Not a bad story is told at the expense of a most distinguished citizen of Philadelphia. It seems that a dinper party was in progress during the recent brilliant display of northern lights, and this gentleman, stepping out to cool his burning brow, was started by the display around the frosty pole. He stood perfectly amazed; then turning to the window he saw within, the wife of his bosom, sitting with the ladies, waiting for their liege lords to dispose of their champaigne and cigars. Pushing aside the curtains, he beckoned Mrs. Agnes to come out. She complied, when he said to her solemnly:

"Wagnes, d'yer see anything ex-tronery now?"

"Yes, Dolly I see you have been drinking too much wine." "No! not that, Wagnes. I mean extronery phornomonums in atmos-

"Wagnes, are things shootin'?" "Yes, dear."

"And a flashin', Wagnes?" "Yes, Dolly."

"An' a sorter spreadin' an' daucin', eh! Wagnes" "All that, my dear."
"Ho! ho!" laughed the husband, much relieved. "Do you know, Wag-

An old lady in Brookfield, over eighty years of age, took her first ride on the cars last week. "Gracious !-what makes things git up and go so?" was all she could say, as the iron horse tore over the course.

An elderly maiden lady, hearing for the first time that matches are made in Heaven, declared she didn't care a straw how soon she left this sinful world for a better land.

Jones thought a little more affection at home might secure more palatable dinners, and in the evening he addressed Mrs. Jones, in an endearing tone, as "sweetest." She took it quietly, merely asking who the others were.

'So you are going to keep a school?'

said a young lady to her maiden aunt.

"Well, for my part, sooner than that I would marry a widower with nine children." "I would prefer that myself," was the quiet reply, "but where's the widower?" Some of the ultra fashionable ladies have introduced a new custom, or rather readopted a very old one. When an acquaintance calls and is so unfortunate as to find the ladies out, instead of being asked to leave his card, he is requested to inscribe his name in a handsome visiting book. A couple of Ciucinnati girls who had been to see the "Black Crook." appeared in the streets of that city the other day with so little clothing that a blushing constable took them into custody. The Judge said to the officer :-"Let them go for the present. Go to all the public places or amusement in this city, where the women are more exposed than these two girls, and arrest them." A Welsh clergyman applied to his diocesan for a living. The bishop promised him one, but as the clergy. man was taking his leave he expressed a hope that his lordship would not send him to the interior of the principality, as his wife could not speak Welsh. "Your wife, sir!" said the bishop, "what has your wife to do with it? She does not preach, does she?""No, my lord," said the parson, "but she lectures."

A young woman from Tidioute, Pa., went to Chicago a few days ago, in search of a young man who had trifled with her affections and her purse. The aid of a detective was secured, and he soon brought the wronger and the wronged face to face. The young man was contrite, restoring on the spot 8750 of the money he had taken from the woman, and agreeing to marry her .-A Catholic clergyman was called upon, who set all straight by marrying the

At Meriden, Cona., a lady of about sixty summers had just married and A more money at work for us than at anything else. Particulars free. G. Stin-son & Co., Fine Art Publishers, Portland. was traveling with her spouse. She was so delighted that she wanted the people to rejoice with her. So meeting a friend there she said to her in a loud tone, evidently intended to be heard by all in the depot: "I am married and am taking my weddin' tower, and these are my weddin' clothes, and that is my husband a comin'." there are many people who could not make a like boast under the same circumstances. It is very like what Pere Hyacinthe is doing.
