A FAPER FOR THE PEOPLE.

The "Presidential year" is always a reading year with the American people. It imposes extraordinary duties on journals from which the people may usually expect not only the news of the day, but intelligent disensation of public questions and enunciation of opinions. While this is true in a general sense the year before as is likely, in a political sense, to be one of unusual interest;—the Democratic party is breaking up, and there are indications of alliances and purposes altogether novel in our politics. The elections of the past year have resulted in almost an unbroken series of Republican victories. General Grantzadministration has received the unquivocal indersement of the American people; and there is every indication now that, as the Republican candidate, he will be re-elected? Pesident. As an Independent Republican Paper the COMMERCIAL will in the future, as in the good of the Republic requires that the good escussion only can safe conclusions be reached and the independence of the past it will speak its own views recarding men and measures, holding that through free discussion only can safe conclusions be reached and the independence of the press preserved. In this regard we can say simply that the COMMERCIAL will be true to itself and its established character.

As a Newspaper, nothing will be spared to maintain the position which the Commercial had not the day, for news enterprise as well as for independent opinions. This year, at home and abroad, will be full of interest, European politics are agitated, and the American reader will likely find much in them to attract his attention. At home all is life and push. Railroads are being constructed everywhere; new projects are almost daily proclaimed; population is increasing; cuterprise intelligently directed was naver so well rewarded, and the prospect for the wonderful activities of our country is, t

To our patrons we have only words of cheer. With some our readers we have held pleasant relations for years. It will be our aim to deserve the continuance of be our aim to deserve the continuance of these relations for many years to come, We feel proud in the fact that the Commencial wields an influence second to no journal in the State. Its readers as a general thing are the influential, intelligent classes. In a circle of hundreds of miles embracing nearly the whole of Pennesylvania, much of Ohio, West Virginia and States beyond, it is the favorite in the counting-house, the office, the store and the family, especially of business and cultivated classes.
