LOCAL AND MISCELLANEOUS.

-Dr. Hulings, of Pittsburgh, broth er of J. D. Holings of this place, is improving.

-Snowing, blowing and freezing this morning, and here we are, within two days of those "April showers."

-We noticed Col. Blenkley and Lawyer Osborne, of Franklin, in town last week. Up on Bridge business, we believe.

-Miss S. A. Dule has purchased the house and lot adjoining the Forest House property on the south. Consideration $500.

-A revival has been in progress in the M. E. Church at Whig Hill, for a few weeks past, and several persons have been converted.

-Rev. Abbott, of Fagundus, has been conducting a revival at that place, for some time past, and thus far 80 converts has been the result.

-Jamieson will commence work on his wells in a few weeks, as soon as the weather settles. We believe he proposes to drill them deeper in hopes of finding another sand.

-Many, many bluejays have bit the dust in the last ten days, because of their dishonest raids on Robinson's corn-crib. It is now a rarity to see or hear one about said crib.

-T. D. Collins at his East Hickory mills, has been improving the snow, and putting in an abundance of logs. He has also been hauling quite an amount of lumber to the river.

-The Argument Court which was to have been held last week, was a failure. His Honor Judge Wetmore Associate J. G. Dale was down the in at that point too numerous to menriver.

-Misses Alice Proper and Alveretta Paup, and Masters Robert Haslet and Floyd Proper, departed for Williamsport this morning, for the purpose of attending the Dickenson Seminary at that place.

-L. Klein wishes to give notice that he will attend to all work in the watch-repairing line, left with Geo. W. Boyard. He will probably come down here about once a week, and attend to the business here.

-Mr. J. T. Dale departed for Harrisburg yesterday, to attend the State Republican Convention which is to appoint Delegates to the Republican National Convention, and select Presidential Electors.

-There was Free Methodist meeting at the Universalist church last evening. As we were not present, cannot say whether their usual appointment for another meeting in two and has one eye shut in a knowing weeks, was given out.

-This weather seems to be gotten up especially for the benefit of physicians. We have scarce mot an individual in the past ten days, but has complained of a "severe cold." We have it ourself, pretty badly, which may Lacytown Correspondence.

LACYTOWN, Mar. 24, 1876. ED. REPUBLICAN:-

-We failed in getting our letter to and retrieve this. Congratulate you on your safe return to the "happy hunting grounds," but when reading your travels we wonder if that "fieldglass" belonged to the Dem I John family.

-Mr. S. S. Holbrook spent the first part of the week here, -has quite recovered from his late illness. He speaks of a good feeling among the lumbermen as to the market, but no increase in value as yet.

-Our school closed on Tuesday, a few day earlier than expected, on account of the snow being so deep as to prevent some of the children from attending.

-"Come let us be jolly, and east away folly;" oceans of snow, and no one who has time to harp "hard time.s" A slight stoppage was put on the hauling by Big Coon backing over the bridge at the landing; this having been dammed, the teams are busy night and day taking advantage of the snow to baul the rest of the boards and timber.

-Peddlers in plenty; they sell sheep," but the fastidious woodsman always prefers the de(a)r, notwithstanding it is a wild game.

-The best view of the creek during rafting time is from Ed. Chase's. The new portico with seats make it still more inviting to the gazer.

I DE CLARE.

-Prof. Gunning's school closes on Friday next. We suppose the usual "last day" exercises will be gone through. Parents, turn out, and see how much your children have improved in knowledge since the term

-W. E. Lathy, Esq., has returned to Tionesta, to resume the practice of Law. His office is in the building between the Lawrence House and the Forest Press office, where all needing his services may find him. His card will appear next week.

-It has been decided by the Republican County Committee to hold their Primary Elections on Saturday, June 25th, 1876. The nominations are fixed thus early, on account of baving a Congressman and a Senator to nominate, in connection with other coun-

-Jacob Wolf had a narrow escape from a severe accident last week. He was cutting logs, near Ensworth mills, we believe, and ic some manner a log swung around and struck him on one of his legs. It was at first thought that the leg was broken, but it furned out afterwards that he was only severely bruised.

