LOCAL AND MISCELLANEOUS.

NOTICE.—Services in the Presbyterian Church on Sabbath, 7th Sept., morning and evening, by Rev. Mr. McMaster, of Warren county, Pa.

—Look over the list of candidates for nomination for county offices; we present some new ones to-day.

—James Fones, at the American Drug Store, has the latest periodicals of all kinds on hand, for sale at regular prices.

—Robinson's new house is painted up in the highest style of the art. Alex. Henage was the artist who put the fine touches on.

—Rev. E. D. McCreary and family, of Sheridan, N. Y. arrived in town on Monday. He departed for the Conference at Brookville, on Tuesday.

—Hobart Stow and wife were in town last week, visiting their friends here. Mr. Stow departed for Cincinnati last week, and we believe his family follow next week.

—J. G. Dale's youngest son, Alex. is at present suffering from fever of some form, probably typhoid, but as he has the best of care he will most likely come through all right.

—Dr. Hunter is out again, after having been sick for something over a week. To be sure he is looking a trifle pale, and a little weak, but now that he is up again, he will improve right along.

—I. Hilbrunner has been in town for a few days past, and Max. put in an appearance yesterday. In all probability the question of moving their store on this street will be decided soon.

—E. E. Clapp, of President is still making and grading roads down about President. It may be possible that he will get it all back when he builds that bridge and commences operations in earnest.

Capt. Knox is hobbling around on crutches, and is getting well as fast as possible. New flesh is forming where the old was scraped off, and in the course of four or five weeks he expects to be sound again.

—Gillespie & Root, proprietors of Tip-Top mills, near Tylersburgh, are through with their job there, having cut about 5,000,000 ft. of lumber since they started up. The mill will probably be moved to some other tract soon.

—Capt. Grace, well known by all the members of the 83d Regt. and by all our older citizens, was in town yesterday. The oil business is attracting his attention now, and he is one of the most successful oil men in the lower region.

—C. L. Hanna, at Hickory has two prairie dogs which he brought home with him from Colorado. They are said to be cunning and playful little creatures and to afford a good deal of amusement to the inhabitants of that spot.

—During the absence of Mr. Breckenridge, the bridge contractor, last week, Geo. Hunter, the proprietor, brought up a couple of gentlemen from Franklin, one of them a practical mason, to examine the stone-work on the bridge. They examined and reported that the cement, or part of it was worthless. The same question was mooted once before, and at that time the contractor went to Ogden & Smith of Oil City, from whom it was purchased, and inquired of them if the cement was good. They said they believed it was, and wrote at once to the manufacturers at Louisville, to know if it was as had been represented. The company replied that the cement was their best make, and was as good as any in the country. This set the contractor at ease. But as he was returning from his trip this time, he met a man in Oil City who informed him of the examination and report which had been made in his absence. Again he went to Ogden & Smith about it, and they told him that one of the manufacturers had called upon them recently, and assured them that the cement was good; furthermore that Bates & Zimmerman, well-known builders in the oil region had taken the balance of the car load of which this was a part. Mr. Breckenridge then called on the junior member of this firm, who took pains to explain to him the virtue of the cement; which he said was good as he ever used. He then went into the cellar of the new hotel which is building there, and showed Mr. Breckenridge the same peculiarity which had been noticed here, viz: that a crust had formed on the outside of the cement, but after that was taken away, that part not exposed was yet comparatively soft. It was a peculiarity of good cement, he said, that it did not harden at once, but required some months to arrive at that perfect solidity which it was sure in time to acquire. So the matter rests. It is a question between builders, whether the cement is of the right stripe or not. The evidence thus far seems to be in favor of the cement.

—From Yesterday's Derrick we learn that a man named William Scott, a cooper at Siverlyville, was shot four times, on Monday evening at about 9 o'clock. He was returning from Oil City with some purchases, and the assassin met him just at his own door, and placing a pistol to his head, fired. The balls took effect as follows: 1st, in the left eyebrow; 2d in the forehead, between the brows; 3d, back of the head; 4th back of the right ear. The assassin was in the shade, and could not be recognized by lookers on, but the injured man said it was Botsford Chandler, a dissolute, reckless and dangerous young man who used to board with the family. Scott's skull was fractured and two of the bullets were not found. The Surgeons say it is possible that he may recover, but not probable. A photograph of the supposed assassin is in the hands of the Chief of Police, and every effort will be made to effect his capture. Scott is described as having been a very steady, fine-looking man, about forty-two years of age.

