The Columbus (Ky.) Dispatch says : Henry Winston is a mulatto resident of this place. He was born in North Carolina, and is now about fifty years of age, according to his own count. About seven years ago Henry's skin commenced turning white, assuming the lighter color and clear transparent hue common to the Causasian race, since which time his skin has been gradually changing until he is now about two-thirds white, and he is as spotted as any leopard. The change, ns we stated, has been going on gradually, but without any regularity as to locality. Spots on his hands, arms, face and body are of as clear a color as that of rny European, while the surrounding spots are in some places almost black, in others brown, and still others of a light yellow, the different shades marking the different degrees of progress of the change. The changed part of his skin, while possessing the clear, rosy tint of the Cau-casian, retains the appearance of coarseness common to the African race, but is extremely sensitive to the light and heat of the sun. The health of this person has been uniformly good. and he can assign no reason why his skin should change."

An old lady of Lowell, Massachasetts died at an almost centenarian age a few days ago. Before her death she gave minute directions for her funeral. Among other things, she said she wanted to be "laid out" in her black gown, and they must not take out the back breadth, as they did when Sally Smith was laid out. "For," said the old lady, deprecatingly but seriously, "what a figure Sally will cut at the resurrection without any back breadth in her gown ?"

> A new story in regard to Mr. Lincoln is that when questioned in regard to some of the witticism attributed to him, such as "Grant and the whisky," etc., he laughed and said : "The papers make me smarter than I am; I have said none of these things, with one exception. I did say, when I had the small pox, 'Now let the office-seekers come, for at last I have some-thing I can give to all of them.'"
