oil belts" run, we learn from good authority that a well known operator in this neighborhood, at the time of the breaking out of the recent oil excitement on Church Run, near Titusville, commenced drilling a well in close proximity to the Cady well, yielding 400 barrels per day. While the well was going down the aforesaid operator hustled himself in buying up land in the vicinity of his well, securing upwards of seven hundred acres. The well was finished a day or two since and proved to be a "dry hole," not even pumping dust, and resulting in the unpleasant discovery, to him at least, that the entire seven hundred acres lie to one side of the belt and in all probability is also dry territory.—Pet. Cen. Rec.

A dispatch to the Pittsburgh Commercial from Parker's Landing, says: About six o'clock Sunday evening, Willy Sowash, aged six, son of Mr. D. Sowash, living in Lawrenceburg, during the absence of his parents, attempted to kindle a fire with crude oil. The flame communicated to the can, causing an explosion, setting fire to the house and horribly burning young Sowash, from the effects of which he died this morning. Who's next?

Soldiers and the Republican Party.

We have never been the advocates of class-monopolies of any kind, whether it is business or politics, as they tend to tyrannize and confusion, and therefore we never were of the opinion that because a man is a soldier he is superior to a civilian in devotion to the Government or in merits to wear its honors. Nevertheless, the Republican party owes a debt of gratitude to the soldiers, which it cannot repudiate without forfeiting the confidence of all civilians. Our victories at the ballot box, from 1863 to the present, have been won mainly by the zeal of those who took up arms to defend the life and honor of the nation. Had the soldiers in the field deserted us, Andrew G. Curtin would not have been elected Governor the second time. Had the veterans who re-established the authority of the National Government, and who had returned to resume their peaceful avocations, not clung to the Republican cause, John W. Geary would not have been elected Governor the first or second time. We would not so long have retained our supremacy in the Legislature, and regained our ascendancy on the Supreme bench. The Union soldier not only preserved the life of the government of the Union, but he perpetuated for the time being the power of the Union party. Our political leaders must not forget these facts. If they ignore the soldier, if so soon after his hard fought battles, with his wounds unhealed, the Union soldier is to be refused retention in offices within the control of the Republican party, to make room for inefficient demagogue politicians, take our word for it, the soldier will turn his back on the Republican organization. Our fealty to the soldier involves as much of honor as our truth and devotion to our principles. It awakens a feeling of displeasure in many true Republican hearts whenever the appointing power of the Government ignores a soldier, deliberately sets him aside, deposes him without cause, and snubs him to make room for and recognition of a civilian, his unequal in all qualities requisite for the position to be filled. We hear and see this spirit of discontent all around us. The masses of the Republican party are neither insensible to insults of this kind, nor incapable of resenting them. Hence, we beg of those in authority to beware how they trifle with popular regard for the soldier. A word to the wise is sufficient.—State Journal.

We take the following items from the Venango Spectator: Mr. David Marshall, of Pittsburgh, was robbed at the Oil City depot on Tuesday afternoon last by a pickpocket.

On Sunday last A. M. Borland hired three men to row him across the river at Parker's Landing. They rowed him to a boat standing about midway in the river, compelled him to step aboard of it, robbed him of $70 and then pulled away, leaving Mr. Borland alone on the boat. He was taken off by the ferryman shortly afterward. Two of the thieves have been arrested.

The Neely and Munsinger farms, two miles from this city, and opposite Two Mile Run, are being laid out as a town under the name of "Prentice." The lots and leases will be sold at public sale, due notice of which will appear in the newspapers, and oil men can have an opportunity of buying a building lot on the river front and an oil lease on the hill. The third and is known to underlie this tract, and an oil belt, parallel to the Hills, runs through this property. All trains on the Allegheny Valley Railroad stop here, the nearest station of Driftwood, Huff City, and other mushroom towns in the interior of Cranberry. A ferry runs to connect with trains on the Jamestown and Franklin Railroad.

A young man calling himself Prof. J. G. Griffith arrived in the third ward last week and hung out his shingle as a medical man, heavy on catarrh and chronic diseases in general. But Prof. Griffith has come to grief. He was arrested on Monday afternoon for practicing medicine without license, and, in default of two hundred dollars bail, was sent to jail by Justice Lytle.

Samuel Sanson was also brought before Justice Lytle charged with circulating obscene pamphlets through the city. In default of five hundred dollars bail he was committed for trial. This is the first arrest for that detestable offense made in this city and we trust the case of Sanson will be a warning to the scoundrels in his line of business.

The Democratic State Convention has been called to meet in Harrisburg May 24—one week after the Republican Convention. The "call" intimates that among other things it will be the duty of the Convention to frame a platform for the party. That will be useless labor. The party already has a platform the one it made for itself while assisting the rebellion, and on which it still stands disputing the verdict of the war. Some there may be who would be glad to get off, but the crack of the Southern whip frightens them back again. The only honest course for the Democracy when they meet in Harrisburg (a bad place, they say, for honest men,) will be to repudiate the bonds which bind them—take a "new departure" in earnest, in opposition to influences and purposes which so long as they prevail can entail nothing but defeat. Though it is for our interest as Republicans that they should keep straight on the suicidal track, yet this observation is the one which the facts will admit, a great many sensible Democrats must be convinced.—Pittsburgh Commercial.