—On Monday morning we went up to see Jacob Hood's grounds, on which he is to put a fine house, immediately. He has purchased four acres fronting on the river, and extending to the top of the hill, to have, as he expresses it, "room to turn himself." The house will be situated on the east side of Elm St., about forty rods north of D. W. Clark's residence, and is to be built after the model of A. B. Kelly's house, the main part to be a little larger. The north end of town is sporting several of the best residences in town, and Jacob's will shine with any of them. He is at present living in a shanty—a large one—near the site of the new house. Four carpenters were to commence work yesterday morning, and it is expected that the first coat of plaster will go on this month.

—At the school meeting, on Saturday evening, 30th ult., not much was done. The members of the board present were Davis, Prest, Tate, Wolcott, Hunter and Irwin. There was but two applicants for the upper and lower school. The resolution to open the schools on Sept. 1st, was annulled, and it was resolved to open the two schools on the 15th Sept., (inst.) so that applicants for either of the schools could send their name to the Secretary in the mean time. Salary $40 per month by resolution of last June. Some bills were then allowed and the Board adjourned.

—Leonard Agnew, whose marriage notice we published last week, is at present running the Scott House, at Fagundus, Roberts, the former proprietor having been sold out at Sheriff's Sale. There's money in the house, and we have no doubt but Len. will get it out.

—The foundation of Eli Holeman's new house is finished, and the work will go on as rapidly as possible. The house is to be 24x36, two stories in height, with portico in front. He expects to finish the house this fall. It is situated on Vine St., and the lot is a beautiful one, nicely shaded, with some fruit trees started.

—Chas. M. Coff, of the firm of Snythe & Co., Job Printers, Columbus, Ohio, called on us last week, and left some beautiful samples of his printing. He formerly worked in the Democrat office in Clarion, but having imbibed a taste for job work, struck out for himself, and is now one of the best job printers we know. Beside all that he's a very nice fellow himself.

—John Thompson, one of our County Commissioners, has just finished harvesting his oat, of which he had twenty acres this year. He brought a sample down to the Court House on Monday last, and defies any farmer in the county to produce a better quality of oats. John has a good farm in Hormony township, near Stewart's Run P. O., and works it intelligently and profitably.

—The war between the Derrick and the A. V. R. R. still continues. The Titusville and Petroleum Centre papers seem to sympathize with the railroad, and Bishop has to fight the combination single-handed. The price of the Derrick has been reduced to two and a half cents, and claims to be more prosperous than ever. For our part we are in favor of letting the Derrick and R. R. fight it out by themselves.

—The creek bridge is almost finished, and will probably be crossable in the course of a week or ten days. This bridge is one which will stand long after many who pay taxes to help build it have mouldered away to dust. As long as they live, however, for four or five years to come, at least, they will have to come down with the "dust" to the tax-collector. It is not likely, however, that any one will kick against this tax, as the money was well laid out.

—The meeting of the Sixth Annual Convention of the Y. M. C. A., of Pennsylvania, will be held in Johnstown on the 16th, 17th and 18th of September. The Allegheny Valley Railroad will charge full fare going to the Convention, but will pass the same Delegates home free either via Pittsburgh or West Penn Junction by presenting a certificate of the Chairman of the Railroad Committee. All Delegates will require orders for excursion tickets from the point they wish to connect with the Pennsylvania Central or its branches. All applications for orders, with the names of the Delegates, should be sent to J. R. Caldwell, Johnstown, Pa., or for any information in connection with the same, The Committee on Entertainment have made arrangements for the accommodation of all Delegates.

—The September number of Wood's Household Magazine is on our table. We always have a good word to say for this publication—it is such a whole-souled book—so wide awake, so lively and entertaining, yet always so so chaste and refined. It is a regular little go-ahead, too, as comparison between its numbers will prove. We learn that the firm of S. S. Wood & Co. dissolved in March last, the "Co." (S. E. Shutes, Mayor of Newburgh,) retaining possession of the magazine, and recalling H. V. Osborne (Tenoroon) as editor. So, though the publication really changed hands, it has not suffered from the management of a new publisher or new editor, but under the redoubled efforts of its energetic proprietor, has gained new force and new attractiveness. Price only one dollar a year. It is published at Newburg, N. Y.
