WEDNESDAY MORNING, MAY 14, 1873.

DECORATION DAY.

Headquarters Grand Army of the Republic, Department of Pennsylvania, No. 1408 Chestnut St. General Orders, No. 37.

PHILADELPHIA, April 23d, 1873.

In accordance with our Rules and Regulations, Friday, May 30th, will be observed as a MEMORIAL DAY for the purpose of strewing with flowers, or otherwise decorating the Graves of Comrades who died in defence of their country during the late Rebellion, or who have since passed away. Citizens generally, Military and Civic Associations, Churches and Sunday Schools should be invited to participate, and, in places where there are no Posts of Grand Army, it is hoped that the Citizens will join together for this purpose, that fitting services may be held in every Church-yard or Cemetery where our dead here lock sleep.

The manner of conducting these services is optional with Posts, but those desiring it, can obtain copies of the form of ceremonies, as furnished last year by making immediate application to the A. A. G.

Attention is especially invited at this time to the recommendation from National Headquarters last year, that flowers and shrubs be planted at each grave, in order that when we are gone, the seasons, in their ceaseless round, may in our stead, adorn the sleeping places of our Comrades."

By order of

R. B. BEATH,
Commanding Department.

THE RAFFERTY CASE.

Our readers will remember the circumstance of Thos. Payne's millbeing burned down in August of 1871, also that some time ago, James Rafferty was arrested for the offence. The account of the trial which came off last week, we copy from the Clarion Republican. Rafferty got five years in the Western Penitentiary:

On Friday of last week James Rafferty a citizen of Washington township in this County, was sentenced to the Penitentiary for a period of five years, charged with burning the sawmill of Thos. Payne in Farmington township, in the month of August 1871. The case was one that created considerable of interest, and quite an excitement prevailed on account of it. On the part of the Commonwealth it was shown that the mill was burned on the morning of the 23d of August, 1871, and along with it was 1,500,000 feet of pine lumber. That on the evening of the 22d of August the mill shut down at 6 p. m., and that the fire had died out in the engine room; and that the wind had been blowing from the direction in which the boards were piled. The fire was discovered about two o'clock in the morning and when seen was blazing through the roof of the board piles and four or five piles seemed to be on fire. It also appeared in evidence that on the night of the burning a man coming from the direction of the mill came within a short distance of some coon hunters, and on discovering them turned away abruptly in another direction and soon after they saw the fire. Evidence was adduced showing that some time previously Payne and Rafferty had quarreled and that Rafferty receiving the worst of the battle had sworn to be revenged. Threats made by Rafferty were given in evidence, going to show that he had meditated something of the kind. Declarations such as "he would burn him (Payne) out of house and home" were given in evidence, and also after the fire "that one little match had made a big pile of ashes." One of the defendants children was called and testified that she had heard her father say that he would burn Payne's mill.

On the part of the defence an effort was made to prove an alibi John Errett of Venango county was called who testified that in the month of August 1871, Rafferty and his son stayed one night with him, sleeping in the barn, and got their breakfast there the next morning; but was unable to fix the date of the month. Michael Rafferty the son of the defendant fixed the time they were at Erretts as being on the night of the 22d, and that his father and him slept in Errets barn. The defendant was also called as a witness, and testified substantially that he had slept in Errets barn the night of the fire, and that on that day he had hauled boards from Ellisons mill at Centerville, and that on the 23d he had went from Erretts to Ellisons mill.

In rebuting the commonwealth proved that Rafferty and his son had both been seen on the evening of the 22d near Ferburg on their way home from Centerville, and that they were unworthy of belief. The case was ably argued for the commonwealth by Hon. Jas. Cambell and Col. J. B. Knox, and on the part of the defence by Hon. I. G. Gordon. The jury were out less than an hour when they returned with a verdict of guilty. A motion for a new trial was made but was overruled. If we are to judge from the evidence, the defendant seems to have been a dangerous man in the community where he resided and was generally feared by all of his neighbors, and no attempt was made to sustain his character when it was assailed.

