LOCAL AND MISCELLANEOUS.

Notice.

There will be a meeting of the Republican County Committee at my office on Tuesday evening, Sept. 29.

W. P. MERRILLIOTT, Chairman.

—Rev. Elliott will preach in the Presbyterian church on Sunday next, morning and evening.

—Mr. Jas. T. Cartin has taken the position of Assistant Local Editor on the Clarion Republican. He has our best wishes.

—Oct. 24 is the last day upon which the payment of State and county taxes will allow the person so paying to vote. Attend to it.

—The "Rockets" of this place are to play the "Potato Bugs," of Dean Farm, at Stewart's Rue, on Saturday next. A good game is anticipated.

—The hop at the Lawrence House, on Wednesday evening last is said to have been a very pleasant one; all who attended having enjoyed themselves hugely.

—We are requested to state that the concert of Jas. G. Clark, the poet-vocalist will take place on the evening of the 23d inst, instead of the 22d, as heretofore announced.

—Sheriff Van Giesen was suddenly called to Petersburg last week, on account of the severe illness of his little daughter. He found her better, but brought his family home with him on Monday.

—Some of the boys went over to Pleasantville on Saturday last, to see a horse fair. The horse fair didn't exhibit, so the boys watched a poor game of base ball, and came home wretched and strapped.

—Rev. Lusher, it will be noticed, has been sent back to this circuit for another year; an arrangement which, we believe, gives satisfaction to the members generally. He will probably take up his residence in Tionesta.

—They are making it hot in Louisiana. The other day two conflicting forces came together in New Orleans, and some fifty individuals were killed and wounded. "The White League against the Kellogg government," this war is styled.

—The festive cabbage worm is rendering this useful fruit a deadly poison. The worms are green, and are said to be a compound of arsenic, strychnine and Paris Green. The cabbage on which they linger are to say the least risky, if not dangerous. Sour Krout and cold slaug must be dispensed with this season.

—Had we the space we would like to re-produce the editorials of the last Clarion Jacksonian. The one on "The Rise and Fall of Radicalism," beats anything Mark Twain ever produced. While the other one, occupying about two columns supports "State Sovereignty," a doctrine which was whipped out of the Southern States ten years ago. Truly the Democrat has a terrible opposition in Clarion.

CONGRESSIONAL.

We can give our views of the Congressional campaign as it now stands in no better form than the following conversation which occurred between a prominent Republican and myself upon the news of the nomination of Geo. A. Jenks, Esq., of Brookville, by the Democracy of the District. We had almost forgotten the circumstances of the conversation, when, one day last week the gentleman came in with the substance of it all jotted down, saying to us that he thought we had better publish it when we published the fact of Mr. Jenk's nomination. After looking it over and striking out part of it we concluded to save the labor of an editorial on the subject by publishing it. The following is the conversation:

REPUBLICAN.—Well, Jenks is nominated.

DEMOCRAT.—So I understand.

R.—I suppose you will give him "fits" next week?

E.—No, sir, I don't think I shall. Why should I?

R.—Oh, that appears to be all there is in it now-a-days. Look, for instance, at the mud the Clarion Democrat has thrown at White, our nominee, a man whose private character is above suspicion, and whose public acts have only to be known to be approved.

E.—True; but that's the way Brown fights. It is only necessary for a man to be a Republican and a candidate in his district, though he be the most honest man in it, when the "vials of Brown's wrath are opened, and thenceforth the man is falsified, maligned and besmeared in a score of items in every Clarion Democrat issued, from the time his name is before the people until after the election; and even then he don't cease, but, if the man is elected, which he generally is, the Democrat spits forth thunder, lightning and fire at him for a month or six weeks afterward. And what does he gain by it? Nothing; on the contrary his course often disgusts democrats to such an eminent degree that he often makes votes for the very party he is working against.

R.—I judge then, from your remarks that you intend to say nothing at all against Jenks.

E.—As to his private character, and his abilities, nothing. Mr. Jenks is a gentleman of ability, and a man against whose private character I know nothing. Should I then, imitate Brown, and manufacture evidence against him, as Brown has against White? Why, sir, Mr. Jenks will be here on court week, and his actions and conduct would give the lie to my accusations, just as Mr. White's presence in Clarion gave the lie to all Mr. Brown's personal statements. Wherein, then would the Republican party, or myself be the gainer? I believe I have a reputation for political fairness among both Republicans and Democrats, and shall I wear that reputation by misrepresenting Jenks to a people who have every facility of detecting and exposing the fraud? Even were it in my power to keep the truth from them, I should not do so, as I should think little of a political battle won by fraud. I shall, as is my duty, hold up Mr. Jenks' political record to the people of the District. He has been identified with the Democratic party ever since he had a vote, and did he go to Congress would be among the most bitter partisans there. His actions, his speeches and his votes would be Democratic clear through. Is that not enough for any thinking Republican? Look at the issues. The negroes of the South are experiencing a reign of terror. The Ku Klux, which seems to embrace nearly the whole Democratic party South, are determined the negro shall not exercise those rights guaranteed him by the Fifteenth Amendment, and to this end are creating a reign of terror among them. This must be acted upon by Congress. How would Geo. Jenks vote on this question were he there? With the Democratic side of the House. How would the Democratic side of the House vote? To please the Democracy and Ku Klux of the South. Suppose the Democracy of the South are supported in their terrorism, their murders and their oppressions of the negro? Only this: we shall have the late war to fight over again, with much more opposition in the North than we had in the last. What is the use of more argument against Geo. A. Jenks for Congress? Does any Republican want to know more against him? Now why should I pollute my garments by crying out against Mr. Jenks' private character. No, sir, I don't propose to do it, and believe that the course I intend to pursue is the honest one, and therefore the best for the party.