CHURCH RUN.—The excitement on Church Run continues unabated, and operators from every section of the region keep pouring in. The oil is also of a superior quality, being heavier, and bringing prices 25 cents in advance of regular gravity oil. It is used nearly altogether by the Titusville refiners, giving them another advantage over refiners in more remote localities. We can now afford to turn out refined oil at a profit, should every still in the country stand still for want of a margin. This must of necessity draw an immense capital here to engage in this branch of manufacture, and it will have a greater tendency to rapidly build up Titusville to a higher standard of centralization and commercial importance than ever before.

The Curtis, Boyer & Freeman well, struck last Sunday, and which, we yesterday reported as producing at the rate of 100 bbls. has within the past twenty-four hours been steadily increasing. She is now rated at fully 150 barrels. This well is now the largest on the run, and is situated on the northwest corner of the Atlantic & Great Western Company's tract, and a few rods southeast of the big Thompson well, on the Maguire farm. In a direct line between these two wells, on the latter farm, is another, the property of Emery Bros. & Co., which will be down today. There are also several wells in contiguous localities which will be down in a few days.—Herald.

The Meadville Republican says: The Louisville Courier-Journal is one of those square matter-of-fact newspapers which believe in making the best of what cannot be helped. It throws away much good advice. The following is a specimen: "No Democrat is asked to accept Negro Suffrage or abate his aversion to the Fifteenth Amendment. We have already made our protest against the one and the other. Each is, until it be set aside, a fixed fact. The record of the past is made up. The question presented to us now is this: Shall we make the repeal of the Fifteenth Amendment and the abolition of Negro Suffrage an issue in the Presidential election? One thing, in our opinion, is certain. We should take a decided stand. We should avoid an attitude of equivocation by which we shall lose all the advantage of war on Negro Suffrage, if there is any advantage in that, and gain all the discredit of a secret revolutionary purpose which we dare not avow. The Republicans have made a point upon us squarely, and we cannot escape or evade it. But, whatever we do, let us dig no pitfalls to entrap our own unwary footsteps."

SEVERE ACCIDENT.—On Friday last, a boiler maker whose name we did learn, from Titusville, was sent to repair one of Capt. Wolf's large boilers on the Clark farm. He got into the boiler with a derrick lamp; unfortunately the boiler was full of gas, which had got in at the "man hole," and coming in contact with the lamp, produced a loud explosion. The force of the explosion flattened the lamp, the derrick roof was blown off, and the man badly burned.—East Brady Independent.

The Ku-klux law is a terrible affliction to the Democracy, just as capital punishment is a hardship to a murderer. If a man does not want to be hanged, he must not imbue his hands in the blood of his neighbor. If the people of the South do not want to be brought within the ringer of the Ku-klux law, all they have to do is to behave themselves in an orderly and a loyal manner. Honest and peaceable people, law-abiding citizens, are never disturbed by the rigors of a law against burglars, assassins and ruffians. The law is only a terror to evil doers.—State Journal.

What is our town coming to, that our ladies cannot walk the streets evenings without being insulted? Cannot the Town Council appoint a Police, to keep order in our streets at night—yes day as well as night? This town has been run long enough by a set of drunken rascals, who come here for no other purpose than to "run Shippen." Other towns not as large as Emporium have a police police force. Why cannot we?—Cameron Press.

"Irene Worrell" of the Worrell Sisters, says the Sun Tribune, "weighs about one hundred and sixty-five pounds, and is four feet high—her breadth can be imagined. She dressed in tight—hadn't anything to speak of on but tight—and made rather a dumpy, doughy figure, and lacked playing qualities sufficient to make amends for her appearance. She is the fattest person we ever saw in rights, and with all respect to persons of great avoidpoids we don't like her appearance."

The State Journal says that it is believed that the session of the Legislature will be prolonged for thirty days. The private calendars are stocked with business, while several public bills of great importance will elicit long discussions before they are disposed of. The appropriation bill in the Senate, will require at least ten days to get through with it. Hence thirty days will be a short time in which to get through with all the business before the Legislature.

Charles Augustus, who visited the Dulcan on Sunday evening, and found the parlor stove moved out, gives it as his opinion that there is such a thing as cleaning house too early in the spring. As the youth has been taking cough medicine steadily ever since, and "his girl" is kept in the house by a severe cold, we're inclined to think the opinion isn't far from correct.

SAN FRANCISCO, April 29. The jury in the case of Laura D. Fair, murderer of A. P. Crittenden, out forty minutes, when a verdict of murder in the first degree was rendered. The prisoner appeared somewhat paler than usual when taken from the court room, otherwise she was unmoved. It may not be improper to say now of this verdict that until within last week no one generally believed it possible, as nearly everybody was expecting the trial to prove a perfect farce, ending in the acquittal of the prisoner, or a disagreement of the jury. Nineteenth of the community regard the verdict as a just and proper vindication of the law, and a rebuke of the doctrines put forth in the defense.
