Accident on the P. & E. Railroad.

ERIE, PA., Aug. 27, 1871. The Erie Mail crossed with the first section of the Empire freight east, between 7 and 8 o'clock yesterday, when one and a half miles west of Westport station, on the Middle Division of the Philadelphia & Erie Railroad, causing the death of Reuben Winslow and R. C. Brown of Lock Haven, passengers, E. W. Hyman, Williamsport, conductor, and Thomas Gannons, Dunkirk, fireman of the mail train, James W. Ward, of Bellefonte, conductor, and William Killinger, of Altoona, Pa., engineer of the freight train, at dangerously wounding A. M. Atwater, of Lock Haven, Reuben Miller, of Williamsport, James Shafer, of Sennamahoning, Pa., and P. McCormick, of Baltimore, engineer of the passenger train.

From Pittsburg we journeyed by rail. The mountain scenery over the Pennsylvania Central road is sublime. I have not language to describe it. I had thought that art flattered nature in portraying scenes like these, but now I realize that the most skillful artist approximates but a fancied resemblance, leaving out the real grandeur and sublimity of nature itself.

At Tyrone we get supper, and then take the Clearfield Branch of the Pennsylvania rail road. What a monopoly is this road; how majestically it stretches itself a way over vast acres of country. The gentlemanly conductor kindly tenders us a seat at the end of the car, so that we have a full view of the grand scenery; the huge mountains, the evening shadows sweeping over them, the distant valleys, the Juniata winding along in quiet beauty surpass anything in loveliness we have seen for many a long day.

By a telegram from Tidioute, we learn that the well recruited team of the Triumph Oil Co's tract, by our townsman Messrs. Hughes, Barker, Bartlett and Davis, has increased in production and is now yielding fully one hundred and twenty-five barrels of oil per day.

From "Dixie" to the "Keystone."

Centre County, Aug. 28, 1871. DEAR REPUBLICAN:—Having the pleasure of visiting your State for the first time, and also halting from a northern clime, we find so much that is novel and interesting, that we cannot refrain from expressing our thoughts through your columns, since you have so kindly extended us the invitation.

After a lengthy, yet pleasant journey, we find ourselves on the summit of the Alleghenies, basking in the genial atmosphere of Mt. — listening to the soft whisperings of zephyrs through the pines. Our trip was indeed a delightful one.

As it not unfrequently occurs on such trips the passengers were socially inclined, and all united in the effort to keep merrily at a respectable distance. The second day consultation was held and a committee of "amusements" appointed which reported favorably. There was an excellent band on board; also three superannuated bachelors and two widowers, available candidates for the proposed "hop."

From the Greenville Argus we learn of the following accident: George Lininger, of West Salem township was kicked on the head by a stallion, and his skull fractured. Medical attendance was at hand almost instantly, but he died the same evening.

A World correspondent, writing from South Africa diamond fields, under date of June 15, says: Mr. J. R. Hopkins, from Lockport Pa., came to South Africa two months ago, and last Monday the wind blowing so hard, causing thick clouds of dust so that no one could remain out of their claims, Hopkins meandered out from the camp and over the plain, and observing some garnets shining on the ground about a mile from camp, he dropped on his knee and elbow, and picking it up commenced to scrape for more, when a bright point came to view.

By a telegram from Tidioute, we learn that the well recruited team of the Triumph Oil Co's tract, by our townsman Messrs. Hughes, Barker, Bartlett and Davis, has increased in production and is now yielding fully one hundred and twenty-five barrels of oil per day.

STOLEN!