R.—I believe you are right, and that your course will be best one.

—The corner stone of the Northwestern Insane Hospital was laid on the 10th inst., as announced in last week's issue. Governor Hartranft was there and made a short speech at the opening, which was well received. He then laid the corner stone, in the highest style of the art. Hon. G. W. Scofield then made an address, which we believe to have been one of his best efforts; we couldn't swear to it, however, as we couldn't get close enough to hear. There were enough who did hear it, and told us about it, so that we believe it to have been an excellent oration. An immense crowd was present, and the special train, which was chartered for that day by the citizens of Warren, was kept running busily all day from that place to the hospital grounds. There were four passenger cars, and they were crowded going to the grounds in the morning, and in the evening by the returning tide of humanity. The foundation for the asylum is twelve hundred feet long and various widths. The sun was so hot that we didn't stop to measure it. When completed it will be capable of accommodating from 4000 to 5000 inmates. The plan of the building is a model of beauty, and if the structure is finished in accordance with the drawings, it will be the finest building in this part of the State. The grounds are just what they should be, and beautifully situated; we must confess that we were disappointed in them; we did not know that there was as pretty a farm in this corner of the State. It is without exaggeration, as pretty a farm as ever lay on the ground. In addition to the looks of it, the ground has furnished all the stone, several thousand perches, for the foundation of the building and has plenty of good water to supply its wants. There are good substantial cut stone buildings on the grounds now, the principal one of which is occupied by the superintendent of construction. We were well pleased with our visit after we come to think of it, but while we were there, it was too hot for anything save a salamander to enjoy good health. One thing we almost neglected to mention, was the soul-charming music of the 20th Division Band, of Meadville, under the leadership of Prof. Boynton, who is well known as the "boss" band teacher in this section of the State. We have heard several celebrated bands, but never one which seemed to us to be composed entirely of masters of the pieces performed upon. We hope to hear that band several times before we shuffle off this mortal coil. Taken altogether the laying of the corner stone was a success, and the mighty multitude came away tired, but happy.

—The review at Franklin, on Saturday last was attended by all the companies in the 20th division. The display was said to have been grand, and the exercises impressive. The division was reviewed by Gov. Hartranft, who pronounced it good. After the review two flags were presented to the division by the Governor with appropriate remarks. Each company present at the review is to receive $500 with which to pay off officers and men. Let us have a company for the next review.

—The borough schools commenced on Monday last, with Mr. Shadman and Miss Harrington as teachers. The school is well attended, and will probably be well conducted, as the teachers are experienced, and have been selected from a large number of applicants by the directors. It would be a good idea to make a plank walk from the street to the door of the school house, as in muddy weather the teachers and pupils generally have a sea of mud to float over from the sidewalk to the school house.

—On Saturday last, J. W. Stroup's boy, aged about seven years, fell off a lumber wagon on which he was riding, and one of the wheels passed over his left leg near the knee. There was quite an excitement for a few moments, everybody who saw the accident being sure that the boy's leg was broken. This, however, proved to be a mistake, as the leg was only bruised pretty badly, and the lad is now attending school regularly.

—New invoice Boots & Shoes, all kinds, styles and prices, just received at Robinson & Bonners. 22tf

—They had an election in Maine on Monday last. The Republicans swept the board, as usual. As regards the Vermont election where the opposition had such large gains, according to their own papers, the Republicans have a majority of one hundred and fifty-six in the Assembly. There is but one Democrat in the Senate.

—The best number we have seen for many days is Ballou's Magazine for October. Its engravings are reasonable, the stories of the most interesting kind, the poetry better than the average, and all things considered we must regard the Magazine as the best in the country when we consider the price. The October number has some thirty articles, all of them good, and not one indifferent. For sale at all the periodical stores in the country. Published by Thome & Talbot, 36 Bromfield Street, Boston, Mass.

—The Annual session of the Erie Conference of the M. E. Church was held in Erie, commencing on Tuesday Sept. 1, and closing Monday, Sept. 7. The attendance was large, and the proceedings very interesting. The following are the appointments of the Franklin district:

J. Leslie, Presiding Elder.
