HEROR! WOMEN.

The London Times mentions that two remarkable cases of courage and presence of mind on the part of girls have just been brought before the Royal Humane Society. The first case was that of Miss Olivia Georgina D. Maude. She saved the life of a girl named Adele Greaven, who sunk while bathing at Sea Point, Monks-town, under the following circum-stances: Miss Mand and her sister, who had themselves been bathing, were dressed and sitting on the rocks watching the other bathers, when their attention was aroused by an alarming outery-a girl had disappeared in deep water. No assistance was at hand, no boat or ropes, and even the usual attendants were absent or otherwise engaged. The child rose to the surface, but being unable to swim sank again. She rose a second time, and the bystanders and bathing women thoroughly alarmed and crying for assistance, were shocked at perceiving that the child's bathing dress had got over her face and head, that her arms were en-tangled in it. At this moment, Miss Maude leaped into the deep water, dressed as she was, without even taking time to remove her watch, caught the child as she was disappearing the third time, and took her safely to shore. The other case was that of Miss May Kerridge, who saved a lad of fifteen, named Stewart, who sank while bathing at Wentworth, New South Wales. The boy had gone with a companion to bathe in the river Darling, and was carried by a strong current into deep water. Neither he nor his companion could swim, and he cried loudly for help. Miss Kerridge was about 100 yards off, and, hearing the boy's cries, ran as fast as she could to the spot, plunged into the river with all her clothes on, and caught the lad as he rose the third time. After considerable difficulty, owing to the rapidity of the current, having only one hand at liberty, and her efforts being impeded by the weight of her clothes, she ultimately succeeded in placing the lad in safety. The Royal Humane Society bestowed medals for saving life, with suitable testimonials, on each of the young ladies.

A lady made complaint to Frederick the Great, King of Prussia. "Your majesty," said she, "my hus-band treats me badly."

"That's none of my business," said the king.
"But he speaks ill of you," said the lady. "That," said he, "is none of your

The Boston Globe wickedly says, the Supreme Court of Maine has taken hold of the question whether women are legally competent to be Justices of the Peace. There are people who doubt whether they have any comprehension of the principles of justice or the conditions of peace, and it is well to have the wise men of the East settle the matter.

A Boston paper thinks that the man who plunged beneath the ice and saved a lady from drowning, in that State recently, should be rewarded with the lady's hand. Let that man accept such a reward, and half the unmerried women in Massachusetts will be under the ice within twenty-and-four hours .- Courier Journal.

The most novel and ingenious plan children castor oil is, we think, that practiced by the physicians of a childern's hospital in Paris, to which 300 tiny loaves of bread are daily sent, each containing a modicum of the oil, which in this form is per-fectly palatable and thoroughly dis-

"Wife, what has become of the grapes?" "I suppose, my dear, the heus picked them off," was the bland reply. "Hens-hens!-some two legged hens, I guess," said the husband with some impetuosity, to which she salmly replied, "My dear, did you ever see any other kind?"

A gentleman was about completing the sale of a horse which he was very anxions to dispose of, when a little urchin appeared and innocently in-quired: "Grandpa, which horse you goin' to sell; that one you built the fire under yesterday to make him draw?" The bargain was at an end.

An epitaph in a country church-yard reads: "Here lieth the body of Amy Major, who departed this life March 20, 1792. Suffice it to say that she was an honest woman-the second noblest work of God."

It is a curious fact that all the Presidents of the United States but four had each but one Christian name. The moral thus taught to parents is obvious-don't use front names recklessly in naming your babies.

Why is a candle-maker the worst acd most hopeless of men? Because all his works are wicked, and his wicked works are brought to light.