DEATH OF CHIEF JUSTICE CHASE.

NEW YORK, May 7.—Chief Justice Chase was yesterday attacked by apoplexy, in this city, and died this morning at 10 o'clock, at the residence of his daughter, Mrs. William Hoyt, No. 4 West Thirty-third street. His two daughters and Senator Sprague were present.

The death of Chief Justice Salmon Chase has caused general grief throughout the city. The flags on City Hall, the principal newspaper offices, and many private buildings are displayed at half-mast. The Chief Justice came here on Saturday evening to visit Mrs. W. Hoyt, his daughter. He was in unusual good health and spirits, and this favorable state of things continued, but yesterday morning at 10 o'clock a servant was sent to call him to breakfast, and on entering his room found Mr. Chase lying in a state of stupor. His daughter was immediately summoned and servants were dispatched for medical aid. When the physicians arrived unconsciousness was found to have resulted from the recurrence of paralysis, of which he had several strokes. All efforts to relieve him proved unavailing, and it was evident his vitality was ebbing away. Governor Sprague and his wife, a daughter of Judge Chase, were summoned and arrived in the city last evening. His daughter remained by his bedside until 10:30 this morning when he breathed his last. He remained totally unconscious from the time his condition was discovered until the end. The news of the death of the Chief Justice was not received in the United States Court buildings until the time of adjournment of the United States Circuit and District Courts, and as the truth of the report was not considered absolutely certain, no motion was made to adjourn either Court, it being deemed expedient to postpone making such a motion until the report was confirmed.

Rumor around the United States Court buildings names ex-Judge, ex-United States District Attorney Edwards Pierrepoint as the probable nominee of President Grant to fill the vacancy occasioned by the death of Chief Justice Chase, but the political friends of Senator Conkling are very confident he will be the successor of Mr. Chase.

All the evening papers contain obituaries eulogistic of the integrity, ability and spotless charater of Chief Justice Chase.

DEATH OF OAKES AMES.

NORTH EASTON, May 8.

Mr. Ames was 69 years 3 months and 18 days old at the time of his death. He has been suffering from diabetes for nearly three years, but by attention to diet has been able to keep the disease in check. On Monday, April 29, he had an attack of indigestion, but attended to his duties in Boston on Tuesday and Wednesday of last week. Thursday he remained at home, occasionally visiting his office at North Easton. Thursday evening he was seized with inflamation in the diaphragm, and through the night he suffered intense pain, obtaining no sleep. On Friday he obtained a little rest while in a sitting posture. He passed the day sitting in a chair. Saturday he was more comfortable. Sunday he slept well. Monday his pulse and the temperature of his body and perspiration all indicated a rapid return to his usual health and he remained very comfortable up to 5:30, when he was seized with apoplexy, resulting in paralysis of the right side of the body, at the same time slight indications of pneumonia in the lower left lung. Mr. Ames remained partially conscious at intervals up to noon Wednesday, since which he has remained perfectly unconscious.

—We take the following from the Erie Dispatch:

Mr. Hanson, vessel inspector, while passing from a vessel to the dock yesterday afternoon stepped upon some loose staves, which gave way and he was precipitated into the water. He sank twice and but for the timely assistance of the engineer of a tug might have been drowned. A rope was thrown him and he was assisted out. One of his shoulders had been dislocated in the fall and he was taken to the office of Dr. Stranahan where chloroform having been administered the arm was reset and he is only a little worse for the shock.

Last evening a little daughter of constable Andrew Wagner, jumped off the street cars, got caught and one of the wheels passed over her right leg, between knee and ankle, lacerating it in a horrible manner, cutting a deep gash in the calf of the leg and probably crushing the bones. It is reported that the little girl claims that she asked the driver to stop and let her off, but he would not, and she jumped and was injured. An older sister was with her on the car and had jumped first.
