LOCAL AND MISCELLANEOUS.

Old probabilities sneezed the other night, and as it was quite cool like we had a few of the feathery flakes.
Titusville is suffering from a sort of chronic excitement over the election of city officers.
Somebody remarks "that if 'man was made to mourn,' women were constructed in order to weep their weary existence away."

Death of H. Bucher Swoope.

By Tuesday's papers we learn that District Attorney Swoope, well known throughout the State for his legal abilities, died at his residence in Pittsburgh on Monday morning, at 4 o'clock.
For many years past Mr. Swoope has been a sufferer from a painful and weakening malady, which gradually undermined his strength, and ultimately caused his death.

TIONESTA, Feb. 16th, 1874.

MILES W. TATE, Esq., Secretary Citizens' Nominating Caucus:
DEAR SIR:—Please present my thanks to your caucus for their partiality and gallantry in nominating me as a candidate for the office School Director of Tionesta Roro.

On Thursday evening last the married folks of our place, to the extent of about twenty couples indulged in a sleighride, going to Lacytown.
The roads were almost guileless of snow, and the men-folks displayed their muscle by walking up the hills.

It is simply incredible what an amount of innocent amusement, what a sort of happiness can be given to young ladies and gentlemen by the mutual change of little marks of esteem on St. Valentine's day.
With what sparkling eyes and teeth-airing smiles do they hunt up old stamps that look as good as new.

A man went out to his back door the other morning to look at a large, mature thermometer which he kept there; he wanted to see if 'twas necessary to build the fire before his wife got up.
What was his surprise to find naught but a few scattered fragments of that unhappy utensil.

On Monday Mr. Thara Savage, while working around the saw in Knox's mill, received quite a severe hurt.
It seems the saw in some manner caught his arm above the elbow, entering the arm so far as to bark the bone, and inflicting a wound about four inches in length.

The snow has again departed "to that bourne from which no traveler returns," and has left our pedestrian tracks in an almost nude state.
Consequently, all those cracks and ravines, all those up-goings and down-goings, precipices, hills and hollows, and those twistings and turnings of the scattering boards, by courtesy of long usage called side-walks, besides the spots up-side-walked, are mournfully apparent.

The Venango Spectator objects to being tied to Forest in a judicial district, and its views are echoed by the Derrick, although just why the objection is made doth not appear.
Senator Rutan recently moved an amendment to the apportionment bill striking Forest from Venango.
This being the case, there is not much of a chance for argument in the matter, but we have not the faintest idea that the Senator's amendment was inspired by any protests of either of the above-named papers.

The position of Judge of county courts has always been a desirable one, and we are a little alarmed lest the greed of a few lawyers intent upon judicial honors and emoluments, will effect that cutting up of the State into more districts than are needed, but that the Spectator should in any way deviate from its text, "retrenchment and reform," is rather alarming.
We do not suppose that any thing could be accomplished in the way of putting the apportionment in its original shape if the Spectator were to "take it all back," but that paper would at least put itself right on the record.

THE SPRING ELECTIONS.

The following is the result of the spring elections in this place as shown by the vote posted upon the door of the election house immediately after being counted:
Burgess, M. Ittel Jr.
Borough Council, T. J. Van Giesen, S. J. Wolcott, J. E. Blaine, D. S. Knox, J. S. Hood, J. A. Proper.
High Constable, H. Swaggart.
School Directors, S. H. Haslet, A. B. Kelly, D. W. Clark.
Constable, H. Swaggart.
Assessor, S. Clark.
Overseers of Poor, G. G. Butterfield, S. C. Sloan.
Auditor, A. B. Kelly.
Judge of Election, D. S. Knox.
Inspectors of Election, S. Clark, Wm. Lawrence.

TIONESTA TOWNSHIP.

The following are the principal officers elected in the township:
Justice of the Peace, Peter Lovel.
Constable and Assessor, R. Huddleston.
Township Treasurer, S. J. Setley.
Township Clerk, Eli Holeman.
Judge of Elections, N. Thompson.
Inspectors of Election, C. W. Clark, W. Hood.
School Directors, Fred. Stitzinger, Samuel Clark.
Auditor, Peter Lovel.

Some strains of martial music were heard the other afternoon, and an old man wanted to know if there was a mass meeting.
It was explained to him that a couple of young men were trying to play one of Weber's waltzes on a bass drum and cimbals.
The old man said it made him feel almost young again.
And then that occurrence passed off into forgetfulness.

Philip Phillips, the great singer of Sabbath school melodies, will be at Franklin some time soon, and will give public expression to his marvelous gift of voice.
Mr. P. is beyond all comparison the best vocalist traveling, and those that have got rail road passes and the like, will have an opportunity of hearing a good thing, which should not be lost.

Mr. Dithridge has placed the heaters that for some time stood on the left bank of the creek, in proper position below.
In some manner these are to help retain the logs for the mill.
It remains to be demonstrated whether they will perform as expected.

Rev. O. B. Clark will hold services at the Universalist Church, Sunday, 11 o'clock a. m.

On Saturday evening last, about half past seven o'clock, an unknown man, apparently about 28 years of age was observed standing upon the central span of the bridge at this place.
He was observed to look all round, and then, with a look of unutterable misery and despair, stepping back and staring blindly before, he took off his hat, scratched his head, and moved on.

A small boy, who in all probability will live to be President of the United States, or perhaps a school board, gets off the following for 5 cts. a lick:
"Minute particles of condensed vapor; infinitesimal portions of silicate matter, enter into the construction of the briny deep, and other more solid portions of the planet earth."

A load of barrels without hoops or heads, became becalmed opposite Billy Blum's, on Tuesday morning.
The upper deck being cleared at the eleventh hour, they got their bearings and bore to the north, making about 4 knots an hour.

Mr. Haslet, on Saturday, in sheer despair, put a little poor ice into his ice house.
A little is better than none at all and probably that will be the only ice put up this winter.

Henry Ward Beecher will not be here next Sabbath to preach in the Presbyterian Church.
Nor any one else.

Mr. Ahrens has purchased an interest in a business in New York, and goes thence about the 1st of April to take charge of it, which is his only reason for selling.
