A PAPER FOR THE PEOPLE.

The "Presidential year" is always a reading year with the American people. It imposes extraordinary duties on journals from which the people may usually expect not only the news of the day, but intelligent discussion of public questions and enunciation of opinions. While this is true in a general sense the year before us is likely, in a political sense, to be one of inusual interest;—the Democratic party is breaking up, and there are indications of alliances and purposes altogether novel in our politics. The elections of the past year have resulted in almost an unbroken series of Republican victories. General Grants administration bus received the unquivocal indorsement of the American people; and there is every indication now that, as the Republican candidate, he will be re-elected President. As an Independent Republican Paper the Commencial, will in the future, as in the past, render an undeviating support to Republican Principles, holding that the good of the Republic requires that the Government should remain in the hands of the party that saved it in the great life-or death struggls. In the future as in the past it will speak its own ylews regarding men and measures, holding that through free discussion only can safe conclusions be reached and the independence of the press preserved. In this regard we can say simply that the Commencial, will be true to itself and its established character.

As a Newspaper, nothing will be spared to maintain the position which the Commencial to maintain the position which the Commencial of interest, European politics are agitated, and the American reader will likely find much in them to attract his attention. At home all is life and push, Railroads are being constructed everywhere; new projects are almost daily proclaimed; population is increasing; enterprise intelligently directed was never so well rewarded, and the American reader will likely find much in them to attract his attention. At home all is life and push, Railroads are being constructed everywhere; new projects from abroad.

To our patrons we have only words of cheer. With some our readers we have held pleasant relations for years. It will be our aim to deserve the continuance of these relations for many years to come. We feel proud in the fact that the Commencial, wields an influence second to no journal in the State. Its readers as a general thing are the influential, intelligent classes. In a circle of hundreds of miles, embracing nearly the whole of Pennesyl-SCHOOL CARDS embracing nearly the whole of Pennesylvania, much of Ohio, West Virginia and States beyond, it is the favorite in the counting-house, the office, the store and the family, especially of business and cultivated classes. To hold this place will be our constant effort.
