NOTICE TO REFURN JUDGES.

Election officers will take notice that by the provisions of the 13th section of "a further supplement to the act regulating elections in this commonwealth," above quoted, Return Judges living within twelve miles of the Prothonotary's office, or within twenty-four miles, if their residence be in a town, village or city, upon the line of a railroad leading to the county seat, are required to deliver returns of election to the Prothonotary of the court of common pleas before 2 o'clock p. m., of the day after the election, and all other judges are required to deliver returns to said Prothonotary by 12 o'clock, m., of the second day after the election.

There is a blonde girl-baby in Eric, Pa., not two years old, who has a ma-nia for catching mice. She crouches before a hole by the hearth and watches by the hour, and when a mouse appears she pounces on him like a cat and an "unearthly joy electrifies her whole frame." She also utters a "low, wild murmur, or growl" after getting her mouse, and altogether seems to be one of the most unnatural little animals on record. It's no improvement on original patents, however. Cats do better and are not half the trouble and ex-

What is that which has three feet but no legs, is all body but no limbs, no toes on its feet, no head, moves a great deal and never uses its feet for that purpose, has one foot at each end and the other in the center of its body. My reputation as an artist is at stake, and I don't want no nonsense about this picture."

Legrand and De Gas met in the Paris Brouse. "I promised to cane you-I do so," said Legrand, and he struck De Gas across the face with a walking stick. "And I promised to shoot you—I do so," responded De Gas, drawing a revolver, firing at Legrand, and wounding him in the head. They were wealthy brokers, and their encounter was the result of a quarrel, in which they had made the threats that were subsequently fulfilled.

THE RELATIVE VALUE OF CORN AND

It has often been the case that at current prices it would have been much more economical to have bought corn instead of hay, or at least bought more grain and less hay. It is often the case that the feeder finds before the winter is half over that he will be compelled to buy provinder of some kind, and then it becomes a question for him to decide whether it will not be most profitably substituted for hay to the advantage of feeder, stock and the manure pile.

Based upon carefully made chemical analysis, we find that 80 pounds of Oil City good hay is equal to 62 pounds of corn; or, to place the matter in another light, if a tor of hay has a feeding value represented by 1,280, then that of a ton of corn meal will be revised at 1,280, then that of a ton of corn meal will be revised at 1,280, then that of a ton of corn meal will be revised by 1,280, then that of a ton of corn meal will be revised by 1,280, then the total corn meal will be revised b represented by 1,600. Taking these figures as a guide, we find that when a ton of good may is worth $20 the equivalent feeding value of a ton of corn meal is $25. Just now we may place their market value here at $20. and $26 per ton, so that at present rates we shall have one dollar in favor of hay, but I should think this was more than absorbed by the in-creased trouble of hauling and feed-ing bay, and more than made up by the increased value of manure.

I do not intend to advocate the feeding of nothing but corn meal, but only to suggest that it may be found economical to use more meal and less bulky food, especially when the latter is purchased and hauled a considerable distance. - Country Gentleman

HOW TO OBTAIN CHOICE BUTTER.

1. Secure rich, clean, healthy milk—milk obtained from good cows well cared for, kindly treated, grazed upon sweet and outritious pasturage free of weeds, and provided with abundance of clean fresh water.

2. Drawing the milk from the cow in a cleanly manner and setting it in an untainted atmosphere and keeping it at a uniform temperature—about 60 degrees Fahr., while the cream is rising.

3. Skimming at the proper time and before the mick becomes old and bitter or decomposed.

4. Proper management in churning.
5. Washing out the buttermilk throughly and working the butter so as not to injure its grain.

6. Thorough and even incorporation of pure salt and putting down in tight, clean, well-made packages—packages that will exclude as far as possible, the admission of air.

7. Placing the butter after it is packed (if not sent at once to market) in a clean, cool, well ventilated cellar —one that is moderately dry and absolutely free from all impurities and

8. Cleaniness in all the operations from the ti ne the milk is drawn to the packing and marketing of the butter is of imperative necessity. Judgment and experience in manipulating the cream and working the butter must of course be an element that is not to be overlooked nor dispensed with .- Moore's Rural.

It requires the stem and seed end to make perfect seed. If out, out lengthwise, Single eyes will run out any potato. There is no other seed that will bear mutilation like the potato; the only wonder is, that it does not run out completely.

The fall of the year is the season to go through the herds and pick out all poor scrawny, scrubby and inferior stock, and sell it at the best price that can be obtained, and sell it at some price or other. It costs a great deal to carry stock through the winter and a poor or mean animal is worth not much more in spring than winter. If feed given to inferior animals were given to the best of the berd, they would bring more than the p or are worth. Farmers dislike to sacrifice their inferior animals, but they most learn to do it. Autumu is the time. Hunt up your customers and let the weeds slide at some price. It will pay to keep good stock and keep it well; but old scrawny, inferior stock is dear at any price.

When you are at lessure see if ther is not something you can do. A sail here, a bolt there, a nut on some part of your machinery, a board in your wagon box, and paling to be nailed on, hinges to be tighted or oiled and the many little things that are con-stantly breaking and wearing out, are what we all need to look after. They make a great difference in our profits, one way or the other.

To keep seed from the depredations of mice, mix some pieces of camphor gum with the seeds. Camphor placed in drawers or trunks will prevent mice from doing them injury.

Prudent farmers have taken proper care of their harvesters by putting them under shelter. Sniftless farmers leave their machinery exposed in the field and yard.

WATERS'

Testimonials of Waters' Pianos and Organs.

"Waters" Concerto Parlor Organ possesses a beautiful and peculiarly soft tome. The Concerto Step is, without doubt, the best ever placed in any organ. It is produced by an extra set of reeds, peculiarly voiced, from which the effect is most marning, and its in tath n of the human raise is superb. For sweetness of tone voice is superb. For sweetness of tone and orchestral effects it has no equal."-N. Y. Times.
