The nobler man of the two goes out unheeded into the storm to conquer his heartache alone.

No two sides of any human face are precisely alike. It is the same with every limb; no pair of limbs are fashioned alike. One hand is almost always larger than the other; so with the foot, the leg, and the arm. But the greatest of all marvels is this:

"I can whip the boots off'n ye, Sam!" she replied, and the battle grew fiercer.

One of the woman's sharp nails struck the husband's eye and blinded him for an instant. As he threw up his arms she seized both her hands into his hair, yanked him down, and in another moment had the "gouge" on him.

"Sam, do ye cave?" she asked, as they lay quiet. "That's the dead-wood, Suke, and

She let him up, and he turned to the Vicksburger, and inquired :

"Stranger, was it a fa'r fight?"

"I guess it was !" "Then I travel !"

He entered the hut, put on his coat and hat, took up his rifle, and as he came out he reached his hand out to his wife, and said :

Judge Underwood, of Rome, Ga., said to four young lawyers who had just passed an examination in his court: "Young gentlemen, I want to say a thing or two to you. You have say a thing or two to you. You have passed as good an examination as us-nal, perhaps better, but you don't know anything. Like these young fellows just back from their gradua-tion college, you think you know a great deal. It's a mistake. If you ever get to be of any account, you will-be surprised at your present importance he surprised at your present ignorance. Don't be too big for your breeches. Go round to the justice's court and try to learn something. Don't be afraid —let off upon a high key. You will, no doubt, speak a good deal of non-sense. You will have one consolation-nobody will know it. The great mass of mankind take sound for sense. Never mind about your case, pitch in -you are about as apt to gain as lose. Don't be ashamed at the wise-looking justice. He don't know a thing. He's a deadbeat on knowledge. Stand to your rack ; fodder or no fod-der, and you will see daylight after a while. The community generally suppose that you will be rascale. There is no absolute necessity that you should. You may be smart without being tricky. Lawyers ought to be gentlemen. Some of them don't come up to the standard, and are a disgrace to the fraternity. They know more than any other race generally, and not much in particular. They don't know anything about sandstones, carboniferous periods, and ancient land animals known as fossils. Men that make out they know a great deal on these sub-jects "don't know much. They are humbuga—superb humbugs. They are ancient land animals themselves, and will ultimately be fossils. You are dismissed with the sincere hope of the court that you not make usses of yourselves."