-When you see a man that shuffles loosely along, with his knees knocking together and his toes pointing inwhose eyes roll furtively and whose hand is ever suddenly jerking itself above his head as if warding off a blow, you can rely upon it that man is haunted by a mother-in-law-but when you see a party who lifts his feet high, and holds his nose in the air, manner, and whose mouth is distended with a self-complacent grin, and who seems to feel good all over; you can bet your last cent he has just bought a new "Domestie" sewing machine for Southern Travels.

We did not inquire, but judge that Merritt's Island must be upward of fifty miles in length-perhaps more. the post office last week, but will try On it are two or three good plantations, and one large orange grove, which is in litigation at present. The choice land on this island, as well as that on the west shore of Indian River even down below the foot of the Island, is all in the hands of land agents, but most of it can be bought at very reasonable figures, and good titles given.

The water on the east side of Merritt's Island, is called Banana River, being agreeable, we made fast to his but we see no excuse for this, as it is simply the Indian River, divided by the Island. Up the Banana the duck shooting is said to be splendid, and sportsmen spend many pleasant hours and much amunition there. The ocean beach at this point, is not more than half a mile distant, and we were informed by those who had been there, that this was the "boss" place to gather sea-shells of all descriptions.

Just south, on the west bank of In dian River, is Eau Gallie, which consists of a house with a post-office in it. Three or four plantations are situated along the river within a .couple of miles of this place. Here also, the State has erected a large building for in our boat, which was not large an agricultural college. Most of the work was done by convicts, who watched their chance and "skipped." They could stand solitary confinement first-rate, but when it came to making them earn their hominy by the sweat of their brows, especially on such a useless institution as an agricultural college, their gorge "riz," and they struck out.

About this time we saw our first flock of pelicans. They are a big, clumsy gray-colored bird, with a haversack under their bill. They are hard to shoot, except when and where they are nesting. As well as the ducks, of which we saw thousands every day, they seemed to make it a point not to let the boat get closer than about two hundred yards to them.

About 3 o'clock p. m. we passed St. Sebastian river, a stream of fresh water about the size of Tionesta creek which comes in on the west side of Indian River some twenty five or thirty mites below Eau Gallie. The shores along on both sides of this river, for upward of a mile, are bold, and beautiful. On the south side of the mouth is a bluff nearly forty feet high. On this we looked longingly, as it was the first elevation of any importance that weary himself hauling in sheep-head, -We saw Mr. Lewis Siggins going bass, blue cat, and other varieties too resembles somewhat in appearance, inverted V, and they are not bony as the tucker is. They are as palatable as any fish caught. They run in schools and are taken by the bushel with small seines. They do not bite a

But alas! this fisherman's paradise has its drawbacks as well as all other places on this mundane sphere. When the wind is not blowing the sand-flies and mosquitoes are absolutely unbearable. Mrny a northern sportman has had to walk the shores all night, using both hands to brush these pests away, and then come out in the morning looking as if he had the measles. The sand-fly is somewhat like the "punky" of this section, except that it is harder to see, being small and transparent. In pure cussedness, however, the sandfly could double-discount the "punky," being better supplied with the implements of war, and fifted with a light foot, so that you are not aware of his presence until his bill is rioting in your gore; then you slap the spot, and, if you have not been carefully trained, river is about two miles wide. Here we saw hundreds of birds which looked like white and gray cranes, but which are called "plume birds." by the natives, on account of the beautiful plumes which are taken from them. Even in Jacksonville the plumes from one of these birds is worth two dollars. As was the case with the ducks and pelicans, so the plume birds had been taught good manners, and carefully

kept their distance.

Shortly after dark we came up with an old sailor who was sailing down the river in a whale-boat, which he had rigged with a sail. All parties and two years. MILES W. TATE. boat, and cast anchor. He having a Dutch oven in which he made a fire, in his boat, we furnished coffee and pork, and he furnished wood and experience, and we soon had a smoking hot supper, of which all partook with a relish. After this pipes were lit, and then we learned what was meant by sailors "spinning a yarn." This chap talked about his voyages, his narrow escapes, his services in the army, his habits, his character, his family, his friends, his health, his appetite, and what else we have forgotten. Suffice to say, he talked until about 10 o'clock, when we made a motion for bed. Paget and ourself made a bed enough for any more; the old sailor wrapped Farrell up in the sail of the whale-boat, and left him hanging over the side, while he and his companion lay down in the bottom of his boat. Stowed away thus, we applied ourselves to slumber and pleasant dreams.
