A colored man applied to a Boston saving's bank, wishing to draw one dollar. The clerk informed him that the iron rule of the institution forbade the withdrawal of less than three dollars. Our colored brother was in deep study for a few moments, and then said: "Sar, I'll take de free dollras," The three deliars were paid to him, when he at once added: "Now, sar, if you please, sar, I'll 'poset two dollars in de institution." The amount was duly received and credited, when, with his loose dollar in his pocket, he gave the clerk a sly wink and walked away.

Many persons-besides school boys and college students—use the phrase, "He is a brick," without the least idea that it is supposed to be of classic erigin. It is said that King Agesilaus, being asked by an ambassador from Epirus why they had no walls for Sparta. replied, "We have.". Pointing to his. marshalled army, he said. "There are the walls of Sparta; every man you see is a brick."

"If I put my money in the savings bank, when can I get it out again?" asked a newly arrived Irishman of his friend. "Och," said the latter, "sure an' if you put it in to-day you can draw it out to-morrow by giving a week's notice!"

A man gives the following reason why the colored race is superior to the white: "All men are made of clay, and like the meerschaum pipe, they are more valuabe when highly color-

The Detroit Free Press says: "The Albany Journal never has less than eight columns on a hanging affair, and sometimes reaches twelve, and a marked copy is always sent to the widow."

The old superstitious notion that crocodiles weep has been exploded by the scientists; but it is pretty generally acknowledged that sailors have re-peatedly seen whales' blubber.

"I should think these omnibus wheels would be fatigued after running all day," observed Sam. "Well, yes," replied Seth, taking a squint at them,

"they do appear to be tired." A gentleman has two canaries which he calls "Wheeler" and "Wilson." His reason for these appellations is that neither of them are "Singers."

An instructor asked a girl why beer in French was feminine. She replied that it was probably owing to the fact that the boys like it so well.

A pugilistic Irishman, being bound over to keep the peace on all British subject remarked: "The saints help the first foreigner I meet." The editor of a Nashville paper is accused by his neighbors of having caught cold while sleeping in church with his pew door open. Jaynesville has an educated pig called Ben Butler. There is a chance for a libel suit-on the part of the Placards on the St. Louis street'ears declare that "This car can't wait for ladies to kiss good-by."

It is an independent political paper, belonging to no party and wearing no collar, it dights for the election of the best men to office. It especially devotes it energies to the exposure of the great corruptions that now weaken and disgrate our country, and incaten to underrolne republican institutions altogether. It has no fear of knaves, and asks no flavors from their supporters.

It roports the fashions for the tadies and the markets for the men, especially the entitle-markets, to which it pays particular altention.
